Gov. Glenn in Office and Enjoys It.

Interesting Relics for Hall of History—Murder Trial—Variety of Moonstone Discovered—Presents for Ex-Governor Aycock.

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—Another snow fell last night and the streets were quite glassy in some places. Yesterday was one of the very worst days of the year and today's sunshine was greatly enjoyed, having been quite a rarity lately.

Two interesting relics have been received at the Hall of History. One of these is a pair of gloves worn by Capt. Alexander, of Burke county, during the War of the Revolution. He was born in 1760 and was at the battles of King's Mountain and Cowpens. The gloves are sent by Mr. B. F. Davis, of Burke. The other relic is a pistol carried during the Civil War by Charles E. Benson, of the Second North Carolina Infantry of Grimes' Divisions. It is the heaviest pistol your correspondent has ever seen.

This morning about 4 o'clock fire broke out at Apex, this county, and burned the postoffice, Apex News office, the stores of Hunt & Olive, A. G. Bell and J. W. Rogers. Two of the stores were new and were occupied this fall. All seven buildings were burned.

In the Superior court here the trial of Will Adams, the murderer of a negro woman and her two children, is in progress. It is the second trial. The evidence is overwhelming against Adams, who has once been sentenced to hang.

A report made by the gem expert of Tiffany, of New York, says a new and very remarkable variety of moonstone, with a red reflection, has been discovered near Bakersville, Mitchell county.

The newspapers mention the appointment of W. A. Blair, of Winston, on the monetary commission. George B. Hanna, of Charlotte, has served many years on this commission, and Thomas K. Bruner, of the Agricultural Department, has served one year.

Governor Glenn looked very comfortable as he sat at his desk today. He certainly fills the executive well. It is a snug fit. He is a good dresser and a good looking, and with a jolly good fellow. He has signed a lot of commissions, practically completing the military staff, one of these being that fine soldier, Joseph F. Armfield, as Brigadier General, a re-appointment. Others were Geo. L. Peterson, of Clinton, as Paymaster General; W. L. McGehee, of Franklinton, Inspector of Small Arms Practice; Geo. F. Hankins, of Lexington, Assistant Paymaster General; Thomas Stringfield, of Waynesville, Assistant Inspector General; W. E. Masenbury, of Henderson, Assistant Adjutant General; Ivey Foreman, Assistant Quartermaster General.

Governor Glenn was chatting with some prominent men and said his new position would really give him a sort of rest. He has been a very hard worker between his law practice and politics. He makes it a rule to go to bed at 11 o'clock and in the winter time to eat only two meals a day but, as he remarked with a smile, he tucked away a pretty good pair of meals in the cold weather. In summer he eats three. He rises from bed at 7 to 7:30 and takes a great deal of exercise. He told the newspaper folks that he would not give out any news after 4 p. m. each day. He is very social and in order to meet the public will spend some time one day in each week at the Capitol Club, of which he has been made an honorary member. This is a very nice arrangement for the public. The Governor says he wants to know the people and to meet them. He is a very sociable man and no doubt will make the Executive Mansion a much frequented place. His mother, who felt so much pride in his election and inauguration, will live with him.

Ex-Governor Aycock continues to receive honors. The gifts presented to him this week aggregate in value more than twelve hundred dollars, and some of them are magnificent. There is a $500 silver service from the teachers of the State and a $200 watch and chain from the State officers, this being one of the finest watches ever seen here. All sorts of good things have come to Governor Aycock and lots more are coming to him—all he has to do is wait.

SOCIETY.

Local Events of the Past Week.

SOCIAL.

Mrs F S Duffy entertained a number of friends at an informal reception last week in honor of Mrs John D Gardner of Boston, Mass.

Last week Mrs E M Powell gave a novel affair, complimentary to the visiting ladies in the city, in the form of an Auction Party.

Mrs F S Duffy proved to be a most charming auctioneer. Very pretty souvenir cards were given to each guest being appropriate and delightfully amusing. At the close of the evening the guests were invited to the dining room which was tastefully arranged, the table being decorated in ferns and candelabrum and a delicious repast was served.

One of the enjoyable and elaborate affairs of the week was the card party given by Miss Elizabeth Ellis to a number of friends.

There were four tables at which six hand Euchre was played, very pretty and handsome prizes being given. The first prize a gold belt pin was won by Miss Edith Oettinger of Kinston and Mrs David Oogdon received the consolation which was a blague figure.

