State Association County Superintendents Adjourns.

Death of Hyde County Citizen. Gastonia Bank To Pay Depositors. Fine Farm. Needed Rain. State Charter Granted.

Raleigh, Dec 2.—The State Association of county superintendents of education did not end its session until very late last night. Speeches were made, by its invitation, by Governor Aycock, Treasurer Lacy, Attorney General Gilmer and other officials, and a resolution was adopted expressive of the appreciation of the educational interests of North Carolina of the great work done by Governor Aycock during his entire administration. Resolutions were adopted also, expressing appreciation of the Hall of History, and asking for a fire proof building. There was some discussion of compulsory education, but that matter was put on the shelf, not being endorsed.

The State Superintendent of public instruction was informed this morning of the death of county superintendent of J. M. Watson of Hyde. He has been superintendent continuously since that office was created in 1891, with the exception of two years of the Fusion administration. His service had been longer than that of any other county superintendent. He was a graduate of Randolph Macon College and a classmate of ex-governor Jarvis. He was a very efficient superintendent.

Corporation commissioner, Samuel L. Rogers returned here today and announced that John F. Leeper of Belmont had been appointed receiver of the Gastonia Banking Company. He says the company will probably pay all depositors in full, and that this will be as much as is expected.

Rain began falling today, to the delight of the farmers. Several crops have needed rain for a fortnight or more.

The number of rural free delivery mail routes in North Carolina has now passed the 800 mark. The postmaster here is paying 778, and of course a number of routes are just put in force. There are four agents in the field, making up routes and just as fast as their reports go in new routes are created.

Mrs. Florence Tucker has a very fine farm near Raleigh, two miles west, the land being once used as a Confederate camp of instruction, known as camp Mangum. On this is 70 acres in corn, the crop on which is over 800 barrels. There are 100 acres in cotton from which 136 bales have already been ginned and the farm manager says the total will reach 175. Yesterday he had 68 pickers at work.

The State grants a charter to the Aurora Manufacturing Company of Aurora Beaufort county, to manufacture farming implements and vehicles, capital stock $25,000.

Emerson on the Sea.

On the seashore the play of the Atlantic with the coast! What wealth is here! Every wave is a fortune. One thinks of titlers and great projectors who will yet turn all this waste strength to account. What strength and fecundity, from the sea monsters, hugest of animals, to the primary forms of which it is the immense cradle, and the phosphorescent infusories; it is one vast rolling bed of life, and every sparkle is a fish. What freedom and grace with all this might! The seeing so excellent a spectacle is a certificate to the mind that all imaginable good shall yet be realized. The sea is the chemist that dissolves the mountain and the rock, pulverizes old continents and builds new, forever redistributing the solid matter of the globe, and performs an analogous office in perpetual new transplanting of the races of men over the surface, the exodus of nations. We may well yield us for a time to its lessons. But the nomad instinct, as I said, persists to drive us to fresh fields and pastures new. Indeed the variety of our moods has an answering variety in the face of the world, and the sea drives us back to the hills.—Ralph Waldo Emerson in Atlantic.

Wouldn't he be diverted, Miss Krenney, on bookstores—Have you Moore's poem? Clerk—Yes, Miss, I'll get 'em for you. By the way, here's a splendid story called "Just One Kiss" Miss Krenney (sighing)—I want Moore's Philodotus Lodgey.

A Certain Cure For Croup.

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is no time to experiment with new remedies, no matter how high they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can always be depended upon. It has been used for many years and its action has been proved by the most eminent physicians of the world.

THE GASTON'S FIRST MEETING.

Literary Society of the Graded School Has an Interesting Inauguration.

The first session of the Gaston literary societies was held yesterday afternoon in the upper hall way of the new graded school building.

The room is admirably adapted for meetings of this nature. It affords room for all grades and gives more freedom to the speaker. The idea is a good one and we believe that literary society work under the altered circumstances will be enjoyed by the students better than ever before.

The piano is located in the lower hall room of the building and the musical program was rendered there, the students sitting on the steps while it was in progress.

Following is the program which was given:

Oborus—"Our School."
Instrumental Solo—Miss Wallace.
Vocal Solo—Henrietta Hancock.
Song—"My Old Kentucky Home."
Recitation—Edna Duguid.

Debate—Resolved, that Woman is not undeveloped Man but Diverse. Affirmative, Bruce Edgerton, Catherine King, negative George Willis, Mabel Bartling.

The debate was made on good lines of argument which were forcibly expressed. The affirmative won the decision of the judges but both sides made good points.

The exercises closed with a reading of the society paper by the editor, Willie Sutton. It contained "News in a Nut shell" and "Short Passing Events" and was full of good things in which the scholars were interested.

It was a pleasing surprise on the students mentioned in the items and the whole paper was greatly enjoyed.

Next week the Silver Literary Society will have its first meeting and in the near future there will be a joint meeting of the societies when there will be great rivalry for first honors. It will be sharp and exciting.

The public who are interested in the progress of the school and are anxious for their children's welfare should visit these meetings and take cognizance of the many advantages afforded by holding these exercises.

The St. Louis Exposition Makes a Record for Itself.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition has ended. It stands supreme as being the largest attended World's Fair in the history of the world.

Since the beginning of the Exposition April 30th, 19,000,000 have passed through the gates. The record it has made for itself is that its enormous expenses have been met and a small surplus realized for the corporation.

It has been an Exposition which has excited the interest of the whole world and delegations from every portion of the civilized world have visited it to the excess of the most exaggerated anticipation, says President Francis concerning it.

"This exposition has been the work of my life," said President Francis. "It has consumed my entire time for the past 4 years, but every hour has been an hour of pleasure to me. I have exhausted my stock of adjectives in trying to describe this fair. It is as difficult to do it justice as it is to paint the lily."

The closing exercises were held at the base of the Louisiana Purchase Monument in the Plaza of St. Louis, where were also held the opening exercises seven months ago. It was an occasion appointed by the directors to do honor to President Francis for his splendid and successful generalship. As an expression of their appreciation of President Francis' labors for the fair he was presented with a magnificent silver service consisting of 500 pieces and costing $17,000.

President Francis, in his address, spoke of the lasting influence of the fair, "which marks a new epoch in the intellectual and industrial advancement of the world and the dawn of a new era in the international relations of governments and people." In conclusion, he said: "May this enterprise with which we have been connected for nearly seven years past bring into still closer brotherhood all the nations and all the people who have participated in it. May it deepen our patriotism. May it strengthen our love for a benign Providence that smiles upon us."

Promptly at four o'clock all the great exhibit places were closed and visitors were excluded. In the Palace of Agriculture onslaughts were made on some of the exhibits, where the settings were composed of straw and fragile material, and for a time general demolition was threatened, but prompt action in effecting a general ejection put a stop to the threatened turmoil.

As the night drew on, throngs concentrated in the main avenue to view for the last time the magnificent electric illumination. One solid stream of humanity swept through the Pike from end to end. The spirit of revelry was there.

A detailed report of the exposition will be issued in a few weeks.

The following is a brief statement made to the Associated Press by Secretary Stevens which shows in a feeble way the enormous crowds that have visited the fair.

"In round numbers, the Exposition Company has expended $25,000,000 since the inception of the World's Fair project and the expenditures of the several States and territories have reached a total of $9,000,000. The receipts since the opening day, April 30th, have amounted to about $10,000,000, consisting of admissions and concession royalties."
