GOVERNOR AYCOCK'S MESSAGE.

Some Important Features and Recommendations Presented to Legislature.

Raleigh, Jan 5.—The message of Gov. Aycock to the Legislature says the State is in excellent condition. Its citizens prosperous its revenues adequate for all needs and with a balance of $840,000. The revenue act has worked admirably. Special attention is called to the matter of taxation. There has been a great increase in the valuation of railroad property which is now over seventy million dollars, more than double in five years, while in that period gross earnings of the railroad increase seven million dollars. The Governor thinks the railroads in the State ought to be protected by a law making it a misdemeanor for pedestrians to use railway tracks as highways, and thus save sixty lives a year. He thinks the Corporation Commission should be given power to permit the railroads to have only one passenger fare, there now being two rates, this occurring nowhere else except in North Carolina. Railway accidents have been extremely numerous, and many of these are due to two many hours of service by employees without the opportunity to rest, and the number of hours of continuous service should be restricted by law.

Referring to public education, the Governor says Supt. Joyner is pushing the State's Educational interest forward at a speed which commands the admiration of sister States. He greatly deprecates any attempt to raise the race issue on the question of education, there being absolutely no justification for it. Having divested the negro power it is manifestly the duty to make of him the best citizen of which he is capable and this can certainly never be done by leaving him to his own devices or by withdrawing from him the small amount of taxes the whites devote to his education. There are only three courses open with reference to the negro, first to let him go without any training and inevitably drop back into savagery, and when the whites make up their minds to do this the second plan would at once be put into effect, this being for philanthropic people throughout the world to take charge of his education and train him out of harmony and inequality to the people among whom he lives; the third plan being to train him ourselves making him more capable, more efficient and more reliable and with a deeper affection for us, this last plan commending itself both to the selfishness and the generosity of the whites. The Governor is impressed with the necessity of ceasing all agitation which leads to the embitterment and estrangement of the negro, because as these increase large numbers of negroes will leave the State. North Carolina's greatest need today is more labor and it is the height of folly to continue to bring about condition which lessens the amount of labor in the State, but on the contrary every encouragement should be given by fair treatment even by generous consideration to stop the emigration of this important party of our labor. It is useless to pass laws taxing emigrant agents if we denied to the negro the privilege of giving his child a decent public school education.

The Gov. says that four years experience has convinced him that it is impossible to live within the salary paid the Governor of this State and do all the things that are properly expected of the Governor and his family. The Governor's salary ought to be such that a poor man could afford to hold the office, which without adequate compensation will grow to be restricted only to those who are wealthy. He therefore recommends an immediate increase to five thousand dollars, so the increase may be available to Gov. Glenn.

The Governor refers to the burning of the main dormitory of the State Normal & Industrial College for Women, and part of the valuable plant, over a hundred thousand dollars loss. The Governor and Council of State authorized the president of the College to borrow eighty thousand dollars and rebuild. The building, a magnificent one, is complete, and the eighty thousand dollars borrowed will in a few days be due and provision for meeting ought to be made. Speaking of the penitentiary the Governor says that owing the great number of criminals now sentenced to the roads the number in the penitentiary decreases while that of convicts unable to work increases as the counties do not do duty to have invalids. If this policy continues it will be impossible for the penitentiary to continue to make expenses. It is extremely doubtful whether a man can be sentenced to work on the public roads and wear stripes for a single misdemeanor.

that during the past two years they are far less frequent than during the preceding two years, and that he is led to hope that the State is close upon the time when lawlessness shall go from it. The white men of North Carolina disfranchise the negro on the distinct grounds that with him as a voter peace quiet and order could not be deserved, and in doing this bound themselves to preserve all these things within the means of the law, so that if there ever was people anywhere, solemnly pledged to the maintenance of the law and order, it is the people of North Carolina, he favors laws making more effective the means of ascertaining and punishing all participants in lynching also speedy trial and prompt punishment of the criminal. Much progress has been made in building and improving public roads during the two years.

REMEMBERED BY EMPLOYEES.

President James A. Bryan Receives Beautiful Silver Loving Cup From the Employees of A. & N. C. Railroad.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last night the beautiful home of James A. Bryan, Esq., was invaded by the officers and his former employes on the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, headed by the K. of P. band.
The occasion was the presentation of a beautiful and massive silver loving cup to Mr. Bryan, the inscription on the cup being: "Presented to President James A. Bryan by the officers and employes of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, as a testimonial of their good wishes and in recognition of his valuable services to the Company and to the State of North Carolina. September, 1904."
After several musical selections well rendered by the band, Capt. Fulford, in behalf of those gathered, presented the cup to Mr. Bryan, and requested M. D. W. Stevenson, Esq., to make the presentation speech. Mr. Stevenson said it was a pleasure to represent such a body of men, who stood for so much in the upbuilding of a community. No words could be uttered, nor could he say anything more forcible or improve upon the words inscribed upon the cup, for these showed in what high respect Mr. Bryan was held, and the gratitude and appreciation in which he was held after leaving the road by those who had been his employes, and been recipients of his kindness and attention.
Mr. Bryan in replying was deeply affected by the kind and generous remembrance which the gift expressed. He replied in words full of appreciation for the gift, which he valued for what it represented, the love and good will of those with whom he had been associated, whose fidelity to him had made the success that was achieved, and had assisted in making the road a valuable property. Whatever credit was his for the management of the road, was due to the loyalty and help of these his employes and friends, which made his administration a success.
After the band had played another selection, the party was invited to accept refreshments.

BYNUM IN RALEIGH JAIL

In Bad Physical Shape. His Easy Escape After Murder.
Raleigh, Jan 5.—This morning at four o'clock R D Bynum, the murderer of Jas H Alford, was placed in jail here, to the great satisfaction of sheriff Page who sat up all night waiting for the much desired prisoner. Despite the hour and the bitter cold there was a large crowd at the Union station to see the prisoner, but there was no demonstration or attack against him. The sheriff said the physical condition of Bynum was such that nobody tried to talk to him. Sheriff regards his condition as very bad. Bynum was brought here by Sheriff Haddock of Gates. There is a reward of three hundred dollars for the man and the question is whether his captor is an officer or not. Bynum was disgraced and tried to escape. The authorities here very much regret that he got out of Raleigh as he did. Within half a block of him as he came out of the door of the printing house where he shot Alford was a deputy sheriff and a policeman. The deputy seems to have done nothing and the policeman made the gross mistake of going to the station house after a warrant, the mayor then telling him no warrant was necessary. The officer then did not go by himself after the murderer, but took another policeman with him, so that it is very way valuable time was lost.

Portray's Frontier Life.

A realistic picture of life in the far west will be offered at the Theatre tomorrow night under the title of "The Flaming Arrow." The play is not as might naturally be expected a blood and thunder production, abounding in gun shots, and other hair raising episodes, unpleasant to an audience, but is a faithful picture of life on the Frontier, and in one of the famous Government posts. It tells a beautiful love story, is replete with thrilling scenes, and its characters are all taken from living prototypes, true in character and costume.
As "The Old Homestead" is the typical play of the old West, so is "The Flaming Arrow" of the far West. Lincoln J Carter is the author and producer and critics unanimously concede it to be his best production. To add local color and realism, a tribe of real Indians is carried, also several E. C. United States soldiers, cowboys, donkeys, and an Indian brass band which will give a band concert before the performance.
