COMPROMISE EXPECTED

In The Howell--Bernard Seduction Case.

A Peculiar Suggestion. The Tinner Who Fell From Roof of Agricultural Building Recovering. Programs Issued For Farmers National Congress

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Tomorrow is the day set for the preliminary hearing of policeman I. W. Rogers on the charge of shooting John C. Dockery for the ruin of his daughter, but it is understood that there will be no hearing owing to the illness of Magistrate Seapark in whose court the case is pending and the absence of counsel from the city. John Dockery is also away at his home in Rockingham and scarcely able to make the trip here for the hearing at this time. There is considerable talk just now of a probability that the civil suit against C. M. Bernard by H. C. Howell for the ruin of his daughter in the same affair, will be compromised for a few hundred dollars.

Give the negro children text books with pictures of negro children, not white boys and girls, in them, is the unique recommendation of Rev. G. W. Clement, the retiring superintendent of the Wake county public schools just made to the county board of education. He adds that the pictures of white children in their text-books tends to increase the desire of the negroes for social equality.

The young tinner, J. H. Camden who fell from the roof of the Agricultural building at the A. & M. College Friday will recover, so the attending physicians say now, he is being treated at Rex Hospital, having both arms broken and also his ankle and his back sprained besides other injuries.

Corresponding Secretary Livingston Johnson of the North Carolina State Convention and State Board of Missions says the attendance and the zeal at the Baptist Association being held in this fall excel any session he ever knew and that the churches are coming up with their pledges for all departments of work better than they have ever done before.

Governor Glenn goes to Pittsboro tomorrow evening to deliver an address Wednesday at 10 o'clock before a reunion of Confederate Veterans to be held there. He will go from there to Shelby to deliver an address in connection with the "Home Coming" exercises to be held this week.

The Governor said this morning that counsel have not yet laid the case of Will Adams who is to be hanged next Monday in the Wake jail, before him although a special respite for this purpose was granted two weeks ago. His excellency will be out of the city nearly all of this week and will have practically no time to consider the matter now before the hanging is to occur. He will hardly grant a further respite. Adams is to hang for murder by Brigidgers, colored, and two children in a most brutal manner, having cut the woman's head open with an ax.

Programs for the 25th annual session of the Farmers National Congress at Richmond, Va., Sept. 12th to 22nd reached here show that one of the principal addresses will be by secretary of State, J. Bryan Grimes of North Carolina, his subject being Agricultural Resources of the South. This will be on Wednesday the 13th. The response to the address of welcome will be by Col. Beahm Cameron of Raleigh, who is first vice-president of the Farmers National Congress.

Insurance Commissioner Young cancels the license of the Order of Select Knights to do business in this State on account of the nonpayment of claims. He says there are only two claims in this State against them but the very high mortality of the Order has severely affected their business and they are obliged to wind up their affairs. He would be glad to hear from any parties in this State who have claims against the Order.

Diamonds—Six Reasons Why You Ought to Buy Them.

(1) They are beautiful. (2) They're indestructible. (3) The prestige they give to the wearer. (4) Their constant increase in value. (5) Their reliability. (6) Their safety as an investment. A reason why you ought to buy them here.—Because our present stock was bought so reasonably that we can well afford to sell diamonds at lower figures than our competitors and find diamonds, every one of them. Come and see if this statement isn't a true fact.

A PROMISING NEW ENTERPRISE.

Owen G. Dunn Branches Out in Business and Lays Foundation For a Large Printing Concern.

The energy with which Mr. Owen G. Dunn is possessed, crops out every little while in the enlargement of his business. The people of New Bern can remember when only a few years ago as a school boy Mr. Dunn started as a purveyor of stationery and notions belonging to that business.

Anyone who has watched the progress of this young man might well wonder at his wonderful genius and business ability. Step by step he has arisen to a position in the business world that is truly enviable. Each new addition in the way of mechanical appliance has been to meet the growing demands for his work. He makes no venture but each advance is the result of careful thought and introspection. The latest innovation he has made is a book binding and ruling outfit. He has gone to a large expense to get the machinery for this branch of the business, and he has a large number of orders under this head.

The Hickok ruling machine is a device where one can rule paper in any style desired. The peculiar operation of the many branches of the railroad business require their blank books to be ruled in a particular way. Mr. Dunn does the work on the machine and has finished a set of books for the Pamlico, Oriental & Western road which are very neat specimens of his work.

The book binding is an enterprise which has proved its value in many cases. The old records of the county and city, some that date as far back as 1750 have been rebound with substantial covers that will stand for another 200 years. The blank books of many sizes and uses are made there.

Mr. J. E. Null of New York, an experienced book binder has charge of this department and he is an accomplished artisan. Miss Birdie Williams is his assistant.

Mr. Dunn has other machinery in this department to make a complete plant in all respects. Notable among these is a round cornering and loose leaf punching machine. A device which will make any style of corner on a book or card. It also has dies for punching holes in paper preparatory to binding, them in a book. The making of rubber stamps is in this department. Although it has been a part of the business for some time has grown and developed it to an important feature. Stamps of all styles are made there with neatness and dispatch.

Early Morning Fire.

A defective chimney caused a blaze in the home Mr. J. R. Whitehead on Griffith street at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire was located in the roof and the flames got between the walls and it seemed at one time as if the house was doomed but the effective work of the firemen and the big pressure saved the house. The damage amounted to about $300.

