RALEIGH, Oct. 24.—Nature springs a great surprise on the public this morning by sending along an' October mow storm, by far the earliest ever seen in this part of the country. For over an hour the snow fell in lively fashion, the hour the enow fell in lively fashion, the fishes being very large, and whitening everything except the ground. But for the rain, which began falling early in the night there would have been a now covered ground. The temperature drop ped to the lowest figure reached this autumn. It is said that the earliest snow fall ever known in this section before this occurred, October 80. Some of the old timers are eayleg that these will be a very early and a very severe winter, but this is all guess work. Last winter was a very open one, whereas that bewas a very open one, whereas that be-fore was unusually prolonged and severe Winter in 1901-02 set in November 1st, and the ground here was frozen con stantly for more than 60 days. In February a great snowfall came.

The weather was very obliging to the State Fair, remaining warm and fine un-til the very close. The fakirs say they lid not make so much money at this fair as they did at the one of last year, but in the city certainly as much money was made. The crowds were handled by the railways more rapidly and better tnan ever before and strange to say there was not an accident of any kind during the week, to travellers or to persone here. Governor Aysock goes to Hartsville O, on the 28th to make an educations green to the schools there. State Auditor Dixon, who has charge
