The children, being engaged in some athletic sports, were up to a boy's game and spruced perfectly themselves.

"How about it, mamma?" asked the mother. "This father all I have read about the boys," he said.

"Why, that boy in that blue of green has been getting these all morning evidently and still gives no sign of intending to go to work."

"Oh, he doesn't have to go to work for some time yet," explained the mother.

"Doesn't? What variety of bee is that?"

"That's what they call the hussling bee. He won't have anything to do until next fall," Judge.

Felt Like a Boy.

"I wish me and this boy were to go into the country," said the enthusiastic mother.

"Yes," answered Mr. Elmer Barker, "I want to a picnic the other day. I went rowing and bitored my hands, went swimming and fell into the water, played baseball until my muscles were sore and fell out of a tree. I felt exactly as if I were a boy again, and I want to go on record as being mighty thankful that I am grown up."—Washington Star.

All the Best of It.

"I think," she said, "that I have a little the best of my husband."

"How is that?"

"Why, in that I give too much time to my clubs, so I offered to give up one of mine for every one of his that he would give up."

"Wait!"

"Well, he belongs to only two, and I belong to eight. Yes, I think I have a little the best of him."—Chicago Post.

A Forerunner of Longevity.

"There's no use for me to suggest to my wife that it's time to go home. She'll talk for two hours yet."

"What makes you think so?"

"Didn't you hear her remark when she started the argument?"

"Yes, what was it?"

"She said, 'There's very little to say on either side.'"—Denver News.

Education for the Country Boy.

Where education and training are applied to the farm, there you find the highest and the best type of man and the happiest people.

When we realize the farm boy needs education in the same way as his brother, who is to be a lawyer or doctor, we will understand the need of successful farming. It is here in one suggestion I would give the young farmer, it is to attend an agricultural college for the training it will provide in his work, — training that means hope, inspiration, success.

And every boy has an opportunity to get an education. The effort of the State is to help young men make success of agriculture. Young men of the farm I want you to think of this. I was a farm boy. I have your thoughts. I know how you feel and how earnest you are, and so I beg you to grasp the opportunity to get an education. Now is the time to do it. The Agricultural and Mechanical College was established to help you. It is for you. If you want to know more about the courses of study, the cost, scholarships and opportunities for self support, write the professor of Agriculture, Chas. W. Burkitt, Raleigh, N. C., at once for full particulars.
