Excavation Reveals Old Newspapers and Written Matter.

New Southern Fr. 1st Order Dockery Bernard Escaped Still Open. Fall Sale a Train. Liquor Hearing Matter. Illicit Distillery Captured.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—Governor Glenn left this afternoon for Warrenton, to deliver an address before the farmers, that is the cotton growers association. It is his first visit to Warrenton.

Insurance Commissioner Young has approved of the charter of the Southern Benevolent Association, of Hickory, J. B. Elliott and others stockholders. It is a fraternal order. He has also approved the by-laws and organization of the Southern Life Insurance Company of Fayetteville. He has prepared in his office building a library for the convenience of insurance agents and the general public, in this being books about insurance, reports and the various insurance magazines, from all parts of the country.

The bond of Isaac W. Rogers, ex-policeman, who while a member of the force shot Deputy Marshal John C. Dockery, has been reduced from $5,000 to $500. The case is set for hearing in January, but Rogers appears to think it will go off without trial. It seems that there is some talk that the case against Claude Bernard may be compromised or settled in some way.

Charles Johnson, a young white man, is in the Atlanta Penitentiary, and this is a lucky thing for him, as otherwise he would have been tried for complicity in the burning and robbery of the Standard Oil plant and the murder of the night-watchman. Some persons declared that Johnson was implicated, and a penitentiary official went to Atlanta from here to identify him. The moment Johnson was brought in, he spoke to the official who of course knew him well as Johnson had served three terms in the North Carolina penitentiary. He is in prison in Atlanta for counterfeiting.

While an excavation was being made for the foundation of the Elks building here large quantities of newspapers and written matter were found, some twelve feet below the ground level. The place was filled in, 22 years ago, and the writing on the papers was that of the late Captain A. Shotwell.

Sidney Young, a flagman of the Seaboard Air Line was fatally injured yesterday evening at Apex, having stumbled and fallen, running in front of his train to open a switch. He is in the hospital here.

The argument in the Supreme court in the case of Gattie vs Kilgo is postponed until next Thursday. It was to have been had today, but one of the justices had to leave. The court finished hearing arguments in the sixth district today.

The Supreme court has set the hearing of the mandamus case in which the liquor men of Raleigh seek to force the aldermen to order an election for hearing at the end of the 10th district.

Revenue officers last night made a raid near Carbonate, Moore county and captured a 100-gallon illicit distillery. There were two operators, both white men, but they made their escape into the woods.

Uncle Josh

A crowded house greeted the Bunkal Stock Co. last night to witness the production of Uncle Josh or as it is better known as The Old Homestead, one of the best and most popular dramas ever played. The presentation by the company was not up to the standard of their previous work although the audience enjoyed it. Those who have seen the original play could but see the difference in the two productions.

This afternoon the company will play The Tigers Den and tonight "Sunny Tennessee" will be given. The big doll will be given away.

Superior Court News.

The mill of the Superior Court ground out a large grist of fines and sentences yesterday. Few cases will be continued but most of them will be disposed this term.

Judge Jones took a fall out of the grand jury because they failed to indict white men for selling liquor without a license on as strong evidence as was given in a case against a colored man whom they did indict. He warned them with emphatic language that such business must stop. If they had evidence enough for one they had evidence for the other and all should share the same fate. He said that the evidence given to them was as bad for the white men as for the negro and their discriminating action was most reprehensible.

In the case of the State vs C. C. Roach for selling liquor without a license. The defendant was fined $250 and costs and was also required to give a bond for $500 not to engage in the liquor business for a year.

State vs Garfield Jones; assault and battery, 90 days in jail with leave for commissioners to work out on the roads of Person county.

State vs William Clark, larceny, guilty, 6 months in jail with leave to work out on roads of Person county.

State vs John Smith, house breaking, one year in jail with leave to work out on roads of Person county.

State vs George Harris, larceny, 6 months in jail, to work on the roads of Person county. The defendant was also convicted on another charge of larceny and sentenced to serve two months in jail and to be worked immediately after the expiration of the 6 months sentence.

State vs Aota Green, larceny, 6 months in jail, to work on the roads of Person county.

State vs Cicero Hill, selling liquor without a license, $50 and costs.

State vs Henry G. Watson, assault with deadly weapon, $20 and costs.

Swallowed Table Knives For Fun. The glass eaters, iron choppers and all other classes of "human striches" are well known to the frequenters of dime museums and side shows, but it is seldom that we see, read or hear of a man who swallows indigestibles of extraordinary size just for the novelty of the thing, such a man, however, was John Cummings, whose history is given in extended notices in the medical and surgical annals of Boston. He watched a French sword swallower one day and immediately after attempted a similar feat with a common table knife. The knife accidentally slipped down his throat, and a few days later, it having given him no inconvenience, he repeated the experiment. Both of these exploits took place at Havre de Grace, France. On his return to Boston he boasted of the feat and upon being bantered repeated the dose again and again. During the following ten years he swallowed in all thirty-five knives and forks, finally dying in terrible agony. He died in 1859.

SOME CITY MATTERS.

Aldermen Petitioned to Widen Griffith Street
Trains Can Run Five Miles Per Hour
Through City.

At the meeting of the board of aldermen Friday night, the chief business of importance was a petition from the big property owners and residents on Griffith street, for the city to institute such necessary proceedings, that the east side of this street from Queen to Riverside, be widened ten feet.

This petition was presented by C. G. Blades, representing the Blades Lumber Company, who own a block along the street, also the Pine Lumber Company, and a number of resident owners were petitioners. The following committee was appointed to look into the matter at once, Aldermen Bangert, La e, McSorley, McIntosh and McCarthy.

A resolution was offered and adopted, permitting the railroads entering the city to run their trains to a maximum speed of five miles per hour, instead of three miles.

In a cell at the State penitentiary at Frankford, Ky., from which neither could escape Albert Herndon of Louisville and Sam Sheppard of Lexington fought a duel to the death with a knife and an iron rod.

Busy Times in Raleigh.

News and Observer 6th:
There is a brick pavement badly torn up on lower Fayetteville street near Davie, that needs repairing, as several persons have barely escaped falls by being tripped by the loose brick.

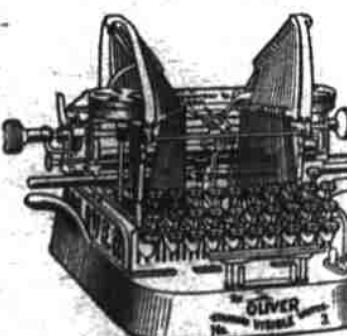

The car load of tin shingles for the grand stand at the Fair, that has been hung up, arrived yesterday and a portion of the grand stand was covered yesterday afternoon. It will be the finest roof on any building at the Fair Grounds.

There was never such a rush for places on the Midway as this year," said Secretary Pogue last night. "This is particularly true of eating houses and restaurants of the better class."

The city mower was at work at the Fair Grounds, yesterday, getting ready for the State Fair.
