THOSE CONGRESSIONAL SEEDS.

Hon. Morris Sheppard, one of Texas' representatives in the lower house of congress, is on the right line in seeking to reform the present system of indiscriminate seed distribution. Under the present methods congress makes a large appropriation for the purchase of seed of any old kind which members of congress who represent rural districts send out to their constituents. There seems to have been little effort on the part of the department of agriculture to secure seeds of particular value to the different communities or localities, which was the purpose back of the original law. The controlling incentive seems to be the quantity of seeds rather than the quality.

Mr Sheppard believes that the original purpose, which contemplated the introduction of new varieties in various localities and the determination of their adaptability to the soil, should be restored and he has accordingly introduced a resolution asking that the secretary of agriculture submit to congress plans looking to the restoration of that original purpose.

His resolution provides also that the secretary shall suggest other ways, such as soil surveys, good roads, extermination of pests, encouragement of horticulture, establishment of experimental farms, cultivation of early maturing cotton seed, the dissemination of valuable agricultural literature, by which the large amount of money heretofore appropriated may be expended more logically and more effectively in the interests of the agricultural masses of the country.

This seems to us distinctly a move in the right direction. The present system is neither scientific nor efficacious. Instead of bringing really beneficial agricultural results, congressional seed distribution has become nothing more than a means by which members of congress can keep themselves in touch with their country constituents for political purposes. The rural voter may feel flattered when he receives a bunch of seed envelopes under the frank of his senator or representative, but as a rule the seeds sent out are of no particular value to him, and certainly of no value in the development of the agricultural possibilities of the locality in which he resides.—Atlanta Constitution.

A. B. Baxter's Cotton Letter.

New York, Dec. 2.

Still higher prices were reached when the market opened today. Nobody cared to sell before the ginners' report appeared. Shorts were again very nervous. Liverpool was doing very well and the run of receipts was far from what might be termed large or free. The weather was freezing in many districts, which if anything will retard the movement and put an end to more or less cotton. Mill people are fighting stubbornly but the only result must be an advance of the price of their product. Receipts are expected to fall off sharply before many days. The very high price has undoubtedly hastened the marketing of cotton as never before, with the result of an earlier collapse of receipts than ever before. Nobody wants to be caught short of cotton now. Prices for spots are over 5½ cent above one year ago, and still it seems difficult to prevent a further advance while the mills keep everywhere are ruling firm with holders presenting a bold stand and concerns nothing in the way of price. Receipts at ports were 85,000 against 85,000 last year.

Family Dissension.

Dissension in families often arises from a lack of mutual consideration among the members of the family. The "soft answer that turneth away wrath" is forgotten for the hasty reply, the unkind retort, that kindle the fire of ill feeling. Love does not linger in the home where rudeness shows its unlovely qualities. It chooses to dwell in the home where the spirit of unselfishness, of self control, of thoughtfulness and of charitableness makes the atmosphere sweet. The woman who is quick to take offense is not like her of whom Holy Scripture says, "Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." Happy homes depend on happy hearts. Home is distinctively a woman's sphere, and she who sweetens it most makes earth nearer heaven."

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests all classes of food, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs. Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, and makes rich red blood, health and strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure rebuilds worn out tissues, purifies, strengthens and sweetens the stomach. Gov G W Atkinson, of W. Va. says: "I have used a number of bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have found it to be very effective and, indeed, a powerful remedy for stomach ailments. I recommend it to my friends." Sold by F S Duffy.

More Money Getting.

Money getting is no new passion. From the beginning nineteen-twentieths of our American population have had no other mastering purpose than to make money. They have been bread-winners, fortune getters, by the lines of least resistance, without dreams of success in the professions or in the arts or in patriotic politics.

But there have also been up to recent years a remnant, a select few, a company of enlightened and gifted people, who have put ideals ahead of money getting.

There was Agassiz, who refused to lecture at $500 a night because he was too busy to make money. Charles Sumner declined to lecture at any price because, he said, as senator all his time belonged to Massachusetts. Spurgeon refused to come to America to deliver fifty lectures at $1,000 a night, saying he could do better; he could stay in London and try to save fifty souls. Emerson steadfastly declined to increase his income beyond $1,200 because he wanted his time to think.—Everybody's Magazine.

Where They Were Appreciated.

The government has with great liberality distributed public documents from Washington to the remotest parts of the country. In his book on "The Overland Stage to California" Mr. Franklin Root tells how the overloaded mails were sometimes relieved.

Before the daily mail went into operation and when a stage went to Salt Lake City only once a week some of the boys on the line used to deepen a coach almost wholly loaded up with public documents, but such mail matter came quite handy at times.

Occasionally the drivers, as they themselves said, would get stalled going through a bad slough in rough weather and would be unable to move. In that case they were obliged to take out sack after sack of the "pub. docs." open the bags and pile the massive books from the government printing office into the slough and by building a solid foundation with them were enabled to pull the coach out of the mire.

The Old Jewish Wedding Ring.

The old time Jewish wedding ring was quite a ponderous affair of filigree gold, enameled in colors. A dome or temple in miniature, which rose from the middle of the hoop, was a favorite device. Sometimes the hoop was about three-quarters of an inch wide and had rolled edges.

