"THE CRY OF THE EAST."

The statement of Mr Winborne that unless something was done to discrim-nate against the negro on the school question, the Democrats were in dauger of losing eastern North Carolina, even of losing eastern North Carolina, even if accurate, is no reason why his bill repealing the [constitution should pass. By the way, what becomes of the "ory of the east" that we of this section have heeded so often? Is this a continuation of the same call for help that has proved so burden one to the Democratic party in North Carolina.—Charlotte Observer.

So far as the voters and the people are A N ... concerned in the East, there is no Mace- S J 974 donian cry going forth, for the West to Southern Ry pf., 34 make any political sacrifice for this sec- U. On this subject of the "cry of the east," the Asheville Gazette- News, Bays:-

"The eastern democrats of North Carolina are calling to ther trethren in the west. "Save us," is the cry which comes up to the mountains from the sea.
We had got the idea that the east was We had got the idea that the east was to stay saved for a time at least, but not so. It is badly in need of saving again it seems, and the west is to be called upon to he'p in amend ng the constitution some more. This time an amendment is wanted whereby the public school fund shall be divided between the races in proportion to the amount of taxes paid by each. This proposition is now being considered by the general assembly and is said to be very I-vorably received by a coainderable number of the members.

The colored citizen is not in politics nor is he seeking to be, but is striving to make a living and be at peace with his neighbors and community.

But while the politicians exist there must be agitation, for without the sensational, there is a dreary time for the office holder the seeker after political preferment

Our people manifest a splexdid interest in music now. There are eighteen music pupils studying under the various music teachers. Besides several new planes have been sold here in the last few months.

We are preparing to celebrate Washington's birthday with an entertainment at night. We hope to please all who tovor use with their presence. A small ulmission fee will be charged, the proneeds of which will be used in placing more furnishing, in the building. Thus we can get a double benefit from our money—social amusement while support ng the grandest institution for man's development.

We have as fertile a section as there s lo Eastern North Carolina, convenient transportation facilities; a mild climate, an enterprising little town commercially, three good churches with regular services by four denominations and no bar rooms. Now if the people will it-and I believe they do-there is nothing to prevent this school from becoming a mighty factor in the civil life of this section. United effort, work and money will bring success.
