A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SPORT AND SLAUGHTER.

There seems to be considerable agi-Carolina, and especially as to the coming of outsiders to hunt in this State. In fact the outside visitor is set down as ests of the State.

A glance into the situation as it is actually, is the only fair thing to do, for it must be conceded on all sides that what is needed is the preservation of the game in this State from all unnecdose or two of Chamberlain's Stomac case, that goes under the guise and gists. name of sport.

To begin with the hunting season may be said to open November 1st, and in every locality where shooting can be found, the local hunter is first in the field, and usually with the spirit of annihilation, so long as a bird of the covey Roosevelt to include Newport News in remains to be followed. It is usually late in December, if not January, before the northern sportsman comes to do his winter's shooting, and by that time the exceedingly hard to get a sight of, much less to shoot.

It is said by some that the northern visitor, who pays his tax to the local authorities, is a dealy shot. If he is, and this is a question, when compared with the local hunter's skill, he must be if he is going to kill the few birds left when he gets down south. Ask the northern hunter what his game costs, and you will find it high, generally averaging a dollar a bird but he does not care if he can kill a few birds each

What is wanted is some law which shall limit the number of birds killed,

Newton Enterprise

Mr. Doc Finger, of Maiden, was in Newton last Friday in a wagon over a hundred years old. It was brought to this country by Lyman Woodford, who came here from somewhere up about Buzzard's Bay early in the last century peddling clocks.

He settled near Maiden and died there and has a graveyard named after him. Mr. Finger bought it at the Hintation over the game laws in North son sale several years ago for 84 cents. He says he certainly got a bargain, for it is still a good wagon, but being about six inches narrower than the standard wagon, he has to keep inside the ruts, a most destructive person, and a decided and does not find the riding anything to injury to the hunting and game inter- brag about on muddy or frozen

MEN WITH ANIMAL EYES.

ome of Them Who Pose as Models

For Painters. Some men possess "animal eyes. which defy disguise and which are always liable to prejudice their owner's chances throughout life. That this, however, is by no means invariably the case is evidenced by a solicitor in the north of England, who ascribes much of his prosperity to a look of profound wisdom which has gained leut to what would otherwise be a somewhat commonplace countenance by a pair of "owl eyes." At least three men who have come under the writer's notice (and there are possibly many more like them) earn a precarious livelihood by sitting to animal painters. All three have come down in the world, and one is unknown to the other two, The first mentioned belonged once to a good Cheshire family, but went wrong and emigrated years ago to Canada, where he found his level on the water side at Montreal

According to his own story, he was on the verge of starvation when one evening he was accosted by a French-Canadian artist, who asked him whether he cared to earn a dollar by coming to his studio and sitting to him for half an hour. Only when the painting, a very large one, was completed did the unfortunate model discover that the picture was a study in farmyard life and that the hateful and all too familiar expression in his own eyes had been transferred faithfully to the optics of a pig on the canvas.

The two other men, with peculiar eyes who earn a living by sitting to animal painters are also expatriated Englishmen. The writer met both in Paris in the winter of 1897. One of them had "dog eyes," while the other wore the expression of a cat. Both are well known to bohemian dwellers in the Latin quarter. In Florence one Boutempi got his living by posing to Matarauso, the well known animal painter. Dogs were his specialty. He had their expression, that doglike fide-ity of eye which one adultes so much in the pictures by Landscer, Stray Simple Life, Roal and Palse There is every reason to expect that nator Wagner's doctrine of the simple life will be misinterpreted by many Americans who will undeavor to prac-tice it as a kind of fad. They will pose as livers of the simple life. They will have clubs, circles and guilds. They will read papers and rush into print.

They will mart a cult, and by dint of
