RAIN AT HOME AND ABROAD.

A correspondent of the London Times comments on the exceptional rainfall of the present summer in England.

At Brentwood, Essex, 6.86 inches of rain fell in June, and 7.80 inches in July making 18.66 inches for the two months, breaking the record of 45 years. At Wallington in May 8.18 inches fell in 24 Wallington in Mey 8.18 inches fell in 24 Southern Ry. . . 221 hours. At many places in June over an Southern Ry pf. 831 inch of rain fell on three consecutive U. S. Steel 324 days. For the seven days June 9-15 the U. B. Steel pf. .. 71 average fall over the Thames watershed | Penn. R R. 1284 was 41 inches. On the 19th of July in Hants 8.91 inches fell in 90 minutes.

The above report shows that there has N.Y Central. ... 122 been some rain in England during May, C, & O 884 June and July, yet these rainfalls are not B. & O..... 81 so heavy as compared to those in this

The old Saint Swithin rainy day theory of rain, seems to be about to be verified in this section, this year, as the rain has fallen nearly every day, enough to make good the ancient legend.

Don't Be Atraid to Perspire. In a hot summer nature takes matters into her own hands. Humanity perspires in spite of itself. In this way an incalculable amount of waste is thrown out through the skin. "You cannot perspire too freely so long as it is a natural perspiration, one not caused by disease," said a surgeon. "The freer the personation the less work for the himers." It follows, then, that in a cool summer it is advisable to induce a cool summer it is advisable to induce perspiration through the medium of vigorous exercise. Granted that it is vastly more comfortable to lounge in shally retreats and watch some one class chare terms balls under a broiling sun or trains some balls under a brolling sun or trains some assetting over the golf lines, inevertheless their reward will some later. General Grant's Supreme Courage. General Grant's courage was su preme. No man could face danger with greater composure. He did not seem to know the meaning of peril when duty called him to risk his life. At one time I saw the general escape death by a very slight margin. We were breaking camp at Spottsylvania Court House and under the fire of a Confederate battery. All of the headquarters equipage had been removed except a camp stool, and on this the general was sit guns shricked over our heads. A shell passed just over the general, not miss ing him apparently by more than a few inches, and struck the ground about thirty feet away, Without showing the slightest nervousness he called to me to get the shell, saying, "Let's see what kind of ammunition that battery is using." I went and picked up the shell, which was a six pound spherical case, and the general examined it as coolly as if there was not an enemy's gun within 100 miles of him.-Nations Magazine.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve over handy. It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatallty, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c, at C D Brad-ham's drug store.

Living, Yet Dead. In a German law journal may be found a curious account of a woman who, though actually living, is legally dead. Some years ago she dis from her home, and after three yes had elapsed the court formally pro nounced her dead and turned over he erty to her next of kin. Soon after property to her next of kin. Some afterward she returned to her native place, and as there was no question as to her identity she naturally thought that she would have no difficulty in recovering her property. The court, however, fiatly refused to comply with her request.

"You have been declared dead," it virtually said, "and it is impossible for us to regard you as living."

Thereupon the woman accessed in a

Thereupon the woman appealed to a higher court, but her labor was in vain, for the verdict of the lower court was upheld, and, moreover, an official notice was issued to the effect that the plaintiff, having formally been declared dead, could not now be restored to life, as the law understands that word, and must remain dead antill doomsday.

Halrdressing is an elaborate study in Japan, where the style of the cotf-fure generally indicates the position and age of the lady. Thus girls at eight or nine wear their hair in a bow at the back bound round with red craps. he front left bare except for two locks igting at the side, and the mor riageable damsels comb their tresse high in front and arrange them el ther in the shape of a butterfly or a half opened fan.
