LETTER FROM FILIPINOS.

An interesting Epistle From Vance Rabbit to His Father, C. M. Rabbit.

Detachment Camp Joloman, Goumaran Island, P. I. May 24th, 1903.

Dear Father— I was over in Hilo yesterday. Philippine cities are alike. Around the water front one gets the smell of unrefined sugar which comes from the immense warehouses.

The Americans keep the bar rooms, but the English do most of the wholesale business, and of course are the chief exporters and importers.

The Chinese keep restaurants where one can get any thing from a slice of pie to a square meal and the Chinese merchants will sell any thing from a box of cigars to a bolt of cloth.

German and Spaniards keep the imitation drug stores. The Spanish dry goods merchants and grocers rely on the Spanish population for the bulk of their trade. And lastly are the merchants from India who tell you that every thing they have is made by hand in Bombay. Their display is gorgeous and dazzling. Oriental designs of all kinds may be seen on soap boxes, and stamp boxes, which are curiously and cleverly made. Cigar holders made of tortoise shell and fans made with sandal wood handles are some of the articles they make. They charge four prices for every thing.

They are a brown colored people or a color between the American negro black and the Indian Red. They have sharp eyes and speak English fluently. I suppose that is because the Indian has been controlled by the English so long or possibly the English Soldier shot their language into them.

But the John Chinese is the business end of this country and will be for some time to come unless the United States forcibly ejects him. Old Joaquin Miller was the only author I ever saw who ever wrote anything in defence of the Chinaman. In Frisco they call Miller eccentric, but in my opinion he knows what he is talking about.

A good many American papers try to take up the burden of the "poor Filipino" when as a matter of fact the Filipinos enjoy better protection than does the southern negro. Why is this so? The answer is easy to give. It is because the Native has all of the civil government on his side and is backed by the United States Army which is ever ready to do his bidding.

The rainy season has begun. A Rectification, VANCE.

Steamboat Post Office Established. Beginning with the trip today a steam boat post office will be established, on the steamer Neuse, with the purser acting in the capacity of mail clerk. While the boats have carried mail in pouches for some time past this departure is new and makes the handling of mail much more convenient for the distributing office and the way stations.

A Large Order. Greensboro (N. C.) Record. Probably the largest order ever given for paint in the State of North Carolina, was received by the Odell Hardware Co., of Greensboro, N. C., from W. A. Irwin, Esq., of Durham.

The order was for 6,000 gallons of Devco lead-and-zinc paint, to be used on the large Irwin Mills and their cottages now being built in Hartness County. Many of the leading paint manufacturers were eager to secure this order, and it speaks volumes that the preference was given to Devco lead-and-zinc, which is undoubtedly the foremost paint in this country today.

Sad Accident. A deplorable accident occurred at the depot yard of the A. & N. C. road yesterday afternoon about 1:30.

Leon Merrick, a white man, assistant of the gas inspector was making some repairs to a bumper on the end of a flat car. When a shifting engine backed up to the other end of the train, and the man who was working beneath the car was knocked across the rail and terribly crushed.

The car was at the end of a long string of others which were standing on a bend of dead switch, where repairs are usually made. But so fast had been displaced as to be the rule, and the weight of the shifting car, as the car was in motion, it is possible that the man may recover.

The man was taken to his home on Griffith street, and given Dr. H. D. V. Jones, assisted by Messrs J. F. Patterson and Alpheus Dismeyer, medical students dressed the injuries.

Two very serious fractures were found, besides some internal injuries, the extent of which cannot yet be determined. While the injuries are quite serious it is possible that the man may recover.

Consolidation of Colored Normal Schools.

Special to Journal. RALEIGH, June 30.—The State Board of Normal School examiners unanimously recommended to the State Board of Education the consolidation of seven negro Normal Schools into not more than four.

State Superintendent Joyner earnestly recommended consolidation. Board of education deferred action until tomorrow morning, so Lieut. Gov. Turner can be present and vote.

Mistrial at Wilson. In the famous Jones trial at Wilson, N. C., the jury announced to Judge Shaw yesterday morning, that they could not agree on a verdict, and a mistrial was had and jury discharged. Of the jury, eight were for conviction four for acquittal.

Think Before You Drink. Suppose, just as you were about to lift a glass of your favorite beverage to your lips, somebody should exclaim: "Stop!"

"I wouldn't seem very presumptuous, would I?" It wouldn't be thoughtful if it were a note of warning concerning your health. Now, these five minutes begin in a vague sort of a way, don't they? Nevertheless, as you will discover, they mean a very serious talk with you upon a very important subject. And yet it's upon a matter, to which, in all probability, you have never given a thought.

Every household buffet and wine closet holds various beverages of a carbonated or fermented nature—ginger ale, mineral waters, beer, soda and the like—something which has to be corked. To begin with, let's take the old-fashioned, pressed-in cork, with its wired retainer. How a man labors, perspires, frets and fumes, trying to draw it with the corkcrew! And with what success?

If he has muscle "to burn" and the cork doesn't break, he finally gets it out. Perhaps, in the struggle, the bottle head or neck is broken and his hand is severely hurt. Suppose, though, that a lady—some weaker member of the family—tries to draw the cork by the same process. She simply cannot do it at all!

Then there are other styles of stoppers; some with permanently affixed arrangements to the neck of the bottle, the intent of which is to prevent the stopper from being lost and to enable its repeated use.

The repeated use of stoppers is attracting widespread, serious consideration, for hygienic reasons. Two minutes are gone. Let's employ the other three minutes talking of the stopper of all stoppers. It is a safer used but once!

It is absolutely hermetical! It will not blow off! Nothing comes into contact with the beverage but sterilized cork! Hundreds of pounds of pressure affix it to the bottle.

The hand of a child can remove it! Isn't it easy? Look at it! Doesn't its simplicity make you smile? How quickly we become converted to what is manifestly for our good!

It is the Crown Cork! It renders any tampering with the contents impossible, between the time the bottle leaves your bottle and it arrives on your table, simply because if the Crown is once removed, nothing and nobody can ever refit it again to any bottle.

You remove it. That's the end of it. It's the only stopper which does its work without a fault and is used but once!

Every bottle in America knows the name of the Crown, and those who really value their trade use it exclusively. There's another point of some consequence. It's this: If your bottle uses the Crown, as the most assuredly should, instead of troublesome corks, or any stoppers that are used over and over, it won't mean any additional cost to you.

$100 Reward!

A reward of $100.00 is offered for evidence sufficient to convict the person or persons, who tampered with the engine at the Water and Light Plant on the evening of June 26th.

A Step Upward. Citizen—I suppose your town is getting a bit more fashionable now? Suburb—Yes, indeed; we used to complain of our "chills and fever," but now everybody refers to it as "malaria."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

His Chance. Father—Wouldn't it be funny if I should become a little boy again? Bobbie—Maybe it wouldn't be so funny for you, pa. If you wuz to be little'n me I think I'd square up a few things.—Denver News.
