40 DAYS RAIN.

Continuous Moisture Since July 14. Bad Next Sunday, Damage to Crops.

It will not take much stretch of the imagination to guess how it was with Noah when the first rainy season was instituted. It is, however, not the purpose of the Journal to alarm its readers with the thought that we are going to be drowned out because we are having 40 days rain. We will be all right if we can swim and that accomplishment seems to be almost a necessity now.

There have been very few days since July 14 in which some rain either in large or small quantities has not fallen. The average daily rainfall has been one half inch but on some days considerably more than an inch has fallen.

This record is for the 40 days which we are now having and which will end next Sunday July 26. The season will long be known as one of the most rainy summers on record in this section.

The greatest damage caused by the rain will be to cotton. Farmers fear that they will suffer a shortage of fully half their crop on account of the weather. The corn will also be damaged but not to such an extent as cotton.

The end of the 40 days of continuous moisture comes next Sunday and no body will be sorry to see its finish. There should be in order to even things up a long pleasant autumn.

Cockrell-Williams.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. Fannie Williams, west of this city at 5 o'clock last evening, in which her daughter, Miss Minnie Williams was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Cockrell, a well known business man of Kinston.

The wedding was beautifully arranged the rooms being handsomely adorned with plants and flowers. A number of friends witnessed the ceremony and many valuable presents were received. The ceremony was performed by Dr. H. D. Harper, Sr. of Kinston.

Mr. and Mrs. Cockrell left for their home in Kinston on the evening train.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Major Fulcher of Macedonia, met with a horrible death Friday night. The family were returning from church when the buggy ran into a ditch throwing the parents out, and the horse ran home killing the child.

(Several) days ago some unknown parties stole six barrels of whiskey from the still here. The whiskey was located on three men's premises and a few days after the revenue officer went with several picked men to arrest the parties, but failed to this tale of woe. A young girl opened fire on the crowd and the crowd news is, they haven't decided yet who beat in the man to get out of the way of the police.

Misses Maud and Julia Herdendrest of New Bern are visiting relatives near Epworth Church.

Tobacco is selling so low that our people are going to hold it until it rises or goes higher. A good idea--and stick to it.

Mrs. Martha Franklin, wife of Mr. L. E. Payne Franklin of our town, has just arrived. Her husband left her to get to the hospital at Raleigh. The family has the sympathy of the entire community in their sad affliction.

FERRY NEEDED.

Across Neuse River to Connect the Maple Cypress and Fort Barnwell Sections.

Attention is often called to the need of a ferry across Neuse river in the neighborhood of Fort Barnwell.

The Neuse divides what might be easily termed, agriculturally speaking the richest part of the county, from Street's Ferry on up to the Lenoir county line.

And yet there is no ferry or bridge by which those living on one side of the river can cross over to the other side, from the ferry mentioned to Kinston.

Families of one side have intermarried with families on the other side, but if they want to visit they must drive thirty miles or so, while if there was a ferry or bridge, they would only have to drive a few miles, in some cases not over one or two.

People living on the north side of the river are practically isolated from those living on the south side.

A person living in the neighborhood of Maple Cypress wishing to come to New Bern quickly, must drive over a bad, sandy road thirty miles and more, when if a crossing of the Neuse could be effected near Fort Barnwell, Dover could be reached in twelve miles or such a matter, over a good, hard road, the train be boarded, and the person be in New Bern in a fraction of time consumed on the other route.

Besides, there is a large volume of trade on the north side of the river which would be attracted to Fort Barnwell and Dover if the people could get across.

There is no doubt of the great need of a ferry up there. The people who live along the river want one. The travelling people want one, and the county should supply the need.

A very little expenditure of money would purchase a boat, there is already a chain, and the cost of operating could be easily managed. The neighborhoods contiguous, would gladly build and keep up the approaches to the ferry.

If those who are interested in this matter will get together and petition the board of commissioners, they will doubtless be willing to furnish a boat if they do not the means of operating it. It's worth trying for, anyway.

Bill Arp Passing Away.

A dispatch from Carterville, Ga., says that Major C. H. Smith (Bill Arp) the well known Southern writer, is lying at the point of death at his home in that town.

Dr. Ralph Smith, a son of the Major, who is attending his father, says there is positively no hope for his recovery and that death may be expected at any moment.

Thousands of readers who have enjoyed Bill Arp's homely but interesting letters will regret to receive this intelligence.

We have had rain nearly every day this week but we hope to have sunshine now.

GRAY EYES.

The How of the Wire.

A new use has been found for telegraph wires. Dr. Laska, a Polish meteorologist, has studied the humming sound they emit occasionally and has found that it is not caused by the wind, as commonly supposed. Eydam's observations, extending over several years, show that these sounds always indicate the approach of rain, snow or a storm, and Laska inclines to the belief that they are in some way caused by barometrical vibrations induced by meteorological changes.

Peanuts Thirty Per Cent. Higher Since Jamaica Storm.

North's Ledger--Peanuts have advanced in price something like thirty per cent. This is attributed to the recent hurricane in Jamaica, which blew the trees down. Local dealers expect the price to decline again in a month or so. Peanuts never grow from a bulb as they do. The trees die every season, but sprout the following year from the roots. A new seed and sowing the trees and the crop of next season, are the only way to get the same quality of the crop. The bulk of the peanuts sold in the South of a year, the ground will be empty. It is the only way to get the same quality of the crop.
