INTERESTING CASE.

Bankruptcy Case From New Bern Has Peculiar Features.

New Uniform For National Guard. Federal Inspection of Cattle. Mullins Re-elected Chief of Police. For 15th Time. Report of State Board of Central Hospital.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 22nd, 1905.—Before Judge Purnell in the Federal Court there is a very interesting case in bankruptcy, which come up from New Bern and which involves an entirely new question, this being whether a man who is a resident of North Carolina and who owns property in Maryland can have his homestead laid off in that State. Judge Purnell says this point has never come up before.

The Quartermaster General is preparing winter uniforms for the companies of the National Guard at High Point and Lenoir. These companies were encamped and have kaki uniforms. The winter uniforms of the guard in the future will be olive-drab, the color worn ordinarily by the regular army. Tents are being prepared for the troops who will be in camp here during the Presidential visit. As yet the number of troops who will be here is not yet known but it is thought it will approximate 1000.

The State Veterinarian Tait Butler says that the Federal inspection regarding cattle ticks began this week and will cover five counties, Surry, Alexander, Iredell, Davie and Rowan, in order to ascertain whether these have been freed from cattle ticks. Dr. Butler does not, of course, know whether these counties will be exempted or not.

The report of the State Board of Directors of the Central Hospital here, on the management of patients there, and particularly as to the Thomas Hall case will be ready for the Governor Monday. With it are the conclusions of the Board which members will not make public, leaving that for the Governor to do. Some of the members of the Board say that they think the pay of attendants at the hospital, which is now only $15 a month, is too small.

Junius H. Mullins has been re-elected chief of police here, for the 15th time. He really had no opposition. The new police captains are John W. Beasley and Martin W. Thompson.

Police Justice Badger of this city sent Rayford Richardson, a dope-fiend, to jail for ten days, for contempt of court. His offence had been beating women in the tender loins district, and afterwards he used language of the contemptuous kind to the justice.

Mr. W. R. Henry of Charlotte has sent to the Hall of History a photograph of the Federal Steamer Star of the West and which took supplies and fruits to Fort Sumter and which was fired upon by the South Carolina troops January 9, 1861 and forced to turn back. Afterwards this vessel went up to Yazoo River in Mississippi and was destroyed by the Confederates. In 1868 the figure head was dug up and was bought by an uncle of Mr. W. R. Henry, Dr. J. P. Henry, a native North Carolina long resident in Mississippi. It was desired to get this figure head for the collection here but it is in the Mississippi State Historical Collection.

The number of people at the State School for the Blind is 100, which is about the same as that of last term. Principal John E. Ray says he thinks there are about 100 blind children in the State who ought to be at the school. It is extremely hard to get anything approaching the whole number despite his personal efforts to do so. The negroes who are deaf mutes and blind are much more easily induced to come to the institution for the deaf and blind here than are the whites. In a good many cases the parents of the white blind see to blues for their non-attendance.

The High School here, which is a new feature of the Raleigh Public School system has opened with 170 pupils, and is in charge of Prof. Hugh Mason, who for so many years was at the head of the Raleigh Male Academy, which has now ceased to exist, after a life of more than a century. There are 1,200 pupils in the white public schools of Raleigh and very nearly 1,000 colored pupils.

A GREAT SHOW.

The Clansman Played in a Very Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 22.—At last the South has an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" of its own. This was the verdict rendered enthusiastically tonight by the Norfolk audience in the Academy of Music at the first presentation on any stage of Thomas Dixon Jr's "The Clansman" under the management of Geo. H. Brennan. Never in the history of Norfolk has a more delighted gathering assembled in a local theatre. The stirring situations of the production followed each other so fast that the audience remained spell bound throughout the performance, except when forced to relieve the tension with loud outbursts of applause. There were certain calls without number and at the conclusion of the third act the author, Mr. Dixon was compelled to make speech.

Among other things he declared his intention of manifesting his deep personal interest in the play by accompanying it on the southern tour. The various personages in the large cast of "The Clansman" were interpreted by stage artists of exceptional ability, several of whom have a national reputation. In addition to the speaking parts there were a small army of super numeraries and several horses. The latter added greatly to the spirited effectiveness of the Klu Klux Klan scene. The engagement in Norfolk is for two nights and a matinee.

Before the curtain rang up tonight, every seat for all the performances had been sold. This is the record business for Norfolk and it will be duplicated when "The Clansman" returns after its New York tour. It was freely predicted in the audience tonight that "The Clansman" is destined to equal the half century life of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to which Mr. Dixon's play is a complete answer. "Unquestionably it marks an epoch in the theatrical history of the South, for it is the first play which has succeeded in doing justice to the white side of the race question. If the reception in Norfolk is a criterion the tour in the southern cities will be nothing short of a triumphal journey and capacity business will be the rule without exception.

Goes further and further. Never stops until you are well. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. A great tonic. Makes rich, red blood, firm flesh. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Sold by F. S. Duffy.

