TWO IMPORTANT DECISIONS

Corporation Commission Can Order Extra Train Service. Rights of Labor Unions.

Special to Journal.

Raleigh, Dec 13.--The Supreme court today decided the very important case of the North Carolina Corporation Commission, against the Atlantic Coast Line R R, involving the power of the Commission to require this railway to make connection with the Southern Railway at Selma by putting on an extra train. The superior court decided against the corporation.

The Supreme court reverses this, and holds that the Commission has full power to compel railways, as public highways, to make connections with other lines, even if an extra train has to be put on to do this.

Another important decision is that in the State against Van Pelt, involving the right of labor unions to refuse to work materials made by manufacturers employing non union men. The Supreme court, Judge Connor delivering the opinion, quashed the bill holding that it charged no criminal offense and holding further that the motive for the act was not violative of the present criminal laws.

N. B. M. A. NOTES.

This cold weather has put new life in the boys and they are doing hard work in their studies, preparing for examinations that come next week.

It is very amusing to see them every evening at the wood yard, getting in the night's supply, some are cutting, some sawing, other scrapping about "you swiping" my turn of wood, while the rest are "chewing the rag" as to who shall have the saw as soon as the one using it is through.

Our College Journal will be published next week for the first time. The name is "Fuzellan College Journal." We desire all the advertisements that are possible to get and assure you happy Xmas return through same. "When you see a good thing why push it along," there fore start us. We will do the push ing.

Presbyterian Bazaar.

The parlors of the Presbyterian church were beautifully adorned yesterday on the occasion of the annual bazaar. Many men and boys were much in evidence in the trimming of the rooms while bouquets of lovely roses were seen on the tables.

The booths were very attractively arranged and covered with many pretty articles of use and ornament which were readily sold. Notice able among these was the Ladies Home Journal, both the trimmings of which and the pictures sold there were furnished from that office. The pictures were replicas of some of the excellent illustrations for which that magazine is noted.

Last but not least was the elegant and delicate collation served by the ladies. In all respects the bazaar was a highly enjoyable affair and a great success.

Centenary Church Bazaar.

The ladies of Centenary Church have secured the store of Mr. Meyer Hahn opposite the post office, for their Annual Bazaar, which will open at 3:30 p. m. on Thursday, Dec 15th.

There will be a large and varied display of Fancy articles suitable for Christmas gifts. Refreshments will also be served, consisting of Ices, Cakes, Chicken Salad, etc.

There will be a new feature for the little ones--A Mystery well, which will be a pleasure and delight to them.

Special Meeting Of Chamber of Commerce.

The clerical force in the office of the State Auditor was very busy today getting out the 13,873 pension warrants, truly a great task.

The bulletin of the State Board of Health just issued reports small-pox in 16 counties, Greene, having 150, Henderson 28, Wake 5, New Hanover 4. The Wholesale and Retail Merchants Association of this State is giving wide circulation to petitions asking the legislature to repeal the Merchants Purchase tax and to secure a collection or a garnishment law as well as a law to make certain representation embrace in the act covering the obtaining of money under false pretenses. It is the desire of the associations to have a law regulating sales of goods in bulk, so as to prevent fraud, such a law being in force in other States. Only seven States have no garnishment or collection law, North Carolina being absolutely without one.

Secretary T K Bruner of the board of Agriculture who yesterday was informed that he had been given a princely decoration by the Prince of Bulgaria, today received a very handsome cigar case of leather and silver from the exhibitors in the Agricultural Palace at the World's Fair. An inscription on the top and a monogram in high relief is in silver on the case.

This afternoon special services in memory of Mrs D H Dill, the wife of Lieut. General Daniel Harvey Hill, USA were held from the First Presbyterian Church, the remains leaving on a train a little later for Davidson College, where the interment takes place tomorrow afternoon.

The Masons are greatly pleased that work is so soon to begin on the temple. The persons who now occupy the building on the site have been notified to vacate them, and it is hoped they will be prompt in doing this. The plan of the building is a superb one, and the next annual communication of the Grand Lodge after the one next month is expected to be held in it.

The Grand Lodge of Masons is now curing a photograph of an oil painting of Grand Master Simon J. Baker, who laid the corner stone of the present State Capitol. Marshall De Lancey Haywood is preparing a history of North Carolina Masonry which is to be very complete. A photograph of Joseph Mortford, who was the first Grand Master under the Colonial Government has been secured. He filled that office in 1771.

The weather for today will be fair and continued cold.

See second and 3d pages for additional news.
