In the case of State vs Hough from Cabarrus county the Supreme Court alday in Jacksonville and found it as hot lowed a new trial on the ground that when Hough killed Hartsell he was on his own ground, had reason to believe that Hartsell would kill him and was therefore not obliged to "retreat to the wall" as the law would express it. The two men became involved through improper advances made by Hartsell to his wife and it appeared that Hartsell had told Hough's wife that he intended to kill him. In the former trial Hough was convicted of manalaughter and sentenced to six months on the county and a produce man direct from Chadourn yesterday stated that in the strawberry belt there were at least 150 cars of berries in the crates at the stations ready to be shipped, but no cars could be secured to ship them. He stated that the produce men had refused to purchase any more berries until they could see an opportunity of getting cars. The gentleman who was speaking of the matter said a fair estimate of the value of a car of berries was $500, which would mean that $75,-000 worth of berries have been ruined during the past few days. The farmers are disheartened, but they are determined to make some one, either the
