Elizabeth City gentlemen who keep late hours are harassed by a female who dresses in black and follows them closely. Any attempt to talk with the woman is to catch her as follows. As she only appears on the street after the midnight hour it is probable that her presence was a necessity to make all men get home before midnight. Reputations persons beware the signs is a snook.

The papers say that an Illinois man is planning a machine to replace wire with a single wire for public utility. This is a very high grade paper and the inventor is a mechanical engineer.

A white man named Rogers, an employee of the Cotton Oil Mill met with a bad accident Friday. He was operating the gin and his right arm got caught in the machinery fearfully mauling the hand. The thumb was so badly lacerated that amputation was necessary. Drs Rhem and Hughes gave the surgical assistance.

Quite a crowd of negroes from James City came over last evening after the riot and much ranting and wild talk was engaged in. Those people over there frequently show a disposition to defy the law, and it is dangerous for an officer to try to arrest one of them for any grave offence. Several violent demonstrations have been made by them in the past and rash threats have been made that they would come over and attack New Bern. Its very unfortunate that their ministers and leaders don't try to learn them some sense, for as yet as not some of these days a serious collision will occur and they will be forced to abandon their settlement and go elsewhere.

Mr Luther Holton has opened a furniture store at No 55 Broad street and has a very nice and well selected stock of household furnishings.

Young Americans early become imbued with the martial spirit when he has an opportunity, a delegation of youthful cadets from the New Bern Military Academy called at this office to ascertain if a rumor that the United States had declared war against Russia and intimated a willingness to immediately set out to battle for the honor and glory of their country. Take it easy boys. It is to be hoped that you are destined to serve your native land in a better and more peaceful way than by grappling with the Russian Bear.

It is noticed that the officers of the Coast Line train are trying to discourage persons from jumping on and off the train and standing on the steps. If they would keep this rule up it might prevent another accident.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Centenary church will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the church parlors.

ASSAULTED BY NEGRO MOB.

Henry Stocks, Special Deputy Sheriff Receives Some Hard Treatment from A Lot of Negroes

There was a demonstration in James City yesterday that seemed to indicate the necessity of not only taking a regiment of soldiers but also a Gatling gun or two in order to make an arrest there. The people of that place like negroes generally are opposed to a peaceable process of law. If they can "butt in" in some way, no matter if two or three are killed in the proceeding, they seem to think they have discharged a moral duty.

Deputy sheriff Dick Blackledge, with a specially deputized officer Mr Henry Stocks, went to James City with a capias for Joshua Moore, who had been arrested for larceny but had failed to appear in court when the case was called.

They went to the Blades mill where the man is employed and after finding the man Blackledge, put him under arrest. After the warrant was read the man said he was not the one wanted and gave the name of Augustus Moore. From the start he displayed a very ugly disposition. Mr Blackledge told Moore, to go with them to the office. He wanted to go one way and Blackledge another, but the latter insisted and had gone ahead several steps. Before he had reached the office he heard a pistol shot and hurried back to find Stocks, and Moore, fighting.

They had fallen from the platform which was built about five feet high. They both had hold of the gun and Moore was trying to get it away from Stocks. When Mr Blackledge, saw the condition of things he hurried to Mr Stocks, assistance and not bring able to get Moore's grasp loose from the gun had to take a stick and beat his hand loose.

By this time the negro employees of the Blades mill had heard of the trouble and they came to help Moore make his fight. This crowd was increased by a lot of men from Minger and Bennett's mill and women and children were there in plenty. Before the man knew it they had a mob on their hands. While aiding in getting Moore into the office, Stocks was assailed by the mob, some forty or fifty, he thinks, and was unmercifully beaten. He took refuge in the office and the negroes gathered around, a crazy, ugly, howling mob. They undoubtedly would have got in the office and killed Stocks had not Blackledge stood and threatened to shoot any man who should attempt to make a hostile move. The crowd surged and grew more excited, and it seemed as if they would do something desperate in spite of everything that could be done to prevent.

Blackledge telephoned the sheriff that there was a riot in James City on account of the arrest of Moore and to come over at once. He also telephoned Dr Duffy for his surgical assistance and Dr Frank Duffy.

Stocks was in a bad condition from the blows he had already received and had decided to get to Wiggins' (a white man) house if possible without the negroes seeing him. He got through the window in the rear of the office and started for the house but was discovered and set upon again and received an awful beating with iron pipes-two boiler fins, and brick bats and stones were also thrown at him.

Dr Duffy who had been called to attend to the wounded man in the Blades office saw the melee and went to the rescue. Had it not been for the doctor it is most likely that Stocks would have been killed.

Stocks was brought to Dr Duffy's office and received medical attention. There were three very bad wounds on his head and his arm and leg were very much injured. He withstood the treatment on his injuries very well and was able to walk from the doctors' office to his home on Craven street.

Moore was brought to the county jail and placed on a cot in a cell. His injury is serious but not necessarily fatal.

Doubtless several arrests will be made on account of this assault and the of fense is of a very serious nature. Stocks says he will be able to identify all his assailants and with the aid of Blackledge it is quite probable that a large number of them will be gathered in.

OUR NEW OPERA HOUSE.

Ten Thousand Dollars Will be Expended on its Re-modeling.

The movement having people of this city will hail with joy the fact that they will have a $20,000 theatre in which to witness the best theatrical companies that will be on the road next season. They will also be pleased to learn that the same has been leased to the Cowan Bros, of Wilmington and Mr Frank Mat thews of this city, who will be resident manager.

Cowan Bros are the lessees of the Academy of Music and will attend to the bookings. The local play house will become a member of the Klaw and Erlanger Theatrical syndicate, controlling the best amusement attractions on the road. The Frohman plays and others of the same high grade are among the attractions.

Work on the construction of the opera house will begin at once. The north end of the masonic building will be torn out and an extension of 18 feet will be made making the building square against the city property. This will make the stage 28 by 42 feet with a proscenium opening of 80 feet. The height of the stage or from the floor to the "gridiron" will be 45 feet.

The dimensions of the orchestra floor will be 48 by 60 feet giving a seating capacity of 500 on orchestra floor and 800 in gallery. There will be one entrance from the west on Hancock street side and three exits from different parts of the house. Stage will be seen from all parts of the house with out any difficulty and the seats will be placed on an inclined plane.

The foyer will include the gentlemen smoking room and a lounging room for ladies will also be an appointed feature.

The stage equipment will be of the most modern construction. The "lash" scenery will be used and all appearances and requirements for the large companies traveling in the south.

The heating will be by the warm air system and the ventilation will be by the best process extant. In this respect the house will have the best effects of any public building in the State.

The front of the building will be reconstructed and all necessary repairs will be put where needed.

Mr H W Simpson, the architect is a member of the National League of Theatre architects which is in direct connection with the Theatrical Exchange. This gives him a great advantage and with his skill and art which he is well known to possess, our citizens may expect an opera house such as we have been longing for.

The theatre will be ready for entertainments by September.

Dear Sir: You want a cheap job of painting for a cheap house, don't you? It's Devco. It's the regular thing in Devon; there's nothing in all paint so cheap as Devco. Oh, yes, you can paint with mud, but that isn't paint; you want it to look about right for a month or two. Paint Devco; can't do it for less; there's nothing so cheap; say nothing of wear, there's nothing so cheap as Devco. It goes so far, save gallons; no matter how the price, save gallons. A gallon of paint, put on, costs $4 or $5; save gallons. There is your paint; save gallons; Devco is your paint.

Yours truly, W. W. DeWitt & Co. New York. P. O. Box 100, Smallwoodville, N. C.
