HAD DISTILLERY STOCK.

Remarkable Operations Of Blockade Distillery

Common Talk At The Neighborhood, At Sunday School, At Church, Even Known to County Officers.

Raleigh, N. C., June 10.—The fact that a "neighborhood" blockade distillery has been in operation, for four years past in one of the most thickly settled sections of the county, came to light yesterday in the Federal Court and elicited a sharp criticism from Judge Purnell, who said in passing judgment on the offenders, that the case is proof that the state officers will not enforce the Watta law. That in this case there was a distillery operated for three years in the township where the sheriff of the county lived, the distillery being talked of, according to the evidence, at the Sunday School, at church and apparent ly notorious and yet the state officers left it to the Federal officers to break up, what was a nuisance to any community.

There were eight farmers who stand well in the community and two negroes involved the sentences ranging from four months in jail and $100 fine, each, for four of them, to thirty days in jail and $100 fine for the others. The evidence showed the remarkable state of affairs that the distilling outfit had been bought in Durham county by Marcellus Moring, brought into the Cedar Fork neighborhood, and operated by him through the two negroes, Dan Jones and Andrew Show. The testimony was that whiskey was not distilled for sale, but only for consumption by parties having distilling done. Anyone who de sired and would take as much as one dollar's worth of stock in the distillery, this being to make him personally responsible as a distiller, could carry meal and have it distilled into whiskey, paying the two negroes 50 cents a bushel for operating the distillery. Each of the men implicated in the case made statements to the court, acknowledging his connection with the distillery and appealing for mercy. Several of the men testified that the existence of the distillery was generally known, and in answer to the question by District At torney Skinner as to whether the sheriff and other county officers knew of it, said it was generally talked of in the neighborhood, at Sunday School, church and other public gatherings.

Andrew Shaw one of the negro operators testified that several of the church members of the neighborhood had stock in the distillery in order to have the whiskey made for their personal consumption.

PASSED THE QUEER

Colored Man Held Under Bonds For Using Counterfeit Money.

Edward Hill, colored, was arrested by officer A. L. Bryan yesterday on the charge of passing counterfeit money. The alleged crime was committed last September in the store of J. W. Harrell at Five Points. U. S. Commissioner Hill was notified and warrants were immediately issued for his arrest. It has been found that he has been a good deal of a traveler since last fall, evidently dodging arrest for the crime for which he was taken yesterday or some other. He was cleverly taken by policeman Bryan who deserves a good deal of credit as this is an important capture.

Hill was taken before United States Commissioner C. B. Hill afternoon and required to give a $500 justified bond for his appearance before him next Tuesday. In default of bond he was remanded to jail.

The money which Hill gave Harrell for goods was put into the commissioner's hand and was sent to Washington to determine the quality. It was returned with evidences of inspection upon it and the official report appended "counterfeit." The piece, an imitation of silver dollar, is a fairly good counterfeit, weight, size and general appearance considered. It was made of alloy the basis of which was lead.

The man Hill is reported to be a dangerous character and his arrest is regarded as very important. There is little doubt that he is the man wanted. He is well known in the Five Points section and the clerk and store keeper are able to identify him. If he is found guilty, the authorities will feel as if they had secured a much wanted man.

OFFICER MONTAGUE IMPROVING.

It is Likely That an X Ray May Be Required To Find The Bullet.

The friends of police officer R. P. Montague who was shot by the negro, Ike Farrow, Wednesday night, will be pleased to know that he is progressing finely. The wound is, of course, painful and he is confined to his bed but he is as comfortable as the circumstances will permit. It is hoped that he will improve so this week that he can be taken where an X ray will disclose the exact location of the bullet.

Mr. Montague desires the Journal to state that he did not deputize the two white men to assist him as was mentioned in Fridays Journal but that they went with him of their own free will.

He also states that he was well equipped to make the arrest but was thrown off his guard by the Hobbs woman and before he had a chance to shoot the negro shot him. In the mean time some substance lodged in the hammer of his revolver prevented his shooting.

MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS.

Supposed Death By Drowning at San Francisco of Lieutenant Blasdel, Once Stationed Here.

