MUST DROP DEPUTIES.

But Who Collector Duncan Says Not. Mail Insurance a Good Thing. Property Assessment.

RALPHEN, June 23.—Yesterday's rains were very heavy and flooded bottom lands. In ten minutes here half an inch fell.

Revenue Collector Duncan will have to drop three of his deputy collectors. He has not yet decided which ones he will drop. He says he thinks that by October 1st about all the distilleries will be in operation; that there are only now about 80 and that that number have renewed their bonds for the year which began May 1st. He appears to think that most of them will hasten to get into cities and towns, a number of which are available.

Agents of Hall Insurance Companies are very busy throughout the tobacco section. One of them says that the Nash county hail storm last week caused them a loss of $15,000.

News comes from various counties of a considerable increase in the assessment of property. State Auditor Dixon adheres to his view that there will be an increase of as much as 23 per cent on property as compared with the assessment of 1899.

County Normal Schools.

The Craven County Normal School for white teachers opened at Dover Monday with an unusually good attendance. Superintendent S. M. Brinson who went there to organize the school has returned and says the teachers made an excellent showing and that they went to work very earnestly. The number of attendants will be very largely increased during this week. The school will continue for six weeks.

The Colored Normal is in session in the graded school building for the race, and have a matriculation of over fifty.

All our colored Lawns have been reduced. We have a big lot of them that must be sold. Come and see the pretty patterns you can buy here at 50 to 150 a yard. J. J. BAXTER.

BOTH ENGINEERS KILLED.

Head End Collision Between Freight Trains on Seaboard Air Line Near Seven Pines.

Special to Journal.

RALPHEN, June 23.—A head end collision between freight engines on the Seaboard Air Line occurred today between Vass and Southern Pines, killing engineers S. D. Stewart and M. C. Wall, both of Raleigh, and seriously injured fireman Walter Barnes of Concord, and slightly injured fireman J. F. Wright of Raleigh.

Stewart killed his wife and baby good bye here this morning and left on extra freight having orders to pass local freight at Vass but over-looked this order and ran by Vass.

The engines were running twenty miles an hour. Both engineers stuck to their posts.

The engines collided, turned over and were covered with freight cars. Both firemen jumped.

Stewart and Wall both came here from Norfolk and Western railway. Wall leaves wife and five children, and Stewart wife and one child.

Mecca of Patriotism.

The Gullford Battle Ground Company was organized May 6th, 1887, at Greensboro, N. C.

Its object is to redeem from waste the battle field of Gullford Court House, and adorn it as a park and erect monuments thereon. It owns one hundred acres of this battle field, which is laid off in walks, drives, and avenues. There are sixteen monuments already completed, and two in course of construction. Five delightful Springs are fitted up. Lake Willoughby on the grounds is a lovely sheet of water. Ten thousand people attend the celebration every year. The addresses all rise to the dignity of history. The museum of Relics is a most valuable and interesting feature.

The battle was fought between Gen. Nathaniel Greene and Lord Cornwallis, March 15th, 1781. The British were driven from the state.

The Journal acknowledges with thanks the invitation to attend the annual celebration at the Gullford Battle Field, July 4th, 1903.

Cleveland For Chief Justice

It is said that Chief Justice Fuller wishes to retire from office, but retains his place in the hope that the democrats may elect a president in 1904, in which event his successor would be a member of his own party. I beg to suggest, in view of the strong probability that President Roosevelt will succeed himself in the White House in 1906, that he could put the chief justice at ease, prove his own desire to preserve the honorific character of the supreme court, and pay fitting compliment to his only living predecessor by inviting Grover Cleveland to accept office of chief justice assuming that Mr. Fuller really is eager to retire. There is some talk of Mr. Cleveland obtaining a fourth nomination in the democratic national convention; but it would be the height of cruelty on the part of his friends to cause his nomination, granting that they could do it, since he can not possibly be elected. But as a lawyer and an ex-president, he has an uncommonly useful equipment for the chief justiceship—From "Notes and Comments," by Frank Putnam, in July National Magazine.

Ironbrow is an excellent tonic as well as a delicious beverage. It enriches the blood and strengthens the muscles. Bottled by The Crown Bottling Works, Phone 103.

Have you tried the Bohmer Export Beer, the finest beer on the market.

Think Before You Drink.

Suppose, just as you were about to lift a glass of your favorite beverage to your lips, somebody should exclaim: "Stop!"

"I would seem very presumptuous, wouldn't I?"

It wouldn't be, though, if it were a note of warning concerning your health.

Now, these five minutes begin in a vague sort of a way, don't they? Nevertheless, as you will discover, they mean a very serious talk with you upon a very important subject. And yet it's upon a matter to which, in all probability, you have never given a thought.

Every household buffet and wine closet holds various beverages of a carbonated or fermented nature—ginger ale, mineral waters, beer, soda and the like—something which has to be corked.

To begin with, let's take the old-fashioned, pressed-in cork, with its wired retainer. How a man labors, perspires, sweats and fumes, trying to draw it with the corker! And with what success?

If he has muscle "to burn," and the cork doesn't break, he finally gets it out. Perhaps, in the struggle, the bottle head or neck is broken and his hand is severely cut.

Suppose, though, that a lady—some weaker member of the family—tries to draw the cork by the same process. She simply cannot do it at all!

Then there are other styles of stoppers; some with permanently affixed arrangements to the neck of the bottle, the intent of which is to prevent the stopper from being lost and to enable its repeated use.

The repeated use of stoppers is attracting widespread, serious consideration, for hygienic reasons.

Two minutes are gone.

Let's employ the other three minutes taking of the stopper of all stoppers.

It is never used but once!

It cannot be used but once!

It is absolutely hermetical!

It will not blow off!

Nothing comes into contact with the beverage but sterilized cork!

Hundreds of pounds of pressure affix it to the bottle!

The hand of a child can remove it!

Isn't it easy? Look at it! Doesn't its simplicity make you smile? How quickly we become converted to what is manifestly for our good!

It is the Crown Cork!

It renders any tampering with the contents impossible, between the time the bottle leaves your bottler and it arrives on your table, simply because if the Crown is once removed, nothing and nobody can ever refill it again to any bottle.

You remove it!

That's the end of it.

It's the only stopper which does its work without a fault and is used but once!

Every better in America knows the merits of the Crown, and those who really value their trade use it exclusively.

There's another point of some consequence.

It's safe!

If your bottler uses the Crown, (as he should) he will have no need of manufacturing corks, or any stoppers that are used over and over. It won't mean any additional cost to you.

Every element of good and right living is advanced by the ready-employment of the Crown, which, in the nature of stoppers, is the underlying principle of absolute hygiene.

You will very properly conclude that the one who uses a beverage has rights extending over the bottle itself to stopper and cork. And, if you will, let us know how to use them. Always use the Crown, and you will have no need of corks, or any stoppers that are used over and over.

The Crown is always found in every bottle of good beverage.
