Once a Year

Christmas, birthdays and the circus come but once a year. Once a year is also seldom enough to have your Piano tuned and put in order for season's use. Are you waiting for a better opportunity? Others are improving the present one, why not you? Only a few more days in this week. Only a short time in which to avail yourself of the services of a master of 20 years experience.

GREAT GROWTH

Of Retail Merchants Association In This State.

Soldiers Killed Near Goldsboro Report. Republicans Circulating Cartoons. Small Pox in Thirteen Counties. Large Still Raided.

Raleigh, Oct 11.—Norman H. Johnson the head of the Retail Merchants Association says he has never seen anything grow so rapidly. There are now 50 local associations and the memberships are 2,600, while 18 months ago it was less 400. He says the Association is doing everything it expected to do and has abated a great many trade abuses. A fight will be made to get a reduction of freight rates, the abolition of the Merchant's Purchase Tax and a collection law. The manufacturers and the wholesale dealers association will in connection with the Retail Merchants Association fight for a bill providing for a solicitor to prosecute freight matters before the corporation commission and will see whether that commission is a court or merely an investigating committee.

Adjutant General Royster is here. He has received the report of the court of inquiry into the death of two members of the Durham Company of the Third Regiment of the National Guard near Goldsboro, last August, but the report will not be made public until it is submitted to the Governor which will be in about two weeks.

The State Board of Internal Improvements will soon inspect the Wilkesboro and Jefferson turnpike.

The Supreme Court today took up appeals from the 7th district, known as the Fayetteville district. Among the attorneys present being Q K Nimocks and Thomas H. Sutton. Other arrivals are J O Carr, John H. Gore, Jr., and T R Brown, Wilmington; E W Vick, Selma; O W Blackwell, Kittrell; R P Taylor, Oxford; J R McKenzie, W B Clarke, Troy; R F Williams Burlington.

The Republicans are now circulating very widely quantities of cartoons, ridiculing some of the Democratic candidates.

Tomorrow, officers from Richmond will come here after John Sterling and Walter Jenkins, who are to be taken here and imprisoned. It is found that these men are not post-office robbers, but ordinary criminals. Sterling says he has been stealing and selling railway material since a boy.

The ladies of the Methodist church in this city have sent to Greenboro Female College, a girl who has finished the course at the Methodist Orphanage here. The painting of the Orphanage is done. Many applications for admission are coming in, and it is hoped to put some children in the new building in a month.

Revenue officers from here, made a raid near LaGrange last night and captured a hundred and fifty gallon illicit distillery with a quantity of material. They say it was as large as a turpentine still. They could hear the moon-shiners blowing horns in warning in every direction.

A charter is granted to the Elwood Hotel at Highpoint; capital stock $125,000. J. Elwood Cox being the principal stockholder.

The State Treasurer, Auditor and Attorney General returned today from the funeral of General Matt Ransom. Auditor Dixon said he was greatly impressed about the fact that there were about as many colored people as whites present and that the negroes showed the greatest devotion to the memory to General Ransom.

The bulletin of the State Board of Health reports small pox in 18 counties, one hundred cases being in Jackson county.

The farmers institutes for this season have been closed. They are very successful and well attended. It was thought some might be in December but this plan appears to be abandoned.

The Zuni child spends his early days in a cradle. But a cradle in Zuni land does not mean down pillows, silken coverlets and duffy lace; it is only a flat board, just the length of the baby, with a hood like a doll's buggy top over the head. Upon this hard bed the baby is bound like a mummy, the coverings bound round and round him until the little fellow cannot move except to open his mouth and eyes. Sometimes he is unrolled and looks out into the bare whitewashed room, blinks at the fire burning on the hearth and fixes his eyes earnestly on the wolf and cougar skins that serve as chairs and beds and carpets in the Zuni home. By the time he is two or three years old he has grown into a plump little bronze creature, with the straightest of coarse black hair and the biggest and roundest of black eyes. He is now out of the cradle and trots about the house and the village. When the weather is bad he wears a small coarse shirt and always a necklace of beads or turquoise.—St. Nicholas.

O, beauty! what a powerful weapon thou art. The bravest men fall at thy feet. No wonder women take Holliher's Rocky Mountain Tea to protect the joyous spell of youth. Try it. It is a gem. Try it. It is a gem. Try it. It is a gem.

IS RUSSIA'S CHANGE COME?

Or Are Japanese Retreating For A Strategical Purpose.

London, Oct 11.—Europe today has curiously divergent views of the announced advance of Kuropatkin from Mukden. The Russian opponents say the move is but a bluff in order to forestall the impending Japanese advance. On the other hand there is a noteworthy growth of the opinion that the world is about to see the turning of the scale and that from this time on Russia will be a general winner as the Japanese have been heretofore. The British military experts point out now for the first time since the crossing of the Yalu Kuropatkin has the contemplation of battle without the possibility of defeat or of annihilation. Nothing definite, however, is known, as to the magnitude of Russian success so far, and the pro-Japanese element cling to the belief Oyama is merely during the Russians on to disaster.

