RICHES FOR EVERY ONE!

In these days of high prices for cotton and good demand for nearly every product which comes out of the ground, there is wealth and prosperity for every working man and woman in North Carolina.

But the demon of speculation is taking the place of the quiet and healthy industrial and agricultural spirit which should possess the people. It is not enough that through honest toil, persistent industry and careful habits that our people can gain a good livelihood and enjoy a life of peace and comfort.

But instead of the pursuit of a daily vocation, to be on the farm, in the office, in the manufactory, in a profession, there is an unrest. The question of the hour is "What of the future?" "Is cotton up, are stocks down?"

It is the trick of the telegraphic instrument, the demand to know the latest price on cotton or some railroad stock, which has seduced too many people today in North Carolina, and causes the ordinary pursuits of life to appear insignificant and unattractive.

A day's labor and its reward is too slow. A cotton "future" gives the quick results, a trade in the stock market promises quick riches.

And this speculative madness receives fresh fuel each day as the newspapers tell how Farmer Jones, always a poor man, placed a mortgage on his farm and with the money thus raised, bought cotton, and in a few days realized several thousand dollars.

A clerk on a $50.00 a month salary took a deal in Wall Street, with some money he had saved, and is now worth twenty-five thousand dollars.

It is not that Rockefeller or Morgan can make a million dollars, this does not so forcibly appeal to us, but our next door neighbor, that slow fellow Smith, has taken a few thousand dollars out of the stock or cotton market. This appeals for our next door neighbor, the man whom we know so well, can speculate and grow rich, why not I? It is this nearness which is so alluring, and so fatally treacherous.

Riches for every one is the cry today, a most dangerous condition, and one which is going to prove in the end as fatal in its effects as an epidemic which takes lives, for this fever to get rich, today, at once, is going to leave a sad line of wrecks in its course before the crisis is ended.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known for this insidious disease.

Address F. J. CHERRY & CO., Toledo, O.

The fatal sign of a recent French Cholera epidemic of what the Parisians call the "Cholera of the Month." The history of this story is remarkable. The hero of the story was a young Parisian musician engaged to be married to a young lady of good family. The young man was a young man of good family, and the young lady was a young lady of good family.

What's in a Name.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. B. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles.

A Man and a Hatpin.

In a theater recently a man down in one of the front rows sat on the floor with a large hatpin with an amber top. Looking about him, he saw that two women and their escorts had just sat down.

Nothing More Dangerous.

That a neglected cough, is what Dr. J. F. Hammond, professor in the Eclectic Medical College, says, "and as a preventive remedy and a curative agent, I cheerfully recommend Taylor's Chamberlain's Remedy of Sweet Gum and Halls."

Faithful to the Law.

"Why did you let him get away from you?" thundered the chief. "He—look a mean advantage of me," replied the green detective. "He ran across the grass in the park, and—"

Health Rules.

One of Queen Victoria's health rules is said to have been, "Do whatever you like, but do it in moderation." It would be a good rule to follow in all things.

CURED BY BARKHAM.

A London letter to the effect of a military officer who was suffering from a severe case of rheumatism.

A Prisoner in Her Own House.

Mrs. W. H. Layne, of 1001 Ayres Ave., Kansas City, Mo., has for several years been troubled with severe hoarseness and at times a loud cough, which she says, "would keep me in doors for days."

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa.

An Odd Collection.

An enterprising man visited the F. J. Islands and gave his performance before the natives had the following receipts for one night: Four sucking pigs, 800 coconuts, 1,000 of a common class of moonstone collected on the beach.

Domestic Troubles.

It is exceptional to find a family where there are no domestic ruptures occasionally, but these can be lessened by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

Officer Bryan Made One of Especial Importance in New Bern. Disease is insidious in its attack, no disease more insidious than kidney disease.

CLIMATIC CURES.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption, is very much underrated. The proper patient, and the right climate, will do much better than any medicine.
