ASSAILED WITH BOAT OAR.

Two Colored Men Engage in Fracas in Which One Loses an Eye.

An affray occurred at Capt. Dixon's dock at the east end of Pollock street early yesterday morning which cost George Cutler colored, an eye and he may be thankful that his head is not broken in small bits. William Bryan his assailant is also colored and the two were deck laborers on the steam tug Aunt Sue. They were engaged yesterday in taking barrels on board the boat to deliver to farmers for their potatoes.

It is not known exactly what the quarrel was about but in the trial before Mayor Patterson Bryan stated that Cutler called him a vile name and he (Bryan) hit him with a boat oar.

Cutler was dealt a terrific blow on the head making a swelling almost the size of a hen's egg. He was taken to the city hall where the port physician examined the wound and found that the left eyeball had been burst by the violence of the blow. Later in the morning he was taken to the marine hospital where an operation was performed and the eye removed.

Bryan was committed to jail without bond to await the result of Cutler's injuries, which are not believed to be more serious than the loss of the eye. The oar was brought in evidence in the trial and a broken piece was shown where it hit the man's head which indicated the force that was used. A large splinter was broken off and a very large dent was made where it struck the man showing that a boat oar is just as formidable a weapon as a razor.

River Excursions.

No more delightful way to entertain your friends and yourself than by a trip on the Neuse or Trent, these afternoons or moonlight nights, on the fast and handsome launches "Sappho," and "Gertrude." For terms see John B. Ives or Capt. Jas. A. Harker.

A Stray Wireless Message.

A peculiar phenomena occurred in New Orleans some days ago which indicates the remarkable length which wireless messages may travel. On the roof of the tall skyscraper of the Hibernia Bank & Trust Co. is erected an apparatus for sending and receiving wireless messages to Galveston, Key West, Tampa, Mobile and eventually to Panama. The operator in charge was startled with a faint message, which he finally deciphered to be one from some vessel far off in the ocean and presumably in the North Atlantic, for it told of encountering and then being in a great snow storm. The message was intended, evidently for New York, but the sound waves, traveling through space, were caught by the sensitive receiver of the New Orleans station fairly intelligibly. Whether or not the message was wholly deflected from its true course has not been discovered.

Asthma Sufferers Should Know This.

Foley's Honey and Tar cured many cases of asthma that were considered hopeless. Mrs. Adolph Buesing, 701 West Third St., Davenport, Iowa, writes: "A severe cold contracted twelve years ago was neglected until it finally grew into asthma. The best medical skill available could not give me more than temporary relief. Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended and one fifty cent bottle entirely cured me of asthma which had been growing on me for twelve years, and if I had taken it at the start I would have saved years of suffering." For sale by Davis Pharmacy.

GATTIS--KILGO.

Hearing Called for Rogers--Sorrell Alleged Contempt. The Question of Malice.

Special to Journal. Raleigh, June 16.—Judge Moore of the Superior court this afternoon issued a rule to show cause why ex-Sheriff Rowan Rogers and J. P. Sorrell both of this county, should not be punished for contempt. This rule is based on affidavits by two regular jurors in the case, that they were approached by Rogers and Sorrell and asked to "take care of Kilgo", and that the jurors received intimations that defendants Kilgo and Duke would look after their interests. The papers were served, and the matter will be heard tomorrow morning. Rogers is now an officer of the U. S. District Court.

There was a sensation this afternoon in the notable libel case for damages, of Gattis against Kilgo in the Superior court here. A motion was made yesterday evening under the Hinsdale act to nonsuit. The defendant Kilgo made this motion on the ground that there was no malice. The Judge held that no evidence whatever of malice appeared on the records. Gattis gave notice of appeal and that he would ask the Supreme court to inspect the record, and see if there was any evidence of malice. The Supreme court has already decided that Kilgo's speech before the Trustees of Trinity College, and its publication in pamphlet form were both privileged. Under the last decision of the Supreme court there was no evidence of malice in the case.

The little boy was the supreme pride of his parents and grand parents and had just arrived at an age to be interesting. He was a lovely child and his sweet smile and merry ways won for him a warm place in the hearts of all who knew him.

The funeral services were held at the home of the parents Thursday evening. Rev. W. A. Ayers, pastor of the First Baptist church officiated.

CROSSES NEUSE.

Train Over Raleigh And Pamlico Sound Bridge.

Corporation Commission Has Many Complaints. Strawberry Losses Less Than First Estimate. Cotton Growers Picnic July 4th. Powell Swindling Case.

Raleigh, June 16.—The steel bridge across Neuse river on the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound Railway has been completed and today trains went across the river from here. Much interest is expressed in this road, and a party of Wilson gentlemen came here and crossed on the new bridge.

The Corporation Commissioners have not received a large number of complaints regarding the railway facilities and accommodations for handling the great truck and berry crop between Wilmington and Goldsboro, but those which have been filed are important and it is on account of those that the commissioners will devote at least two days next week to a careful examination into the matter. The loss of berries by the lack of proper transportation facilities this spring was great, but not as great as was at first stated, the figures given out having been $600,000, while it is said the actual loss approximates about a third of that sum.

Secretary T. B. Parker, of the State Farmers Alliance in Kentucky, and during his absence a letter has been received from the president of the Southern Cotton Association, announcing that it is the desire that the cotton growers all over the South shall picnic July 4th, this being regarded as a very seasonable time. The news is given out from Secretary Parker's office, he being the Secretary of the State Cotton Growers' Association and it is hoped that the farmers will observe the holiday as suggested by President Harvie Jordan.

