AN IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

The Annual Lodge of Sorrow Held By The Elks.

Eloquent And Touching Address Delivered By Fred Harper, Esq. Large Audience In Attendance.

JUSTICE.

But the Order of Elks is not merely an organization for the practice of charity toward all mankind. It has a high and noble purpose to subserve among its own members in the cultivation of those qualities of the mind and heart that elevate and refine, that ennoble and exalt. Not the least of these is Justice.

But as in our daily supplications that arise on high we do not seek for justice in the course of which none of us should see salvation, but do pray for mercy.

BROTHERLY LOVE.

Perhaps the one peculiar feature of the Order which gives an Elk the greatest pride and pleasure in his membership is the fact that wherever he may find a man who responds to his hall he finds not only a man but a brother. A brother whose manner and bearing attest those qualities of mind and heart for the possession of which his whole Lodge stands sponsor. A brother who wears upon his breast, in the badge of the Order, a token of the approbation of his whole community. A brother who grasps his hand in cordial greeting; whose heart is warm with a brother's welcome. It has come to be a distinctive feature of this Order. It is known to be the most sociable as well as the most social of all the secret fraternalities, and the records have yet to show an instance when this pledge of brotherhood has been unfulfilled.

The readers of David Harnum will recall that homely philosopher's humorous statement that, "there is as much human nature in one man as there is in another—if not more." This quaint remark might well be paraphrased, without loss of truth, into "there is as much good in one man as there is in another—if not more." Indeed they amount much to the same thing to my mind, for I love to believe in the general good of human nature. We are all very much alike. We all have our good qualities as well as our evil. As one poet has expressed it:

"Virtuous and vicious every man must be;
"Few in the extent, but all in the degree."

Our another poet has more sweetly sung:
"There's a space for good to bloom in
"Every heart of man or woman,
"And however wild or human,
"Or however brimmed with gall,
"Here heart may beat without it;
"And the darkest heart to doubt it;
"Has something good about it after all."

And it is the purpose of the Order of Elks to cultivate in its members a determination to seek that good in a brother's heart and when he has found it to stimulate and encourage it, and thus draw strength for the better growth of what is good and true in one's own heart. This is brotherly love in its highest and best sense, it is the brotherly love of Elkhood.

FIDELITY.

The affections of the human heart are easily awakened, and they grow and expand with remarkable rapidity when cultivated amidst prosperity and happiness. But they often yield all too readily to the chilling blasts of adversity and woe and die under the blight of misfortune. But such affections are imperfect and unworthy imitations of those which have been in all ages recognized as the ideal and the perfect. Nor can that ideal be embodied or in any degree approached until there lives within in the heart a spirit of constancy and faithfulness that knows no change; that wavers not with every fortune's breeze that blows; but ever shines with steady glow, like the trusty beacon light at night that sends its dancing rays afar across the waters, whether the calm and peaceful heavens be studded with stars or dark with the foreboding of coming storm.

Not far from my own home in Virginia in the adjoining county of Bedford, and almost in the very shadow of the mighty Blue Ridge, there stands today a magnificent structure that was recently

A Certain Cure For Croup.

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is no time to experiment with new remedies, no matter how high they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can always be depended upon. It has been in use for many years and has never been known to fail. viz Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Dr. J. C. Chamberlain, of Lowell, Mass. says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in several cases of croup, and in every instance, and especially in the worst cases, it has proved a certain and reliable cure."

dedicated by a most glorious service. It is the National Home provided by the Order of Elks for those of its members who may be overtaken by adversity and whose whitening heads may have become bowed before the hostile winds of adverse fortune.

It is not an asylum to be filled with inmates as matter of charity or public policy. It is not an ordinary charitable institution where those who are destitute may receive merely food and shelter. But it is a home. A home prepared by the stalwart and vigorous members of a great family for the occupancy of their less fortunate brothers. And how sweet it is to know that whenever and wherever a member of our Order, with broken health and shattered fortunes, feels that he can no longer withstand the buffetings of the rough seas of life, he may know that even as in his father's house are many mansions, so in his brother's Home there is a room that is all his own. And though he may come from the rocky coast of Maine or from beside the blue waters of the far off Pacific, he is no stranger. But like as a son is heir to his father so he but comes to claim what is his. A brother's welcome awaits him; gentle hearts surround him with loving care, and kindly hands lend willing service to his every comfort and his every need.

And so it is that today is set apart the we might meet in this Lodge of Sorrow; that once again our brother's names may be called on the roll as they were wont to be called in the past, albeit we know there shall answer but the silence of the grave that our hearts will be torn with anguish and our eyes will be dimmed with tears. Nor is it only on such occasions that faithful memory shall bring our brothers back to us for the fidelity to which we have pledged ourselves in a living quality, and though the outward tokens of grief be laid aside and the badge of mourning be no longer worn, yet the sorrow in our hearts which their death has caused is with us still and shall never fade.

Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love, and Fidelity. These are the cardinal principles of Elkhood to the cultivation of which every Elk has pledged his manhood and his sacred honor. No theory of life, no plan of conduct, can of itself produce the highest type of manhood. It depends upon the man himself. In the great drama of life each must play a part but the character is left for each to choose, a villain if we will, or man of honor holding high above all things, high above all things, high as hope's great throbbing star above the darkness and the dead, respect of virtue and love of wife and home and friend. It is the purpose of the order to make its members better husbands and fathers, better sons and brothers, better citizens, better men. The result depends upon the individual; but he who has lived a consistent life in accordance with its teachings has lived it in accordance with the injunction of that master mind who, in a single sentence, has summed up all essential elements of all moral teaching, and mapped out a course that all the world might safely follow to its salvation.

"So live," said he, and thus does the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks charge each of its members:

"So live that when thy summons comes to join
"The innumerable caravan that moves
"To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
"His chamber in the silent halls of death,
"Thou go not like the quarry slave at night,
"Scourged to his dungeon; but, sustained and soothed
"By an unflinching trust, approach thy grave
"Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
"About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Regular meeting of W O W this evening at 7:30 will be a very important one. They have quite a number of logs to roll and also will hold an election of officers. A full attendance of members is requested.

Revolution Imminent

A sure sign of approaching revolt and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismember the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the Liver and Bowels, stimulate the Liver, and clarify the blood. Run down systems benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under the searching and thorough effect of Electric Bitters. Electric Bitters is only 50c, and that is returned if it don't give perfect satisfaction. Guaranteed by G. D. Redburn, druggist.

REFORMATORY FOR JUVENILES.

Governor Aycock to Lecture On Education in Florida.

Board of Agriculture Reports on A & M. College. No New Cases of Small Pox. New Carolina Code Completed.

Raleigh, Dec 6.—Director John P. Kerr of the penitentiary board says he intends to press the matter of the establishment of a Reformatory for young criminals, of which project he yesterday spoke at the Board meeting. He says that owing to the attitude of some of the members of the board he does not feel as hopeful as he would wish to be, but he thinks this is the one chance of establishing such a Reformatory and as the penitentiary has the money available he desires to seize the present opportunity. In other words he desires that the present board shall be the originator and the founder, so to speak, of a Reformatory.

Governor Aycock will leave here for Florida on the afternoon of Christmas Day, taking with him his sons Connor and John, and will visit his brother at Melrose. He will on the 30th address the Southern Educational conference at Jacksonville, his subject to be "The Education of Masses." It is the only engagement to speak which he has made before the end of his term.

The special committees appointed by the Board of Agriculture to report upon the needs of the A. & M. College here has prepared its report which will be laid before the Board tomorrow at the semi-annual meeting. This report will recommend the establishment of a central light, heating and power plant to cost about $20,000, the location to be along side the B. A. L. and Southern railroads, in the valley southwest of the college, in order that coal can readily be delivered and also in order that water used in the different systems will return by gravity to the plant.

The city physician says no new cases of small pox have developed here in a week, and that there are only two cases within the city limits and four in the suburbs. Editor Caddell of the Evening Times, who is sick at Wake Forest with this disease is almost well. He had a mild case. The type is not very severe in this vicinity. Vaccination is not compulsory but the city physician says many persons are being vaccinated.

Senator Simmons and his private Secretary, A. D. Watts, left this morning for Washington. Mr Watts has been on duty at Democratic headquarters here three months.

John W. Thompson of Raleigh, ex Secretary of the Democratic State Committee frightened an intending burglar a negro from the roof of a porch at his home here. Burglars have been very daring recently.

Mention has been made of the fact that the Code Commission had finished the first of the two volumes of the new code. The price of this book will be $3 while the second volume will sell for $2 and will be ready in about ten days. The work is not known as the Code, but as the Revised Statutes. The first volume contains 2,800 pages, containing all the general statutes. Excellent arrangements have been made for keeping the type from which the work is printed. There are to be 8,500 copies of the first volume and 1,500 of the second one.

U. D. C. Notice.

An important called meeting of the Daughters will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock at the rooms on Broad St. All the members are urgently requested to be there. Bring thimble, needle and thimble.

The Key That Unlocks The Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty five and ninety years of age are not the rotund well fed, but thin, spare men who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age, will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to cleanse and invigorate his stomach and regulate his liver and bowels. When this is done there is no reason why the average man should not live to old age. For sale by all druggists.
