MT. PELEE IN ERUPTION.

Layton's Pyrolechical Masterpiece to Produced Here.

A little less than three years ago th attention of the civilised world and re-ing public was directed to the little is of Martinique, whereon is altuated the treacherous volcano, Mt. Pelee, which bealer in Biovoles, Firearms, and All was beginning to beich forth fire, smoke and lava. Quicker than could be sold Rubber Stamps.

The peaceful inhabitants of the city of Phone 115. St. Plerre, were forced to fice for their lives in the wake of a stream of lava mile wide and as every one knows before it had ceased its death dealing hor-rors 40,000 souls were cast into eternity nd millions of property destroyed.

At the time of this disaster Mr Layton who has long been a purveyor of amuse-ments was in the old country in quest of nevelties for the edification of the Amer ican people. The possibility of a reproduction in fire works of this horror of all borrors at once suggested itself. He at once engaged scenic artists, car-penters and artisans of all kinds to re oduce in as realistic manner as poss ble the volcano, city of St. Plerre au outlying country. After all was com-pleted he brought to this country Mons. Carbo and assistants, Europe's masters of pyrotechical pisplay and since has been adding to his original ideas and today he has a glittering, giorious, gorgeous, realistic spectacle as near as the geous, realistic spectacle as near as the may be and will only sear three or four hand of man can approach the hand of of the pot metal kind.
