At the first or second stop beyond Newport Mr. Roberts noticed that they had left the car but presently they re turned one of them holding a brick. He was heard to say "I'll fix him, -him." Mr. Roberts saw there was but one thing to do and that it was best to be done quickly. Without any preliminary talk Mr. Roberts pushed out his strong right arm and hit the man with the brick and knocked him flat. Then the brother Talma Orchestra. jumped into our pugilistic friend and h was given the same kind of punishmen only when he went down his head wen through the car window. By this time the first man down had recovered him self and for fear that he might again at tempt to make a scene Mr. Roberts pushed him back so that he stood on the car platform.

The men, though breathing threater ings against Mr. Roberts heeded the ad vice of their friends and ceased hostill ties. They were put off the train.

Mr. Roberts suffered very little from the little encounter and received deserved praise for his plucky defense. They would probably have assaulted and injured him seriously had it not been for his quick and vigorous blows.
