NOT UNEXPECTED.

The Decision Regarding The South Dakota Bond Case:

State Fair Opens to Big Crowd: Convicts For the Pen. Reply to Judge Christian's Charges

Raleigh, Oct 18—The State Fair was formally opened at noon by President George T. Winston of the A. & M. College representing Governor Aycock, who is absent on a campaign. The Fair is a good one, the exhibits numerous and the attendance will be very large. It ranks among the first of all the fairs in the south and is the oldest in point of continuance existing. Thursday will be Johnson county Day and 2000 people are expected from that county. That day will also be a holiday for the post-office and bank people and also for the various State departments and the public schools and most of the business houses will close for the day.

Prof. W. F. Massey is back from Newton where he spoke at the poultry and animal show which he says was highly creditable to the people of Catawba county. It is held for the purpose of exchange and sale of animals and poultry. Grain and forage crops were also shown.

The decision of the United States Supreme court not to grant a re-hearing of the South Dakota bond suit case was not unexpected by the State officials. It had been Governor Aycock's desire to do everything possible and so it was thought wise to employ distinguished counsel to aid the State counsel in making a motion before the Supreme court. To this end John G. Carlisle was employed as an attorney. It was understood that the United States Supreme court would be asked to postpone the sale of State bonds at the main entrance of the National Capital until after the legislative meets. That sale has been ordered to be held January 21st. The legislature meets early that month.

State Superintendent Joyner is informed that two local school districts in Gaston county, Dallas and Lenoir have voted special tax, three and a half school districts have been consolidated at Dallas.

The venerable but sprightly Orrin R. Smith of Henderson was seen here today, wearing badges of three wars, one the Mexican war, the other the campaign against the Mormons at Utah, the expedition having been commanded by Albert Sidney Johnson, and third the Civil war. He is the only man in the United States who can wear all three badges it is said. He attended the reunion of Mexican veterans at the World's Fair this summer, and says that of the 100 present three fourths were either from North Carolina or the descendants of North Carolinians. This is a very remarkable showing.

At the Ransy Library Building this evening the fifth annual meeting of the State Literary and Historical Association of North Carolina was held. Dr. C. Alphonso Smith of the State University presiding. The subject of his address was "The Average American." The next event, and the feature of the evening of course was "North Carolina and the Civil War," being a reply to the charges brought by Judge George H. Christian of the United Confederate Veterans of Virginia, Judge Walter Clark submitting the report. Prof. D. H. Hill of Raleigh spoke on North Carolina books of this year: John Charlis McNeill of Charlotte on state literature, and President Venable of the State University on its relation to North Carolina History.

Supreme Court Opinions.

Special to Journal.

Raleigh, N. C., October 18—The Supreme Court filed the following opinions today.

Waynesville vs Satterthwaite, from Haywood error.

Malney vs Tel. Co., from Cumberland no error.

McKethan vs Telephone Co., from Cumberland, new trial.

Johnson vs Cameror, from Cumberland, error.

Moore vs Guano Co., from Brunswick reversed.

Fisher vs Ins. Co., from Brunswick, no error.

Ramsey vs Browder, from Wake, error.

Monk vs Wilmington, from New Hanover, new trial.

Goodwin vs Telephone Co., from Lenoir, no error.

Cash Register Co vs Hill, from Franklin, affirmed.

State vs Lewis, from Lenoir, new trial.

Rogerson vs Lumber Co, from Martin appeal dismissed.

Allen vs Tompkins, from Franklin, plaintiffs appeal, no error.

Cason vs Dorch, from Greene, error.

Parker vs Brown, from Hertford, affirmed.

Nature's Beauties.

Character is fed largely through the eye and ear. The thousand voices in nature, of bird and insect and brook, the sighing of the wind through the trees, the scent of flower and meadow, the myriad tints in earth and sky, in ocean and forest, mountain and hill, are just as important for the development of a real man as the education he receives in the schools. If you take beauty into your life through the eye or the ear your nature will be hard, juiceless, unattractive.—Success.

The Horses.

The horsefly is the most cruel and bloodthirsty of the entire fly family. He is armed with a most formidable weapon, which consists of four lancets so sharp and strong that they will penetrate leather. He makes his appearance in June. The female is armed with six lancets, with which she bleeds both cattle and horses and even human beings.—Colman's Rural World.

Procrastination.

"One of the greatest evils in life," said the elderly woman, "is procrastination."
"I think so, too," replied the young married woman. "I don't see the sense of putting off your golden wedding anniversary till you are sixty or seventy years old."

Her Footprints.

"Dear Mr. Hicks," she wrote, "I am sorry that what you ask I cannot grant. I cannot become your wife.—Yours sincerely, Ethel Burrows." Then she added, "P.S.—On second thought, dear George, I will marry you. Do come up tonight and see your own true Ethel."

Barred Treasure.

Medium—I can tell you about a buried treasure. Patron—Please don't! My husband is always tooting that in my ear. Medium—Does he know anything about a buried treasure? Patron—Yes, his first wife.

When a man dies, his widow begins to look for valuable papers. The only papers the average man has are his wedding license and real estate—Arthur's Column.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general remedy for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by all druggists.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that none should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all druggists.
