SMOTHERED IN COTTON.

Little Boy Falls in and Dies.

Last Excursion. Hand Crushed in Bread Machine. Seniors Returning to A. & Collage. Antiquarian Research. Bullet Located by X-Ray.

Raleigh, Sept. 14.—Bryan Partin, a six year old boy was smothered to death yesterday in a heap of lint cotton in front of his father's home near Raleigh. He was playing in the cotton and must have dug a hole in it, tumbled in and then was overcome before he could get out. He had been misled when he was found by his little sister while digging into the heap. The body was standing on its head.

Arrangements are being made by the Seaboard Air Line for the running of the last excursion of the season to Richmond and Norfolk the latter part of this month. It will go from Selma, Raleigh, Durham and Henderson, the train dividing at Norfolk.

Fred Stoudt, a well known baker of this city had his hand badly crushed yesterday by being caught between big rollers of the bread machine which he was cleaning. The machine started unexpectedly and caught the hand, crushing the fingers and palm and breaking the arm just above the wrist.

There are twenty three seniors at work at the A. & M. College today and there are a number of others applying for reinstatement. It is stated by a member of the faculty that the college is open to receive any of the erstwhile studious seniors who will apply for reinstatement and promise to abide by the rules of the college.

United States Senator Simmons said today in speaking of the conference, he is to have with Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island at Beaufort tomorrow, concerning the possibilities of improvement of that harbor, that he believes it possible with a moderate appropriation to make Beaufort the third best harbor on the Atlantic Coast, only New York and Norfolk surpassing it. He says a moderate appropriation will provide a 25 foot channel and an adequate amount will give at least 35 feet depth. He says Beaufort can easily be the greatest harbor south of Havana on the Atlantic coast.

Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes is in receipt of inquiries from antiquarians in Boston making inquiry as to the whereabouts of a bust by Houdon, the famous French sculptor, of Paul Jones. They state that they find in a letter written by Paul Jones from Paris that he was about to send a bust of himself to the State of North Carolina. Nobody about the capital knows anything about such a bust and the Secretary of State is anxious to hear from anybody that does.

Physicians of Raleigh have succeeded in locating the bullet in the lining of the abdomen of George Arrington, colored, who shot himself, accidentally Sunday, and it has been successfully removed. The ball entered the chest, ranging down not entering the cavity at any point, but taking such a course that it was impossible to probe for it. For it to have remained was certain death and it could not have been located they say except with the use of the X-ray instrument.

THE WIND WAS WILD

Equinoctial Storm On With A Violence That Will Be Remembered.

One of the most violent wind storms prevailed along the South Atlantic coast that has been known for many months. In fact several years have passed since such a gale swept along almost the entire seaboard and in many instances has gone far inland.

The storm began early yesterday morning with a brisk 20 or 25 mile an hour wind and kept steadily increasing and shifting from south to east until it reached a velocity of probably 50 miles an hour.

A gentleman arriving on the train from Wilmington last night said he had not seen so fierce a storm for years, the lower streets of Wilmington, he said were inundated to the depth of 8 to 5 feet and though there had been no report of any heavy damage it is quite likely there will be some damage done before the storm is over as it was increasing in fury all the time.

Unconfirmed rumors were abroad on the street last evening of great damage done at Beaufort, Morehead City and Elizabeth City. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it was ascertained that the rumor concerning the washing away of a part of the Atlantic Hotel had no foundation in fact. The tide there is reported very high and it is stated that the people fear trouble.

The story regarding Elizabeth City was that the wind had unroofed thirty houses and that the town was mostly under water.

Telephone and telegraph wires north and west from the city were broken down at an early stage of the storm and consequently outside information is necessarily meagre. The official forecast of the storm was not received here until afternoon, and the signal was not hoisted until the storm had been in progress several hours.

Locally the storm was mostly blow the river was high and very turbulent but it did not get over its shores to any great extent.

The equinoctial storm is on in full force and will probably last several days.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

French People Degenerating? Are we degenerating? Is a question which French people may well ask after reading a very noteworthy article by Dr. Lowenthal, who is a member of the commission which is investigating the cause of the decrease of population. The worthy physician, who is a great authority, says that a state of things which is so widely deplored is not due to a diminution in the birth rate, but to the terrible increase of the death rate. He points out that "alcohol alone is killing France." Tuberculosis, he continues, which of all diseases is the most easily avoided, is raging in France with more violence than in any other country in the world. Every year it kills more than 150,000 victims and contaminates more than half a million more. Then typhoid, typhus, dysentery, scarlatina and other diseases and infectious maladies, which are decreasing in England, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Sweden and Norway, the United States and even in Italy, are, on the other hand, remaining at a very high average in France.

Smallopox, which has nearly disappeared from every civilized land, continues to make thousands of victims in France and becomes in her colonies. Such is the gist of Dr. Lowenthal's article.

Smoked Glasses For Hay Fever.

In Worcester, Mass., there is a doctor by the name of Stowell. This doctor has long been subject to hay fever. In studying his own case he noticed that hay fever came and went in a very capricious manner, and he reached the conclusion that it was mostly a nervous disease. Somehow or other he reasoned himself into the belief that the sun's rays produced hay fever by acting in some way upon the eyes. So he thought to try smoked glasses for the eyes to see if that would not prevent his hay fever.

He reports that the smoked glasses gave instant relief, but if he went out in the sun without the glasses he was sure to have hay fever again. So now he wears smoked glasses and is happy. He has no more hay fever. He says he has tried the glasses on two or three other patients and claims that the same relief is obtained.

We like to report such cases, because it is seldom that doctors ever admit that any one is cured by anything except the action of drugs. So harmless a remedy as smoked glasses should be welcome if it be found to contain any virtue.—Medical Talks.

Veneers Used In Furniture.

J. H. Williams, president of one of the largest veneer mills in the world, which turns out large quantities of the thin wood now used in almost all fine furniture, said that the days of solid furniture from any kind of wood are numbered.

He said, too, that when wood is in so large pieces as most furniture requires it can hardly be seasoned to the point where it will not warp or crack. Mahogany is not made solid, because it will crack and leave fissures exposed to view that are unsightly, no matter how fine the piece of furniture may be. Mr. Williams says that the best make of veneers are constructed with all the heavy timber in layers, as many as a dozen of which are often used in making one piece of the required thickness. In recent years oak has become so scarce that it is being made into veneers almost as largely as mahogany.—London's Courier-Journal.

BREATHE HEALING BALSAMS

Hyomel's Novel Way of Curing Catarrh. F. S. Duffy Guarantees A Cure.

Two or three years ago when a physician had a patient who was troubled with catarrh, the prescription would be, according to his means, either to seek a change of climate, or to take a tonic or blood purifier. Today, the advanced physician will tell his catarrhal patient to breathe Hyomel.

This novel treatment for catarrh consists of a hard rubber inhaler of a size convenient to be carried in the vest pocket or purse, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomel. By its use it is possible to breathe while at home or at work, air which is almost identical with that of the mountains or health resorts where the air is laden with healing and health giving balsams.

No other medicine gives such prompt relief as Hyomel in the treatment of catarrh. The first breath soothes and heals the irritated and smarting air passages, and its regular use for a few days or weeks will cure the most stubborn case.

F. S. Duffy will sell a Hyomel outfit with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. You run no risk whatever in buying Hyomel, for your word decides the question as to whether you pay for the remedy or not.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs $1 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomel and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomel can be obtained for 50c.
