Republicans Say Will Be For Their Ticket

North Carolina In Civil War. Damage Suit Against Street Car Co. Cotton Pickers Wanted In Mississippi.

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Deputy revenue collector M. L. Wood and a posse have made a raid along the line of Wilson and Wayne counties. They captured a still operated by moonshiners, and while they were engaged in the capture the daring moonshiners pulled up and carried off another still close by, which the officers knew about. They carried this still off and it is said sunk in the pond. Deputy collector Wood captured a quantity of fine old apple brandy which concealed underneath a tobacco packhouse in the yards of J. B. Atkinson.

The report read by Chief Justice Clark on behalf of the committee maintaining North Carolina's claims for the work of the soldiers in the Civil War, is of course an abstract of the complete reports, made by the various officers assigned to that duty. These reports will make a pamphlet of 73 pages, and will contain six maps of battlefields, showing the positions attained by North Carolina troops, nearer the enemy's lines than those reached by other States in the Confederacy. These publications are now in the printer's hands and will be ready in a few days, and persons desiring a copy can secure it from Judge Walter Clark at Raleigh, upon notice to him.

The North Carolina Cotton Growers Association met in annual session here this evening. Among the speakers was Secretary of State Grimes.

There will be a meeting of the Confederate veterans here this week for the first time in many years. The annual meeting was held at Asheville in August.

The State department of education has a very interesting exhibit at the State fair, showing the progress in public education.

Judge Funnell has returned from Elizabeth City, where there has been a term of Federal court but there was no case to try except one and that was made here. The deputy marshals say no rats has fallen in that section in six weeks. Deputy marshal Mitchell has given notice to the Norfolk Street Car Co. that he will bring suit against it for $2,000 damages for an injury received there by being thrown from a street car which moved while he was in the act of stepping off.

The Republican leaders say they look for a great increase in the vote of this State. Two years ago it was about 70,000 but they expected it to be from 110,000 to 120,000. They say that here in Wake there will be an increase of 100 per cent and a notable increase in the east. They declare that there are counties in the east which now have candidates in the field which two years ago did not poll fifty votes.

The political fight this year is as desperate in Chatham county as in any in the State, it is said. That county after a number of years has been a hard proposition. The Democrats say they will carry it, but that it requires no end of work and the latter must be ceaseless.

A letter has been received here from a great cotton plant in Mississippi, asking for 100 cotton pickers. He offers to pay the fare to Mississippi and return and also to pay a dollar a day for the labor. This shows that there must be scarcity of farm labor all through the cotton belt. There is certainly great lack of it in North Carolina. Improved machinery will settle many of the labor problems, but does not settle the cotton picking question, because no machine has yet been invented that will pick cotton, nor is it probable that one will ever be devised to do this difficult and peculiar work.

Her Lord and Master.

Her Lord and Master was the title of the play produced by the Ocean Hoyt Stock Co. Although the drama did not give the leading lady, Miss Belcher, an opportunity to use her talent to her utmost, the character demonstrated a deal of pathos which was felt by the audience. Another lady of the company who deserves special mention was Miss Misses Ray Beall, who took the part of Alice Temple. She has shown in all the plays a good ability, but at no time better than last night.

The play Friday night will be The Two Orphans, a widely read story and a drama that has held the boards in New York longer than any other play of the kind.

Some Sensible Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to buy in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that every month thousands of people are cured of colds, coughs, and other ailments.

THE GREAT EVENT TONIGHT.

Miss Bob White and Her Tunesful and Mirthful Colleagues at New Masonic Theatre.

The great event of the opera season will be at the New Masonic theatre tonight. A great deal is expected of Miss Bob White whose praise has long been heralded in the metropolitan press.

Early in the summer souvenirs were issued by the Nixon-Zimmerman Co., managers of Miss Bob White, for the 750th performance, so popular has this opera been that it has had the continuous run for the season in Philadelphia.

It not only is expected to be a rare musical treat but a society event as well. Preparations have been made to give it particular distinction in our amusement attractions, and the audience will be the largest and most fashionable we have yet had in the new play house.

There is in the opera a beautiful, tuneful and spectacular performance which gives the spectator a sensation of being in almost another existence. The orchestra composed of fifteen pieces, the chorus with 60 members, the gorgeous and costly costumes, the many ballet all tend to put one in dreamland as it were. It has been pronounced by capable critics as the most successful of Willard Spencer's successful operas.

A few good seats are still unsold and those who desire to attend should secure their seats early this morning.

The Point of the Cape of Good Hope.

Cape point, which terminates the mighty headland known as the Cape of Good Hope, consists of a towering promontory of sandstone, which rises from the sea to an altitude of 840 feet. At the base of this stands a big solitary column which is known as Vasco da Gama's pillar. The lighthouse which here illuminates the meeting place of the Atlantic and Indian oceans is one of the most important and most useful of its kind. It is visible from a distance of thirty-six miles. The cliff scenery is wild and sublime, the rocks are magnificent, and the far reaching sea, with the fierce surf beating on the iron bound coast, is impressive. In the water directly beneath the cliff sharks are abundant. A traveler describing the scene says that on the occasion of his visit so numerous were the evil looking monsters that the sight as he descended the cliff was most unpleasant. A slip and a fall into the sea at this point would mean that the unfortunate would be torn instantly limb from limb by the ravening brutes.

Cheese and a Battleship.

Admiral Charles E. Clark, who took the battleship Oregon around Cape Horn and into action at Santiago, owed his appointment as commander of that boat to his skill as a chess player. Captain Clark was at San Francisco in command of the gunboat Bennington. When ashore he spent much time in the chess room of the Mechanic's library, where he met some of the best players in the city. When the time came to appoint a man to command the Oregon, a friend of Clark's in the navy department at Washington put his name forward. "You should see that man play chess," said he and went on to describe his intense application and determination, adding, "And that's why I think he can bring the battleship around safely, if any one can." Three hours later Clark received orders to assume command of the Oregon and take her at once to Cuban waters.—Argonaut.

The Mumble Paragraph.

It is a most extraordinary thing that some of our most successful novelists cannot turn out a newspaper paragraph to save their lives. In most novels there is some page or other on a supposititious clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the events under narration, and in ninety cases out of a hundred the matter that makes up the "clipping" is most unreal. The truth of the matter is that all the training in the world will not enable a man to write, in this manner unless he has been through the mill and had all the nonsense deleted by the remorseless subeditor. Our novelists do not have their manuscript hacked and chopped about by this skillful executioner, and their pseudo newspaper clippings are models of what the real thing is not.—Journalist.

The Turquoise Era.

Between the years 1790 and 1840 innumerable plans were made for the creation of turquoise in the United States. There had been one great success, the Lancashire turquoise in Pennsylvania, and then came countless other projects. In 1811 New York had 187 chartered roads, with a total length of 4,800 miles, and the sum required to build them amounted to $7,500,000. An era of canal digging and then of railroad building followed this period, but the canal promoters and railroad men had great difficulty in advancing their schemes. They were considered insane when they insisted that the mountains and plains could be conquered by these means of transportation.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Expeller, rubbing thoroughly. A corn should be treated with a few days' rest, and a bunion with a few days' rest and the use of a corn plaster.