In the case of the United States against J. B. Powell, the Norfolk man charged with swindling, before the district court here, argument was concluded this morning by J. C. L. Harris for Powell and by district attorney, Harry Skinner for the government. District attorney Skinner's argument was elaborate, and he declared that the government had absolutely proved its case, and that Powell had behind him a long criminal career.

Railroad For Trenton.

Kinston Free Press 16. Trenton, June 15.—It is now certain that Trenton is to have a railroad. It will run from New Bern to Richlands by way of Trenton and Comfort. The line survey from Comfort to Trenton has already been made. They are now surveying from here to New Bern to get a line. The road will be owned by the Goldsboro Lumber Company, of Dover, which will operate mills at New Bern. Passenger and freight service will be accorded the people along the line. People are already showing their appreciation by giving right of way. Great interest is being taken in the road, and when the whistle of the locomotive sounds the bugle call the people will then respond to it and will continue to.

Cabell, Texas; Commander Army of Tennessee Department, Lieutenant-General Clement A. Evans, Georgia; Commander Army of Northern Virginia Department, Irving Walker, South Carolina.

New Orleans had little difficulty in securing the convention for 1906. Nashville made a fight which surprised the convention, but the sentiment was strongly in favor of the Crescent City.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[Special Correspondence.] President Roosevelt found on his return that the tennis court directly back of the White House office building had been screened from the view of the public as it passes down Seventeenth street by green curtains of the kind with which piazzas at the seashore are commonly shrouded. As these have not been placed around the other sides of the tennis court, it may be inferred that their object was to save from unnecessary publicity the president and his tennis playing associates.

Removed Cabinet Changes. The air in Washington is full of talk about changes in the cabinet of President Roosevelt, and if the rumored changes take place between now and fall there will be by the time congress meets in extra session in October almost an entirely new cabinet.

Attorney General Moody, so his friends say, will leave the cabinet before fall, and it is reported that his place may be filled by Mr. Taft, now secretary of war. The father of Secretary Taft served as secretary of war and attorney general, and it is natural the secretary should want to follow in his footsteps. The only drawback to the change is the fact that Secretary Taft is deeply interested in the welfare of the Philippines, and as secretary of war he is directly in control of the work being done there. It is further stated that the president does not want him to change.

Hay May Retire.

The talk in Washington has again become concerned with the date of the retirement of Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. It is stated with some emphasis that he will remain not longer than next winter, and in some quarters it is said to be settled that he will be succeeded by Postmaster General Cortelyou.

There is one other change that some persons in authority insist is about to take place, and that is in the state department. It is asserted in spite of semi-official denials that Secretary Hay will return to his work at the head of the state department for a short time only and that he will retire to private life, on account of his ill health, as soon as Mr. Roosevelt finds a successor to him.

The Extra Session.

The fact that the president is arranging to go south in October is believed to indicate that there will be no extra session next fall. Oct. 1 had been set as the date for the extra session, but the fact that the president has definitely announced that he will go south in that month is regarded by many as practically settling the question of the extra session unless the president has in mind the plan of calling congress together in November and letting the extra session run right into the regular one in December, thus giving an extra month's work.

Proposed New Southern State.

"We are seriously in earnest about doing all we can to create a new state out of the mountain portions of North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia," said Representative Brownlow of Tennessee, who is credited with being the father of the scheme, the other day. "We are going to push it for all we are worth. I know that the consent of the four states is necessary, but I don't see why we can't get that consent."

Senate's New Carpet.

The United States senate is getting a new carpet. About 900 yards of material is required, and the cost will be a little more than $2,000. The carpet chosen by Colonel Daniel M. Randall is a green Wilton made by a New England firm.

The average life of senate carpets is four years. They are subject to a great deal of hard uses, as countless thousands of feet pass over them and the custom of tobacco chewing still exists in senatorial circles. There is always a sale for the discarded carpet, as many curious people take great delight in being able to say that they own pieces of the carpet that once adorned the floor of the United States senate.

Secretary Taft's Exercise.

Secretary Taft, who is an enthusiastic advocate of exercise, is devoting himself just now to the strenuous pleasure of a daily afternoon gallop on horseback. He is wondering how he will get enough exercise on shipboard when he crosses the Pacific this summer, but has planned to walk the decks with vigor and regularity.

At the White House the secretary told what happened to him when he undertook the army "setting up exercises." He said he began with that movement which consists in going from the standing posture to the sitting and the sitting to the standing in rapid alternation.

"The first day," said the secretary, "I tried the movement five times, the next day ten, the next fifteen, and then I went up to twenty-five. The next morning when I tried to walk the muscles of my legs seemed to be tied up in knots. I haven't taken the 'set up' since."

Vice President's Inland.

A double inland constructed of gold, silver and cut glass, costing $500, will be made for Vice President Fairbanks by Tiffany, in New York. The government will pay the bill. The inland will be used by Mr. Fairbanks during his term as vice president and at its conclusion will become his personal property.

This has been the practice for years. The inland presented to Garret A. Hobart cost $250. Those arranging for Mr. Fairbanks' souvenir placed the cost limit at $500.

The inland chosen consists of two cut glass ink bowls. The covers are of gold and represent the dome of the capitol. The base is in the form of a shield of solid silver.