Keeps Improving.

The Merchants Journal the paper of the N C Retail Merchants, keeps improving with each issue, and is a monthly publication which can be read with interest and profit by not only those in whose interests it is published but by business men generally. It is an exchange which is always read carefully in this office, and something gained by reading it.

COSTS NOTHING IF IT FAILS

F. S. Duffy Gives Guarantee Bond With Ml-o-na, Nature's Remedy for Dyspepsia.

Read the following plain and positive guarantee that F S Duffy gives with every box of Ml-o-na that he sells.

GUARANTEE

I hereby agree to refund the money paid for Ml-o-na on return of the empty box, if the purchaser tells me that it has failed to cure dyspepsia or stomach troubles. This guarantee covers two 50c boxes, or a month's treatment.

(Signed) F S Duffy.

Ml-o-na has made more complete and lasting cures of dyspepsia and stomach troubles than any other remedy. It does its work thoroughly and so strengthens the stomach that the one who uses it can eat anything at any time. It will open the door to a new and brighter outlook in life, for when the stomach is strengthened, health, good spirits and cheerfulness naturally follow.

Ml-o-na is the only remedy for dyspepsia that is sold on a plain and absolute guarantee that it will cost nothing unless it cures. Begin its use today with the knowledge that F S Duffy will refund the money if it fails.

This is the strongest endorsement that he can give to Ml-o-na—that he believes in it so thoroughly that he will return the money if it does not cure.

WILD BILL'S FIRST FIGHT.

He Was Wounded, but Killed Six of the McKandias Gang.

Wild Bill, whose real name was James Hickok, first came west in 1857 and drove an ox team on the plains for Majors & Russell in 1859. He subsequently engaged himself to the overland stage company as stock tender and was put in charge of a new stage station on Rock creek, near the old McKandias station, which was generally known as Robbers' Roost. This was the headquarters for the McKandias gang, a crowd that had held together since the Missouri-Kansas border ruffian days and generally had things their own way. A man named Picklin, and a number one stage hand, was the superintendent. He tried to buy out the McKandias station; but, failing in this, he built a new one near by, putting young Hickok in charge. Up to that time he had never experienced trouble with any one and was not likely to have friction, especially with the old station keeper, McKandias, or his men.

In the winter of 1860-61 McKandias and his nephew and four other men passed by the new station on horseback, leading an old man who was a fool. They had a rope around the old fellow's neck, and occasionally they would take a few turns around the horn of the saddle, make a run out the rope and jerk the old man down and drag him on the ground until he was nearly dead. The only spite they had against him was that he was a North Methodist preacher. If Wild Bill was anything he was an abolitionist and free soiler and loyal to the United States. The McKandias crowd was planning to make a raid on several stations to secure the stock and go south. They told young Hickok they would take the stock. He replied that he would be there.

When they returned late in the evening two stopped at the corral, two went to the front and two to the back door of the cabin or hut. Hickok told them he would shoot the first man who took down the bars of the corral. The elder McKandias fired at Hickok, but missed him. Hickok returned the fire with a rifle and shot McKandias in the heart. The next shot from Hickok killed the nephew, and the two, first at the front door. Just then the front of the back door opened fire. One shot from a double barreled gun lodged seven full grown buckshot into Hickok's right side and breast, two of which entered his lungs. The two men who stopped at the corral came to the assistance of the two men at the house. Hickok was then in a hand to hand fight with four men. He killed three of them in the house and wounded the other so badly that he died on the prairie.—Denver Field and Farm.

Discovering the Kangaroo.

In the year 1770 Captain Cook sailed into Botany bay in his ship, the Endeavour. A foraging or exploring party brought back to him the news of the discovery of a new and strangely formed animal. It was described as mouse colored in hue and of the size of a greyhound. But that which struck Cook's men as most singular was its movements. "It sprang or leaped with great swiftness, by the aid of its long hind limbs," while the possession of a strong tail was also noted. On July 14 a Mr. Gore, one of Cook's party, shot a kangaroo, the name by which the animal was known to the natives. At their dinner on Sunday, July 15, 1770, they dined on kangaroo joint and pronounced the meat to be excellent eating. As early as 1711, however, a Dutch traveler in Australia, of the name of De Bruijn, had captured a kangaroo, which he took to Batavia, so that Cook practically rediscovered the family.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pass it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to prevent it from the shoe. As a preventive, however, the plaster, broken into small pieces and comminuted, may be used to prevent. For sale by all druggists.