The following from a New Orleans newspaper of recent date, will be of local interest, as it tells of the death of a Revenue officer who was a few years ago on the Cutter Boutwell at this port:

After an absence of nearly a year and at a time when he was looking forward to a happy re-union with a devoted wife and baby, death came in a mysterious way Monday night to Lieutenant William F. Blasdel, of the United States revenue cutter Kosh. Without a splash or previous warning, Lieutenant Blasdel vanished at midnight while his ship was off Sausalito, a port opposite the city of San Francisco. Neither boatswain on duty on the bridge or ship's watch saw him. No boat was seen or heard to approach and there was no splash of water observed. Two hours after he had made his way on deck in shirt sleeves, however, Lieutenant Blasdel had disappeared.

The first announcement of the New Orleans officer's disappearance reached New Orleans yesterday in a telegram to his brother-in-law, Andrew Fitzpatrick. It said that Lieutenant Blasdel had been drowned during Monday night. Mr. Fitzpatrick wired immediately for further particulars, but the response brought little more satisfaction. No arrangements have yet been made for the disposition of the remains, if they are found. Lieutenant Blasdel was a native of Hot Springs, Ark., but since his marriage he has called New Orleans his home.

The death of Lieutenant Blasdel is particularly sad. He has been away from his home here and from his wife and child for nearly a year. He wrote daily while at sea and his last letter received yesterday was full of joy in anticipation of the happy re-union with the wife and baby. Arrangements had been made for him. Blasdel to meet his mother's shortly in San Francisco. There the couple anticipated spending some time together. According to Captain Tuttle of the Kosh Blasdel was in splendid spirits all day and during the night and there is absolutely no way that either the officers of the cutter or the Frisco harbor or the family here can account for the sudden disappearance.

There is a disposition at home to charge the mysterious taking off by the boat. It is considered that the fact that Fitzpatrick was known to have been in the city at the time of the disappearance, and that through his intervention the negotiations for the body were carried on, is a suspicious circumstance.

BIG TRUCK WEEK.

Potatoes Have Reached High Water Mark in Shipments During The Past Week.

The shipment of truck by boat and train during the past week have been enormous. The sum total will probably reach 15,000 or 20,000 barrels of potatoes alone to say nothing of beans and cucumbers. The steamers Neuse and Oronoke have left port loaded to their utmost capacity and the truck trains have had very large consignments also.

Boats from Oriental and down country ports have brought in potatoes to the Trent warehouse and the E. C. D. docks in such large numbers that passage on the docks was almost impossible. At the Trent warehouse from 1,000 to 2,500 barrels of potatoes have been shipped. Yesterday the number sent out by train was 3,800 barrels.

The height of the truck season is at hand as will be observed by these figures and from the amount shipped it would appear that the weather reported to have affected the early vegetables did not "cut so much ice" after all, but it is reported from some sections that while the products matured well the bad weather caused them to be imperfect.

The greatest cross, however, the farmer has had to bear is not the shortage of the crop but the price. It is claimed by some that the prices realized scarcely pays for the trouble to market the crops. In other years truck has commanded the best of prices but this year the business is carried on at a distinct loss.

The season will end in a few days. Shipment of all vegetables except potatoes has stopped and they will be superseded by northern grown products within a short time.

DEDICATION AT BETHEL.

Full Program Carried Out. Good Will, Pride and Patriotism. North Carolina Handsomely Treated by Virginians.

Special to Journal.

Hampton, Va., June 10.—The dedication of the Bethel monument today was in every way affective. The program was carried out, and the utmost hospitality was shown the visiting North Carolinians by their Virginia hosts. Every word in the speeches breathed good will, also pride in the Confederate heroism and sacrifice, and devotion to the united country. The most striking speeches were by Governor Montague, Grimes and Rev. Dr. Pendleton Jones of Hampton, the latter declared the secession of the Confederate States really preserved the Union. Governor Montague said man is great, only as he serves others, and lays down his life for them, and that this is the lesson the Confederates gave and which never could have come from hearts which contained rebellious thought or a treasonable principle.

Grimes address was handsomely received. The original Bethel flag was displayed and was heartily applauded.

The exercises were ended by the singing of the "Sword of Bunker Hill," by Frank Cunningham of Richmond, the North Carolinians visited the granite marker erected to Wyatt, which survivors say stands on the very spot where he fell.
