Sing Sing Prison Publishes Magazine.

Everybody's Magazine

There are over 70,000,000 people in the United States—mostly writers. Even Sing Sing prion issues a bi-weekly mags sine, the Star of Hope, a well-printed, inxurious folio, brimming with human interest. Reland B. Molineux, who spent his days in the Death House tran-scribing what he saw and felt in his grewsome quarters, was not the only scribbler within the prison wall. There are potential journalists in Sing Sing. No 1,500 is Editor-in-chief, and prisoners write, make up, and print the whole publication, which has a circulation inside and outside the prison of more than 5,000. Women, too, are contributors.No 196 Aubura is local editor. The period leal is a serious attempt at a prison or-gan, and in this guise is naturally vol-come to what a Stan of Hope note would probably oal! "the residents of our com-munity." Outsiders flad in its humor in the following:

Concert Tour of Children from the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

A chapter of children, twelve girls and four boys, from Oxford Orphan Asylum will enter upon a concert tour through the eastern part of North Carolina between the first and middle of May and through the west about the last of July, with an interval of a month between the two trips.

The children give their delightful con certs in many of our towns, usually at the invitation and under the auspices of the local Masonic lodges. The program they render is always free from impurities, yet filled with humor, attractive entertaining, helpful. The concerts are of unusual excellence and would merit Dr. Junius W. Millard, pastor of the and receive the patronage of our people even if they were not given in the interest of this work of greatest importance

The bright, well trained boys and girls themselves are a striking object lesson phanages in the State. No one can see and hear children like these and think of what they would probably have been the late solicitor Matthew Pearsall, who care and training of such an institution, was killed in a collision near Goldfield Without feeling glad of an opportunity to aid in its support.