Both fire horses were up town or at some place where it required a long time for them to return to the engine house in order to answer the call and the practice of working the horses at considerable distance from the engine house at a great risk of being too late to save a valuable property is considered too dangerous to be allowed. The peril is easy to comprehend. There should be different measures adopted to avoid the great menace that the working of the horses involves.

Another alarm was sounded in the afternoon which was caused by the burning insulation off from copper wire in the rear of the R. P. Williams electric light plant on South Front Street. There was no fire.

OUR SUPPLEMENT TOMORROW

The Women of the War the Sole Topic.

Tomorrow the Journal will issue to its readers a souvenir supplement entitled "Our Women of the War." It will be an interesting and historical convention of facts that every family should have to refer to. It will contain the record of the brave deeds the Women of the Confederacy did to assist their husbands in the support of the lost cause. These deeds, some of them never been penned before and known by few but by this means we believe that these grand women will take their stand in the ranks of the heroines of the world where they belong.

The supplement will be 16 pages and will contain more than the usual amount of reading matter—but little is given up to advertisements. We believe this is a sensible method to get an important question before the people who will appreciate when they understand the object of this supplement. It will be delivered tomorrow to subscribers of the Journal. Those who take the Journal through the mail will please notify this office and it will be sent. Those not subscribers of the Journal and desiring the supplement can have a copy for 10 cents.

FEVER SITUATION STARTLING

The Scourge Seems to Be Spreading and People Are Greatly Alarmed.

New Orleans, August 15.—Last night's reports, deaths Monday 12, new cases 55, new foci 8. The total deaths are 166, total foci 210, total deaths and cases 1,018, under treatment 656, discharged as cured 496. With the exception of a few squares all of New Orleans below Canal street is now infected. The most havoc is in the foreign quarters but the disease has spread to many places in the American quarter about Canal street, but most of these cases are isolated. About fifteen per cent of those stricken have recovered the deaths being about one in every six infected.

M'KINLEY'S DEATH.

How the Associated Press Worked to Get and Give the News.

On the afternoon of Sept. 6, 1901, worn out by a long period of exacting labor, I set out for Philadelphia with the purpose of spending a few days at Atlantic City. When I reached the Broad street station in the Quaker City I was startled by a number of policemen crying my name. I stepped out to one, who pointed to a boy with an urgent message for me. President McKinley had been shot at Buffalo, and my presence was required at our Philadelphia office at once. A message had been sent to me at Trenton, but my train had left the station precisely two minutes ahead of its arrival. Handing my baggage to a hotel porter, I jumped into a cab and dashed away to our office. I remained there until dawn of the following morning.

The opening pages of the story of the assassination were badly written, and I ordered a substitute prepared. An inexperienced reporter stood beside President McKinley in the Music hall at Buffalo when Czolgosz fired the fatal shot. He seized a neighboring telephone and notified our Buffalo correspondent and then pulled out the wires in order to render the telephone a wreck, so that it was a full half hour before any additional details could be secured.

I ordered competent men and expert telegraph operators from Washington, Albany, New York and Boston to hurry to Buffalo by the fastest trains. All that night the Buffalo office was pouring forth a hastily written but faithful and complete account of the tragedy, and by daylight a relief force was on the ground. Day by day through the long vigil while the president's lying in the balance each incident was truthfully and graphically reported. In the closing hours of the grandly staged reports of the president's death were circulated for the purpose of influencing the stock market, and to counteract them Secretary Cortelyou wrote frequent signed statements giving the facts to the Associated Press. LITERARY DRUGGERY.

Froude passed seven years in collecting materials and writing his "History of England."

Nearly five years of Irving's time were consumed in writing "The Life of George Washington."

Gibbon devoted over twenty years of his life to the labor of reading for and writing the "Decline and Fall."

Dickens says in the Introduction to "David Copperfield" that he spent two years in the composition of that novel.

Bancroft devoted nearly thirty years to his "History of the United States," which is not a history of the country at all, since it ends where the history of the country properly begins.

Cruden labored nineteen years on his Concordance to the Bible and immediately after its publication was sent to a lunatic asylum. He never fully recovered from the mental disease brought on by this gigantic undertaking.

Primitive Water Pipes.

Very primitive water pipes of an ancient date have been discovered in the streets of Manchester, England. They were hollowed out tree trunks fitted together so as to make a wooden conduit. The joints were somewhat in the style of those of a fishing rod, the thin end of one trunk being made to fit into the thick end of the other. It is supposed that this means of supplying Manchester with water was in use about 200 years ago, and discoveries of the same kind made in other towns go to confirm that view. The boring through the wood was about four inches in diameter. The supply of water in those days, was not only much less in absolute quantity than now, but very much less in proportion to the population.

Baseball Game and Lawn Fete.

The will be a game of base ball between the Vanceboro and Lima teams at Vanceboro, Friday Aug. 18. Both teams play well and the game will be interesting and exciting. The teams are both good, each one having a large number of victories to their credit.

The will also be a lawn fete at Vanceboro on the evening of the same date which has been advertised in the Journal. Expensive preparations are being made to entertain the crowds on that occasion and everybody will be well pleased. The proceeds of the lawn party will be donated by St. Paul's Episcopal Church.
