POLITICAL STRAWS IN TUES-DAY'S ELECTION.

To the student of politics in this coun try, last Tuesday's elections are full of interest, and the returns from several of the States afford more or less room from which political deductions can be made, that may lead, or perhaps indicate in some degree, next year's political outlook.

The close followers of each political party naturally make extravagant claims for success achieved, while the losers discredit the success of their opponents, as being without importance or signif-

But there is a political significance in nearly every election, and those of last Tuesday are not without a good deal of importance, politically.

Greater New York, Maryland and Coal, Fuel, Iron.. 30 Ohio, are perhaps elections portending more than those of other places, to future political events.

Tammany's victory is most tremen- Am. Ice. ..... 62 dous, a change of 100,000 votes in two | Money ..... years, indicates that the Fusion government was not true to its pledges, and shows that Tammany rule, which is known of all men, is preferable.

Tammany control of Greater New York, does not prove that the State is certain for the Democratic column in the Presidential election, for Tammany is too closely a local organization to be influenced by outside politics, unless there is something positive and good in it for Judging from reports, the race issue in Maryland was all powerful for the Democrats. If the race issue shall continue next year its effect will be against the Republicans.

The Ohio election has more significance than a local one. It was foo'leh politics to impose Clark and Tom Johnson upon democrats, as representing democracy, for neither man had a record which any real democrat would accept as representative of his sentiments.

The old cry of a "barrel of money" 000 republican majority in Ohio. It was the thorough political generalship of Hanna, opposed to a mock heroic pretense of democracy.

Beyond the local character of these several elections, there appears signs which put a new light on the next Republican Presidential nominee.

It is really the first sign that President Roosevelt is not going to be the assured nominee of his party, and points to po-Ditical influences and a strength which may even prevent his renomination.

Outside of Greater New York, the State stands in control of Senster Platt, and the republican victory in Ohio, with In tremendons majority, representa Senator Hanna's power. The Maryland election is a distinct defeat of the President's hopes and wishes.

These may be straws, but they are pointers, and make the results of Tuesday's elections strictly anti-Roosevelt, with a strengthening in those political quarters of the republican party which are strongly opposed to another term of Rooseveltism.

New York, Nov. 5. So far as regards the weather situation, it is having no bearing on the sentiment at the present time. Bad conditions may affect the movement as it a'ways does, but so far as making or detracking from the yield, temperatures or moistures are no longer worthy of consideration, since it is generally under stood that the yield has long since reached its full limit. Higher prices are considered certain. It is now expected that we shall not witness frequent set backs, but the question of supply and demand having been determined and everything pointing to less growth than the world will require, the only conclugion is that prices will advance, possibly by slow stages but certainly above ruling figures. First, prices today were but slightly changed. Some profit taking was in evidence, causing a rather weak undertone, but almost immediately prices started to rise on general buying. Shorts were fractionally covering, and few sellers remaining, prices simply soared until 20 to 80 points rise was does not account for the 115,000 or 125,- shown, when a re-action came. Cables closed strong at 14 points advance. The market at Manchester was hardening for ya-na. Port receipts were 56,000 against 50,000 last year The New York stock bas been reduced to 44,000 bales.

Old Custom Handed Down. How many can tell the origin of the habit of closing the eyes in prayer? Far back in the past the sun was the universal object of worship. As it rose above the horizon the devotee thanked it for its return to bless the world. As it set in the west he implored its early return. His face was always toward the sun in prayer, and nis eyes were closed to prevent blindness. The habit has passed down from father to son for thousands of years. Though the object of worship has been changed, the custom survives.
