A SWELL RECEPTION

Given The Ladies of New Bern By National Biscuit Company.

Something Unique And Entertaining In The Reception Line, Stormy Weather Does Not Prevent a Large Crowd.

Not only in the advertising line, but more so in the entertaining line, was the reception given at the Naval Reserve's Armory Saturday, from 2 to 5 p. m. by the National Biscuit Company a swell reception. It was an occasion when the ladies refused to stay at home because it rained,—they just came out, and enjoyed and profited by so doing, for the Armory was beautifully decorated by material brought from Chicago and not least was Reale's Orchestra, which added its musical charm, which fully supplemented the decorations, and gave a keener zest to the whole affair.

Daintily, served were the delicious products of the National Biscuit Company's, fresh from their packages. And before being opened, the able young men who had the reception in charge, showed just how to open the packages and preserve their contents, a knowledge few people have, and something which every one ought to understand.

Added to the music and decorations, there was full opportunity for the guests to sample the delicious products, furnished to the visitors by the National Biscuit Company, and eagerly, almost hungrily, were Unecda Biscuit, Oysterettes, Butter Thin Biscuit, Graham Crackers, Social Tea Biscuit, ZuZu Ginger Snaps, as well as those unrivaled confections Nabisco Sugar Wafers and Festino Almonds, accepted by the guests, as well as tea and chocolate which were served in delicate cups.

The popularity of the National Biscuit Company's products gained a notable and lasting entry through this reception, even though the various products were popular and well known before, for such an exploitation could not fail to win deserved recognition, which it has, from the hundreds of ladies of New Bern, who were so enjoyably entertained through the courtesy of the National Biscuit Company.

Neat and tasty souvenirs were given each lady, a remembrance which made a fitting and gracious climax to a really superb reception.

Safety In The Ellis Administration.

The progress and advance of every community can be encouraged only through the selection of the best officials in charge of its internal affairs.

Municipal politics has often, and is still today ignored by the business men of every community, for the reason, that the ordinary methods of political measure is not only unknown to business men, but if known, is not participated in. This causes a lack of interest in that branch of the city's affairs, which is absolutely vital to its prosperity and advancement.

Worthy officials occupying municipal offices are often succeeded by men less worthy, for the reasons stated, and because of an indisposition on the part of the citizenship to actively enter into a political campaign, which others use for the purpose of selecting their choice for various reasons.

Monday's primary is the opportunity offered to the voters of selecting the best material for control of the city's affairs, for the succeeding two years.

The office of Mayor is now filled by one who has peculiar fitness for the administration of the affairs of the city, and one who has in the past several years shown his qualifications, as well as his thorough familiarity with the city's needs. No Mayor within our knowledge has so successfully held the criminal classes in subjection, and none appear to us to be able and willing to exclusively devote time, skill and energy to this important office more than its present incumbent.

We can never advocate a change of public officials unless such change will result in the election of a successor better qualified to occupy such office.

Under present provisions of the city charter, an official can serve but two terms, and beginning with this year, the present incumbent, if elected, will enter upon his second time.

It behooves every citizen interested in the welfare of the city to register and vote on Monday. Failing this, such citizen should not be permitted to criticize the choice of Monday's primary, and it is our hope that the result of this primary will be to declare the present incumbent of the Mayor's office, his own successor. If there are other citizens of this community better qualified to fill this office, they are not candidates before the coming primary, and the result of which must be to elect William Ellis to succeed himself, or Mr. Patterson to succeed him.

We have heard no reason assigned as to why the present Mayor should not be retained for the succeeding term. His platform published in this paper is still a positive declaration of the principles upon which he stands, and is a public pledge of his official acts, and as it has been the policy of this city to declare for total prohibition, this public statement of the present incumbent is no unreasonable demand.

We find that the public would be best served by the election of the present Mayor to a second term.

THE TABLES TURNED.

The Military Academy Snatches Victory From the Very Teeth of Defeat.

There was a big surprise in store for the patriots who went to see the base ball game between the A. M. C. and the N. B. M. A. yesterday. The weather was not such that a person could enjoy the game even under the most auspicious circumstances and for the handfull of cranks to have to endure such a game as that of yesterday required a submissive fortitude second only to martyrdom, but the people stayed it out and they were glad they did.

As has been intimated in the Journal before the game started in a way that would indicate they were going to repeat the previous day's performance in the matter of dumb ball. For seven innings not one score was made. It was not until the fifth inning that any one reached the first base and the entire game up to the seventh, was a series of muffs and fumbles that was grating on the nerves.

In the eighth scored three times; two being brought in by a two base hit. The same inning the Raleigh boys went to pieces and the luck changed all around.

The last round was a corker. It was as easy to understand Temple as if they had been playing with him all their lives. It took a long time however to get onto his curves. Errors by the visitors helped to make some of the scores.