One ring of this kind is described by an authority as having five elevations on the front part, the center a house, with pentagonal roof sloping down to the hoop, the gables and sides pierced with fourteen holes or windows, and the roof seemed to imitate tiles. On either side of this was a smaller tower without windows. All other ring could find room on a young lady's finger besides this.

SOME MISTAKES.

To give a wife an unexpressed idea of your thoughts.

To refuse to accept an apology for an ordinary affront.

To lose habit a suggestion without giving it some consideration.

To expect generosity when you exhibit only selfishness to others.

To think the world is big enough in which to bury entirely a bad record.

To speak of the misfortunes of others until the cause therefor is known.

To cry down the man who succeeded in that which brought failure to you.

To speak slightingly of a woman because she turned her eyes the other way.

To carry the head so high as to prevent an occasional glance at the commonplaces.

To go about fretting as though the hand of mankind had been raised against you.

RECTOR OF ST. LUKE'S,

Ashburnham, Ontario, Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

ASHBURNHAM, Ont., April 18, 1903.—I think it is only right that I should tell you what a wonderful effect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has produced. The day before Easter I was so distressed with a cold and cough that I did not think to be able to take any duties the next day, as my voice was almost choked by the cough. The same day I received an order from you for a bottle of your Cough Remedy. I at once produced a sample bottle, and took about three doses of the medicine. To my great relief the cough and cold had completely disappeared and I was able to preach three times on Easter Day. I know that this rapid and effective cure was due to your Cough Remedy. I make this testimonial without solicitation, being thankful to have found such a God-sent remedy.

Respectfully yours,
E. A. LANGWELLT, M. A.,
Rector of St. Luke's Church

A Round of Pleasure.

The philanthropic lady sat in the midst of the McFadden family, expostulating with them in a pained voice on the frequency with which they chased "the festive can" around the corner to the nearest liquor saloon.

"You ought to provide some kind of wholesome amusement for your family," said the philanthropic lady sternly to the abashed McFadden. "You should do something to lighten the burden of living. Every life needs a little sunshine in it."

"Oh, misses," spoke up Miss McFadden, aged thirteen, eagerly, "we has plenty of fun. There's always a fight or somethin' entertainin' goin' on in the tinkmint. Why, once last week a gentleman cut a lady's throat and drug her past our door."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Arctic and Tropic Sunsets.

Sunsets in the tropics as I have witnessed them, although full of rich colorings, cannot vie with the color harmonies of the poles. Even the nights of the tropics fail as they are of beauty and richness of color are not comparable with those of the arctic night, when the moon is of a brilliance inconceivable to southern eyes, and the sun, although hidden during the long night, makes its presence felt by an orange radiance at the southern horizon at noon, and on starlit nights the snow crystals give out a shimmering glow. The tropical blue sea has a charm which the green of the south Atlantic lacks entirely.—Frank Wilbert Stokes in Century.

My back has been hurting me for a long time, often so bad that I could not work. The kidney secretions were very dark and cloudy. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills the secretions have regained their natural color and I do not suffer from the pains in my back at all. The imperial dignity of the German emperor, who is well known all over the world to be an enthusiastic huntsman, may have been a trifle dampened when he sank to his hips in a bog while he was deerstalking within one of his enormous domains. ### Speaking Without Words.

Spanish young ladies hold animated conversations with their lovers by means of a fan, which they always carry. Italians use a flower for similar purposes, and a young girl who may be apparently idly pulling the petals from a rose is in reality making arrangements for perhaps a secret visit to the opera house with her lover.

In Malta comparatively few people can read, yet nearly every one holds a prayer book when at church. The reason for this is that a prayer book language is in existence, and by carefully watching each other's movements two persons can readily and secretly communicate with each other through the various positions in which the books are held being recognized as code words.

Good for Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and La Grippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. # MERCURY

A POOR CRUTCH.

Experience is a dear teacher, as those who pin their faith to Mercury find out sooner or later. This powerful poison combined with Potash, is the treatment generally prescribed for Contagious Blood Poison, but failure and disappointment is the invariable result. These minerals drive in the sores and eruptions, and apparently the disease is gone and the patient believes the cure permanent, but soon learns better when the old symptoms return almost as soon as the treatment is left off. You must either keep the system saturated with mercury or endure the tortures of sore mouth, ulcerated throat and the mortification that one naturally feels when the body is covered with disgusting sores, rashes, copper-colored splotches and other aggravating symptoms of this vile disease.

Mercury and Potash are poor crutches, and their use eventually breaks down the constitution, ruins the digestion and cause the bones to decay.

SSS S. S. S., a guaranteed purely vegetable remedy, is the only antidote for Contagious Blood Poison. It destroys every atom of the deadly virus, overcomes the bad effects of the mercury and cleanses the blood and system so thoroughly that never after are any signs of the disease seen. Nor is the taint ever transmitted to others.

We will send free our book on Contagious Blood Poison, which is interesting and contains full directions for treating yourself at home. Medical advice or any special information desired given without charge.
