Letter to Henry Bryan.

Dear Sir: There is going to be, from now on, in New Bern a good deal of painting done, that will last in good condition from 3 years up—10 years is common; we know it of our good 15; and we know no limit—it seems to be likely to last as long as the house lasts, in favorable conditions.

The painter that uses this paint will get all the business he can do.

Devote lead and zinc in the paint. It looks as good as any; costs no more; and is ready—no tinting or mixing to do.

The zinc is ground in with the lead by machinery—you can't do that.

Test it yourself, if you like; but there's plenty of evidence for it. We take the risk of how it turns out—there is no risk.

Do you want this work? Yours truly, F. W. DRYOR & Co., New York.

P. S.: E. W. Smallwood sells our paint.

Nordica, Her Easter Bonnet and Her Needle.

Madame Nordica has a genuine New England thrift combined with the taste of a Parisienne. Often she has had a handsome new bonnet sent home to her that she has pulled to pieces and made over in an entirely different style, and in a style immensely more becoming to her than ever before.

This, the greatest singer in all the world, the most superb dramatic soprano ever known, is to appear at the Academy of Music in Wilmington, N. C., Saturday evening, May 2nd, as soloist, with the great Dues' Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra and Band of more than 100 artists. Truly the musical and dramatic treat of a life time.

PRIMARY POLLHOLDERS.

City Democratic Executive Committee in Session at City Hall Saturday.

Pursuant to call, the ward committees elected at last Monday's primary assembled Saturday afternoon to agree on some plan of selecting pollholders to hold the primary for Mayor, on Monday.

A question was raised as to the right of the newly elected committees to take any action in the matter, the coming primary being held as only a continuation of the one last Monday, or in other words, a completion of unfinished business of the former committees. This question evoked a good deal of discussion, in which it was declared that for the new committees to complete its primary, was an innovation, and established a dangerous precedent.

The meeting organized however, by electing B. S. Guion Chairman and F. T. Patterson Secretary. It was agreed that only members of the committees should be allowed to vote in the meeting which practically installed the new committees.

The next question was as to how the pollholders should be appointed, it being tacitly understood that three were necessary at each precinct, and that the two candidates appoint each a man, but who should appoint the third man was a problem not so easily solved.

J. O. Thomas, Jr., moved that the committees appoint the third man, but the committees being all of one faction, it was deemed unfair to the other faction. Several motions and withdrawals of motions followed, until Mr. McCarthy and Mr. E. H. Hild did the most sensible thing that could be done by laying their heads together and agreeing that their appointees should, in each precinct, choose their colleagues.

The following are appointed as poll holders:

- 1st Ward—R. R. Hill, Gullford Lewis, A. H. Bangert. 2nd—H. L. Hall, W. B. Flanner, S. C. Radcliff. 3rd—E. I. Ward, W. J. McSorley, D. M. Styron. 4th—D. S. Jones, Wm. Paris, E. T. Gaskill. 5th—R. T. Smith, B. D. Hamilton, S. M. Howard. 6th—W. E. McKay, J. S. Miller, L. H. Banks.

The Easter Rabbit.

One of the delightful traditions of ancient folk lore is that at Easter-tide the rabbit lays beautiful colored candy eggs. He is not only credited with laying Easter eggs in America, but in Asia, Africa and some parts of Europe, if he doesn't lay eggs, he does something just as remarkable and noteworthy.

One of the South African legends is, that Bunny once lived in the moon, and imaginative people can yet decipher his shape on that planet. The moon once ordered the rabbit to "Go! Go and say to men, Our Lord, the Moon, declares that as he dies and arises again in each month, so shall you die and be raised again."

Bunny with a weird sense of humor and mischievous, whimsical, published the message to the world that even "as the oon died to rise no more, so should men die and be no raised again." The rabbit thinking he had made a splendid joke, reported it as such to the moon, whereupon that resplendent planet seized a hatchet and with a stroke split poor Bunny's lip in twain. Since that time the rabbit has lived on the earth, is very timid and lives in holes. If one is curious enough to make the examination, it can be seen that the little animal's upper lip is still split.

In China it is said, that one day the great god Buddha, after fasting for some time, perhaps he had been keeping Lent because very hungry, and there being no restaurants at that time in the Celestial Empire, his search for food was rather unavailing. A little rabbit seeing his disgusted and famished condition hopped up to the mighty god and exclaimed "Eat me, Oh Buddha, eat me." Buddha being touched by such unselfish devotion transported Bunny to the moon, where the credulous one still see him sitting under a giant cactus tree, pounding in a mortar the herbs from which are distilled the waters of life. The custom of giving Easter cakes, moon shaped, and bearing the impress of a rabbit's figure, prevails until this day in China.

Germany is not without its legend about the Easter Bunny. Once upon a time strolling along a beautiful country road, Herr Rabbit came across a nest of eggs. The poor bird had just been devoured by a greedy fox and the rabbit being tender hearted decided to take Biddy's place, and alight upon the eggs until next morning. When on awakening, imagine his astonishment at finding the nest full of fluffy, yellow little chicks. Bunny was no way dismayed but ran around and provided for his little brood until they were large enough to take care of themselves. Since that time the rabbit has been the presiding genius at Easter time and no Easter holiday is complete in the land of the Kaiser without an "Easter Hare's nest."

Gentry's Show Tuesday.

No event happens within the calendar year that attracts more announcement importance to the hearts of the "little folk" than does the Gentry Bros. Famous Shows which are soon to exhibit in this city. Hardly a child lives in the length and breadth of this broad land who has not heard of Gentry Bros. and their famous animal actors and the simple announcement of an exhibition day in this city plays havoc with the picnic schedules and other things which are intended to delight the hearts of the little ones. For almost a score of years, Gentry Bros. Famous Shows have been successful in amusing both young and old; and this season by combining their exhibitions a programme exactly twice as long and meritorious as before is presented. The combined street parade will be given upon the morning of the day of exhibition, which has been definitely announced to be Tuesday April 14. Special A & N C excursions.