The color scheme was red and green, the idea being further carried out in the refreshments which were in the form of American Beauty roses, making the decorations of the dining table an unusually beautiful one.

Miss Bessie Hyman delightfully entertained about fifteen of her young friends some evening last week, the occasion being her birthday. The time was pleasantly spent in making candy and playing games.

Local Theatrical Talk.

There is a considerable hard feeling over what was called the Ivesman Game, since it was gotten up and subscriptions taken for it last Fall. The prospectus was good enough to procure a fine list of subscribers, who are today feeling as if they had been badly taken in. The few entertainments given have not averaged up to the promise made, while at present there is no sign of further entertainments.

The experiment made a few nights ago in permitting certain parties seats in the lower part of the theater, might not be repeated. The one act of a play has brought several one phots to this office.

An agreeable movement at the hands without any unpleasant effect is proposed by Charleston's Dramatic and Lyric Troupe. For sale by all drug stores.

IN LEGISLATURE SATURDAY

Penalty on Telegraph Companies. Licenses Discussed and Bill For State to Tax all Balloons $1,000.

Special to Journal.

Raleigh, January 14.—In the Senate, bills were introduced to impose penalty on telegraph companies for non-delivery of messages.

A bill passed to prohibit the sale and manufacture of liquor in Richmond county. After a warm debate over this bill, but only three votes were cast in the negative.

In the House a bill was introduced to regulate the sale of liquor in the State, requiring all saloons to pay one thousand dollars license and to close at eight p. m. opening not earlier than 6 a. m.

SHORT PASSING EVENTS.

The Girls Friendly Society will meet Tuesday evening at 7:45 at the residence of Mrs. W. S. Simmons on Pollock street.

It is noticed that the truckers are pushing their preparations along for the spring crop. No hard freezes have interfered with the work thus far.

The weather cleared up yesterday, bright and cool with no snow. The temperature was about freezing all day. The forecast is for cold today and Monday.

Rev. G. V. Tilley of Huntville, Mo., is in the city, a guest of the Patterson House, and will conduct services today at the Tabernacle Baptist church at the usual hours.

Some of the largest and finest oysters of the season were on the market yesterday. They were a cultivated variety. Single, large and of excellent flavor, and sold readily for eighty cents the bushel.

The funeral services of Mrs. Margaret Havens, the wife of E. Havens, will be held at St. Peter's A. M. E. Church on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to be present.

Beautiful eyes and handsome face are eloquent commendations. Bright eyes are windows to a woman's heart. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes bright eyes. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. F S Duffy.

There will be a call meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the room on Broad street. This is the time for the annual payment of dues.

M. L. HENDREN,
Rec. Sec.

Much complaint has been heard lately about the high price of horses, but one seeing the sale yesterday at the corner of Middle and South Front streets would have been astonished at the lowness of a horse's value. An animal was sold for $4.00, both seller and buyer being satisfied.

Strangers coming to New Bern are attracted and most interested in the hot beds in the suburbs of the city. In these beds are grown lettuce, cucumbers and such vegetables as need to be forced to meet an early market. Several gardeners use steam to promote the rapid growth of their plants, and it is claimed that the system is a complete success.

The merchants report a considerable falling off of trade since Christmas. Various reasons are given to account for it, but the low price of cotton seems to be the most blamed. Whatever the cause, the business of New Bern can poorly afford the loss. Why don't the Chamber of Commerce wake up and make an effort to increase the business instead of letting it fall off?

Six cent cotton has had its discouraging effect of course on the farmers of Eastern North Carolina, but they are in no way dependent. The writer has talked with a great many of them in the past few weeks and have found most of them generally determined to hold their crop until the price improves or gets to a remunerative figure. And it might be well to remark that the farmers in this section are well prepared to abide by their determination. More meat, bread and other home supplies have been put up this year than the writer remembers ever to have seen provided before.

There were more people from the country in New Bern yesterday than have been here any one day since the first of the year, and many of them were thirty cents, but could not obtain that dirt for which they craved. It has been given out by certain diplomatic business folks that the prohibition law would not be rigidly enforced, that their rural friends would be supplied, and so on, but it seems that there is a failure in the delivery of the goods. It transpires that the saloon keepers have accepted the prohibition law in all sincerity and absolutely refuse to violate it. That's just as it should be, and the prohibitionists are entitled to more or less credit, but mysterious packages pass out of certain places that have never heretofore dealt in the death dealing drug.

Merchants Notice.

There will be a special meeting of the Merchants Association Monday evening Jan 16th.
