RUSSIANS HARD PUSHED.

Reports of the Fall of Port Arthur has a Little Color.

Choo Foo, July 30.—The refugees who arrived here from Port Arthur today confirm the reports of a general assault on Port Arthur by the Japanese. These refugees further state that the Russians are growing short of big gun ammunition and seldom fire these guns. An attempt was made to manufacture ammunition, but failed. The Russian ships have been again repaired. They do not intend to leave the harbor except in an extreme emergency on account of the mines which the Japanese have nightly placed in the channel. A Japanese cruiser and gunboat are reported sunk while placing mines.

Shanghai, July 29.—A telegram received here from "Wei Hal Wei" confirms other telegrams received here today from Choo Foo to the effect that Port Arthur has been captured. The Wei Hal Wei telegram says also that the British fleet, which has been cruising will return there tomorrow.

At Wei Hal Wei there is a British wireless telegraph station and the British warship is equipped with this means of communication. It is possible that Wei Hal Wei has been in wireless communication with the fleet and that the information of the fall of Port Arthur was received in this manner.

BETTERMENT PUBLIC SCHOOL HOUSES

Suggested Readings Compiled by New Bern Association.

Educational Value of Good School Houses.

State Superintendent Joyner, of North Carolina, writing to Mr. F. C. Abbott, of Charlotte, in regard to his plan for building better school-houses in North Carolina, says:

I agree with you that the public schools must be better housed before the schools and the teachers will be better. The work of education, real education, cannot be successfully carried on in a hotel. There is infinitely more in education than that which is to be gained from the mere gunning of books and saying of lessons. I am sometimes half persuaded to believe that that insensible education which comes from environment strikes deeper and lasts longer than all your sensible and formal education. If this be in any measure true, how essential it is that the school should have a home in which the children could be surrounded daily by such environment as would be conducive to the development through insensible education, of the fine and higher side of their divine nature. I hope and pray for the coming of the day in this old State when every school-house shall be clean and comfortable and airy and full of light, and attractive, full of comfortable desks and pictures, and those things that enter into the making of an attractive home for children, when the school grounds, instead of being bleak and bare and desolate, shall be blooming gardens of flowers and shrubs, and trees, and vines. This is my ideal.

The ideal is good. We must work in this spirit and to this end.

Received Scanty Welcomes.

Notwithstanding the hot weather, the gaucho hobo, is able to put in his regular appearance now and then. Clean and serene as ever, and just as dirty and scraggy as of yore.

But the finest specimen seen on New Bern's streets for a long time bobbed up in the neighborhood of the depot yesterday morning, about time for the Rhoody train. That he was an experienced and hardened tourist could be seen easily and went without saying, for was not he well equipped for traveling.

Suspended from his shoulders was his bedding rolled up in a fragment of cotton bagging and from his neck by a cord defended his drinking vessel, a much battered tin cup. In one hand he grasped a stout staff, and in the other, he carried what was once intended for a coffee pot, but to what use it could have been put in its later condition is a hard thing to imagine. Rust seemed to have long ago claimed the vessel for its own, and its bottom was as badly punctured as a Russian gun boat after an encounter with a Japanese war craft.

If it had not been for the unpromising appearance of the traveling gentleman his conduct along the line of the A & N C, would have led one to believe that he contemplated leasing or purchasing that road, and its property. And who knows but what he does? It is known that millionaires have evolved from apparent rags to wit, long headed schemes would find to their best interests to invest their intended investment while in the disguise of a tramp.

But to the tale while inspecting engine No 19, his "nibs" was spied out by that vigilant and hawk-eyed officer, Montague who started in pursuit, and the tramp inaugurated a movement. The chase was down Hancock street, but the officer proved the best sprinter. After a run of several squares. The capture was made near Pollock street and while the odor of the "remnant" was something horrible. Not unlike that of the native pole cat, only stronger, it was driven to the city pound.

There it gave various accounts of its origin and habits, but seemed to have no acquaintances with labor of any description, in fact when offered a place on the streets for 30 days by the Mayor it murmured, and signified an intention of shaking the dust of an insupportable city from its feet, immediately, which it did.

Work Progressing Rapidly.

Raleigh, July 30.—A thousand tons of rails are beginning to arrive here to be laid on the Raleigh & Pamlico Road. Work will begin within ten days. The trailing for the bridge across Crabtree Creek is nearly ready. This will be used for putting in place the steel bridge there.

Good Weather Today.

Special to Journal

New York, July 30.—The weather conditions for Saturday and Sunday on the Atlantic Coast are generally fair. Gulf States will have thunderstorms followed by fair, cooler weather. Kentucky and Tennessee will have showers and cooler weather.

Headed This Way.

Raleigh, July 30.—A white woman giving her name as Mrs. Jane Morris arrived here today with her six-months-old baby, saying she was on her way to New Bern, where her father named Wincoff lives and that she walked all the way from Danville, Va., following the railway. She says her husband was killed in a coal mine in West Virginia.

Will Use Balloons.

Hal Cheng, July 30.—The Russians and Japs will now use balloons and attempt to blow each other up by dropping explosives into each other's camps and ships. This method of warfare will be watched with close interest. The method will be volley firing at all movable objects in the clouds by night, as the work will have to be done at night. It is demonstrated that the baskets are easy to strike, it will be more dangerous in the balloons than on the ground as the explosives will blow up the occupants of the balloons and expend their force in the air.

Assassin is Named Parozoff.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—It is stated the name of Plevea assassin is Parozoff and that his home is in Southern Russia.