The game, while it was a miserable exhibition of the sport, demonstrated clearly what a little practice will do. What the New Bern teams needs is a whole lot of practice and then if they can show they can play ball the public will be glad to patronize them.

Following is the score:
A. M. C. — 2 1 1 0 1 0 2 1 0 8
N. B. M. A. — 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 3 6 9

Paris, April 14.—Ambassador Porter's hunt for the body of Paul Jones has been rewarded. The body was found in the division of the St. Louis cemetery reserved for foreign Protestants. It is remarkably well preserved. The head bears a marked resemblance to the familiar bust, portraits and medals. The body was removed to the school of medicine, where an autopsy will be held. It will be sent to the United States when its ultimate destination is a determined upon.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(Special Correspondence.)

Professor Merrill, curator of geology of the National museum, recently placed on exhibition in that institution what is undoubtedly the largest mass of pure amethysts in the world.

Early in 1901 the agents of one of the great gem cutting works of Oberstein, Bavaria, discovered on the slope of the Serra do Mar, in the Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul, the largest mass of pure amethysts ever brought to light.

The mass occurred in the form of a geode, thirty-three feet in length, five feet in width, three feet in height and weighing thirty-five tons. Part of this geode was exposed standing upright in the form of a huge violet colored monolith, but the lower end was firmly imbedded in the original melaphy matrix rock. Most of the great scientific institutions of the world would have given thousands of dollars for this giant amethyst mass, but the agent, having an eye only to the commercial value of the geode, broke it up into fragments, in which form it was shipped to Germany.

Professor Merrill recognized the value of this geode to the world of learning, and it was due to his influence that the Smithsonian Institution purchased from the German gem cutting works the largest of the fragments then remaining, which, notwithstanding the fact that it forms but a small part of the original geode, weighs only 400 pounds, is nevertheless the largest mass of amethysts in the world.

Historic Table Mutilated.

Immediately after President Roosevelt took the oath of office in front of the capitol on March 4 and left the stand one of the invited guests of distinction drew a knife from his pocket and sliced an oblong splinter half an inch thick from the famous walnut table at which presidents have been sworn into office since the days of John Quincy Adams. It has been rumored that the vandal was a foreign diplomat and that the police refrained from making an arrest because of his official position.

All Nations Invited.

The president has issued a proclamation inviting all nations to be represented by their military organizations and naval vessels at the celebration to be held in the vicinity of Jamestown, Va., from May 13 until November, 1907.

White House Bars Hand Bags.

Persons familiar with President Roosevelt's private hatred of body-guards and similar precautions are wondering how soon he would give a gentle rebuke to the zealous official responsible for a new rule in respect of White House visitors. The rule is that no one shall carry a valise, suit case, satchel, bundle, package, parcel or, in fact, anything in a wrapper into the executive mansion.

Sunday Observance.

The past social season at the capitol witnessed a marked broadening in the manner in which Sunday is observed. The puritanical restrictions thrown about the day in bygone years have been loosened despite the warnings of the clergy against the tendency toward the continental Sunday.

Society's progress toward a more liberal Sunday has been gradual, but the broader regime has come steadily on. Bishop Stratton of the Episcopal diocese of Washington has frequently spoken of the practice of making Sunday like every other day in the week, but society has gone merrily on. Sunday dinner parties have become more and more the vogue. The capital on Sundays has had its round of dinners, informal at home, afternoon teas, the star parties for the evening concert, which are the only attractions at the local playhouses on this day, with a little supper afterward at the hotels and cafes or at the homes of the hosts and hostesses.

Gifts to the Government.

Slightly removed in spirit from the conscience fund, but belonging to the "peculiar" receipts of the government, are the gifts which it receives from its citizens. Occasionally a man bequeaths his property in whole or in part to the United States government. This was the case of General Nathaniel Lyon, who was killed at the battle of Wilson's Creek while fighting valorously to save Missouri for the Union.

One of the most curious gifts which the treasury regularly receives four times a year is a seventy-two dollar check. The giver draws a pension of that amount. He does not want to relinquish it for fear that some time he might want it, but so long as he retains a lucrative position which he is able to fill he thinks he ought not to have the pension.

Sewage Pumping Plant.

The magnificent new sewage pumping station, which for all time to come, it is claimed, will be sufficient for the needs of the city of Washington, is to be ready for operation in June. For the storm water and ordinary street sewage there are eight pumps, each with a capacity of 65,000,000 gallons per twenty-four hours. These will handle the drainage from what is known as the "low surface area," which covers about 900 acres in the heart of the city from E street south to F street north and from the capitol to the treasury.

On the east side of the engine room are the four sewage pumps, three of which are of the same capacity as the rain-water pumps, while the fourth is a sort of "sweep pump," having the capacity of 30,000,000 gallons in twenty-four hours.

Each of the twelve pumps has its individual engine, and power is furnished from the big boilers now being installed immediately to the south of the engine room.
