The Old Gattis-Kilgo Case Next

Raleigh, April 25.—The funeral servi-es of the late Mrs. Isaac F. Dortch onducted from Christ Church this afernoon at 5 o'clock attended by a very large concourse of relatives and friends? Mrs. Dortch had been ill for quite a while and was taken from her home in Goldsboro to Richmond for an operation which it was found, however, could not be performed. They started back to Goldsboro with her, but owing to her condition, they stopped here with her, taking her to the old Dr. Hogg residence, the home of her girlhood, she being a daughter of the late Dr. Hogg of this city. She died there yesterday evening surrounded by members of her amily and friends.

Rev. Livingston Johnson, correspo ing secretary of the North Carolina Baptist Board of Missions, has just re-turned from visits to many of the mission fields maintained in the State by the board, and says there are more new houses of worship in process of erection on mission fields than were ever known before.

A movement is on foot to add to the imerous features of the State Fair that of county buildings to be erected oy each county exhibiting in this way. The movement is inaugurated by Johnston county, which had the only distinctive county exhibit last year. It will be impossible, Secretary Pague says, to develop this feature to any great extent, owing to the lateness of the season, but the matter is to be day, May 1st. and 2nd., for the purpose

The Baptist University for Women defeated the St. Mary's School girls in a match game of basket ball yesterday and the Baptist girls turned out en masse and paraded the principal streets waving the university colors and making merry generally over their victory. The score was six to sixteen. The first game two weeks ago was a tie, ten to

The noted case of Gattle vs Kilgo amage suit is set for trial on Monday May lat of the present term of Wake Superior court. This is the suit by Rev. J. T. Gattis against President John C. Kilgo and B. N. Duke of the Board of Trustees of the college for libel and was noved here from Granville county where there had been two previous trials and verdicts for plaintiff and new trials granted each time by the Supreme court. It is doubted if there will be a trial this time, there having been con-tinuances twice before.

Rev. N. S. Jones Resigns.

Much to the surprise and regret o his congregation, Rev. N. S. Jones resigned his pastorate of the Tabernacle Baptist church last Sunday. He accepted this charge only a few weeks ago af ter a great deal of solicitation from the Mrs. D. G. Bell of Morehead City is Tabernacle church and the church at Demopolis, Alabama, where he has accepted a call. He received a call from the last named church at the same time he located here and last week received a second and unanimous invitation which he decided to accept. Mr. Jones will remain in the city a few weeks or possibly until the congregation determine upon his successor.
