out the south to colore their account 25 per cent, there are two reasons in addition to the piedges which are further evidences of the fact that account is certain to be reduced. The first in that the farmers all over the southern State Pare further behind with their work this year than in many years pant and they have not the time now to get their land in the proper condition for planting cofton.

Another reason, and perhaps the most important besides the pledge of the farmer to curtail his acreage, is the scarcity of labor throughout the south. For several years past negroes have been rapidly leaving the farms, taking to railroads, saw mills and turpentine distillation. Vary few of them remain. distilleries. Very few of them remain between the plow-handles, that is a very few in comparison to the number that worked on farms five years ago, and this year they are scarcer than

With very little labor a farmer can not begin to tend the cotton land he had in cultivation last year, and he must necessarily cut his acreage in proportion to his labor. The purchaser was a miller in Wiskham, and when he pulled down his old mill he built a new one from the timbers of the Chesapeake. Mapy of these timbers still have the mark of the Shannon's grapeshot, and in some places the shots are still to be sees deeply imbedded in the pitch pine.

If the builder who made this slap know that its timbers were being used in a mill which is making money for a subject of Great Britain there is no obt that he would at least try to rise from his grave to right the wrong.

Congressional Wrestling Match. The cloakrooms of the two houses of congress furnish many incidents calculated to provoke amusement when the proceedings inside are devoid of interest. Particularly is this so in the house, where the reputation for dignity and decorum is not so thoroughly established. A few days before adjourn ment a very funny encounter took place in the Democratic clonkroom Representative Clayton of Alabama who is one of the glants of the house, engaged in a wrestling match with Representative Hardwick of Georgia. recognized as one of the vonneest and perhaps the smallest member of that oody. Hardwick, to the intense delight of a number of his colleagues, got a catch-as catch-can hold on Clayton, which for a time the taller man could not loosen. Clayton finally landed the midget of the house over on a comfortable couch. Hardwick was theroughly out of breath, and he caused an uprour which was echoed inside the chamber when he with some exultation declared to Clayton, "Considering aims, I sirendy threw you,"