An Interesting Old Map.

Raleigh, Sept. 22.—Secretary of State Grimes has received from Mr. S. F. Burbank, of the United States Engineer Corps, at Wilmington the map made by James Wimble in 1638 showing the coast of North Carolina. This map was made for the King of England, is very large and well engaged and shows the residents of every planter of the colony at that date, it is rare and costly and only three other copies of it are known of by Secretary Grimes. Mr. George Davis of Wilmington owned one and others are held by W. D. Rodman of Charlotte and the Library of Congress at Washington. This map will be engraved, in the same size, by the Historical Commission. The work will be done in Philadelphia and the map will be in the re-print of the histories of North Carolina by Briesell, Oldham and others. In this volume will also be the maps of H. Marr, 1730; Emanuel Brown, 1635 and that by Brickell in 1735. There are three other old maps of the State, one of which, that of Lawson, which was really the first one at all accurate, was reproduced two years ago by the Charlotte Observer in its re-print of Lawson's History.

Ladies if you want a refined and brilliant complexion free from blemishes, use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Brings red lips, bright eyes and a cream like complexion. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. For sale at F. S. Duffy's.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Cement Milk Paint.
Stir into one gallon of milk about three pounds of portland cement and add sufficient venetian red powder or any other colored paint powder to impart a good color. The milk will hold the paint in suspension, but the cement, being very heavy, will sink to the bottom, so that it becomes necessary to keep the mixture well stirred with a paddle. This feature of the need of stirring is the only drawback to the paint, and as its efficiency depends upon administering a good coating of cement it is not safe to leave its application to untrustworthy help. Six hours after painting this paint will be as immovable and unaffected by water as mouth-old oil paint. Whole milk is better than skim milk or butter-milk, as it contains more oil.—Scientific American.

Cows Need Fiber in Food.

There is one point that some feeders lose sight of, and that is the value of fiber in feed of cows, or, in fact, of any animals adapted to the consumption of fresh and dried grasses. Fiber is coming to be recognized as a very important constituent of the feed of cows. Where it has been ignored, as in the great feeding yards connected with distilleries, the results have not been good. Just how much fiber the cow must have in her food to do her best is not now known, but the more it is investigated the more does it appear that the amount is quite large. We can easily overdo the matter of feeding concentrates.—Farm Progress.

Honest Discontent.

A successful "poor land farmer" told us the other day that he had trebled the production of his farm in the past thirteen years by judicious management, adding, "And I have only made a beginning in the improvement of the land." The best part of his story was not what he had done or how he had done it, but that he was not satisfied with the progress already made. There are enough dissatisfied farmers, but not enough of this particular variety. What a good thing it would be for this country if there were more of this "honest discontent" among its people on farms and everywhere else!—National Stockman.

Call the Hen Flock.

Now that the hatching season is over there is no necessity for retaining the roosters, as the hens will lay without their presence, and their room is valuable, while they cost more for food than they are worth. It is well to retain the best of the early pullets, but all pullets that do not show evidence of thrift or of reaching maturity before winter should be disposed of. The young cockerels should be disposed of just as soon as they are large enough for market or the table. It is better to give the growing stock plenty of room than to crowd them.

Disinfect the Hen Yards.

Disease spreads rapidly in summer. The well known bordeaux mixture is excellent for use on yards that have contained diseased fowls, but a cheaper method is to dissolve one pound of copperas in two gallons of boiling water. When cold add one gill of sulphuric acid. With an old watering pot sprinkle every portion of the ground, banding the mixture carefully. Where the ground seems to be the source of grapes in chicks, lime is one of the cheapest materials to apply.

The Collar Pad.

The collar pad is a modern invention—that is, its general use has grown up in the last ten years or so, but good horsemen condemn it still. In fact, the tendency with those who give real thought to horse comfort and care is toward hard instead of soft collars. A steel collar with hane rings and hooks attached is now being largely sold. The really important matter is to have a collar to fit.—Farm Progress.

Rock Salt For Farm Animals.

One of the best ways to salt animals is to use rock salt in very large lumps. The cattle and other animals will then be compelled to lick it rather than eat it, and there is thus no danger of their getting too much of it. It should be placed where the animals can get to it at any time. It should be placed in a rack or in boxes raised above the ground so that it will not get dirty.

Pain Is Not Hereditary.

Don't decline to buy a mare for brood purposes solely because she was a hard pinner on the bit or because she had some other trait that was objectionable. These traits may be the result of injudicious handling when young, especially if the subject was of a highly nervous temperament.—Horse Breeder.

The picture of the young man which was taken from a house in New Bern during the war and which was noted in a letter to Mr. C. D. Bradburn published in the Journal yesterday was of exhibit A at his store yesterday. It will be easy for any of the young man's friends to identify it as the features are remarkably distinct. It seems as if there might be some clue as to his identity. All of the able citizens are invited to examine the picture and see if they can trace the likeness to any of their friends in acquaintance of the war years.
