SOFTNESS OF SEALS KIN.
Is Divided by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.
Seal skin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally soft and glossy when healthy; and the ruffled cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Sealing the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 3c in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
C. D. BRADBAM, Special Agt.
Secretary Taft, when told of a report from Chicago that he was about to resign for the purpose of running for the Presidency, said very emphatically, "You may say that there is not a word of it true." He added no comment upon the report.

The Wilmington Board of Health raised the quarantine which has existed since soon after the yellow fever made its appearance in New Orleans.
Wounds, Bruises and Burns
By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of local poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by Davis Pharmacy and F. S. Duffy.
Sick Headache Cured.
Sick headache is caused by derangement of the stomach and by indigestion. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets correct these disorders and effect a cure. By taking these tablets as soon as the first indication of the disease appears, the attack may be warded off. For sale by F. S. Duffy and Davis Pharmacy.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR
With These Exceptions.
London. Well, has everything been all right since you've been with us? Departing Guest. Yes, only you know that when we came and found no cupboard in our room you plumped us you'd put up some books, but you didn't.
"Oh, yes, I forgot."
"And you told us you'd give us a table to ourselves, but you didn't."
"Well, but look here."
"And you said you'd give us a room where we'd get the ocean breeze, while in fact you gave us one opening against the weather boarding of another house and facing directly away from the beach."
"Oh, well, you—"
"And you said the hotel was on the ocean end of the parade, while as a matter of fact it is half a mile from the sea."
"But they all agree."
"You said the place was orderly and that the table was good, yet we have not been able to sleep at all, and whenever we wanted a decent bite to eat we had to go out after it."
"Well, my dear sir—"
"Yes, in the few exceptions named everything has been perfectly satisfactory, and we shall take great pleasure in telling our friends so."—London Tit-Bits.
Consumptives Made Comfortable.
Incipient consumption is cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptives by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages; but if the lungs are not too far gone Foley's Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herren, of Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages. Sold by Davis Pharmacy."
OLD FASHIONED.

What has become of the old fashioned man who said, "I have a match. Will some one give me a pipe and tobacco?"
What has become of the old fashioned man who, when asked where he got his new suit, replied, "I sold eggs and bought it."
Here is an old fashioned saying: "When your foot is swollen the bones are very brittle. Therefore do not move around, or you will break your leg."—Acheson Globe.
Full of Tragic Meaning. are these lines from J. A. Simons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At all drug stores; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

THE GIANT CAUCASUS
A REGION OF GLOOM AND TERROR AND DESOLATION.
The Strange Mixture of Races Being Back From Immemorial Antiquity That Peoples the Slopes of These Snow-Capped Mountains.
The traveler who should seek to cross from the southern plains of Russia over into Persia or Arabia by the land between the Caspian and the Black seas would find himself confronted by a sight which for gloom and terror has hardly any equal in the world, writes W. B. Hodgson in the London News. Rising steeply from the west and plain, like a great foam-crested billow about to break on a desolate beach, a billow 10,000 feet high and 800 miles long, the snow-capped Caucasus stretches across from sea to sea with a dreadful, threatening, savage majesty of mien.
Its peaks are not so high as many of the Alps, it has not the projecting spurs and isolated, craggy heights which groupings give new and beautiful views at every step. It is just an immense mountain chain, an unbroken fold or crease on the earth's surface. Though the Alps have higher peaks the nearly double the height of the Alpine cragging places. The Caucasus has no lakes, only turbid, muddy rivers flowing from the ice fields of its central ridge. Even these are missing in the east, where the ridge lowers toward the Caspian.
But the terror and desolation of the Caucasus forever kept apart the peoples to the north and south. On the one hand civilizations rose and fell—the Babylonian, the Assyrian, the Greek, the Egyptian, the Roman, the republics of the middle ages—but to the north the great plains were ever inhabited by the wild, lawless nomads. And so from the very beginnings of time the Caucasus has stayed the human tide, and, as conquering races swept all before them below, the weak, the peaceable, the unit, have been driven higher and higher into inaccessible gorges and wild, bog covered valleys.
A strange mixture of races, dating back from immemorial antiquity, has been washed up like surf on to the slopes of these giant mountains. The Ud, the Kurin, the Avar, the Tush, but to races that perished before Europe was discovered. Seven languages are spoken in the Caucasus, each unintelligible to the tribes using the rest. Some of them are really the early tongues of Europe; others have no known affinities and seem to be among the languages of Babel that did not "catch on."
Here amid these mountains have the ghosts of ancient peoples who have gone under in the world struggle. There may well be tribesmen here whose ancestor was driven high by the flood and settled within sight of Ararat and his cousin, Noah. There are still tribes who array themselves in helmets and chain armor and carry spears like those of 3,000 years ago. Others have strange ritual practices that have come down from the dawn of the world, mingling their pagan rites with worship of the "Christ God" and the angels of the river, the forest and the mountain. They have blood feuds which go on for generations, like those of Gorgias in the past.
It is a mistake to suppose that Russia took the Caucasus by a general warlike movement. There was no need. Divided by religion into Christians, Mohammedans and pagans, divided by languages which made them mutually unintelligible, the tribes of this strange mountain of bygone races could take no united action.
Throughout the first three-quarters of the nineteenth century Russia was employed in absorbing the Caucasus piece by piece. Only two of the Caucasian races made anything like serious resistance. In the east a Mohammedan prophet, Shamiy of the Avar stock, which overran a great part of Europe in the seventh century and was only finally conquered by Charlemagne, led the Lezgians of Dagestan in a rising against Russia. Crafty, daring and ferocious in warfare, occupying mountain slopes cut by impassable gorges, Shamiy was believed by his followers to have a charmed life. Only when the Russians built forts and military roads and gradually inclosed him at enormous expense did Shamiy surrender at his castle of Gumb in 1859. He passed some years of honorable captivity near Moscow and was then allowed, as a devout Mohammedan, to end his days in peace at Mecca.
Very different was the story of the Tcherkessians, or Circassians, who opposed Russia in the western section of the Caucasus. The Circassians were hardly the peaceable race of whose golden haired captive princesses in the harems of the east our boyish dreams were full. Warlike, splendid horsemen and marksmen, they lived almost entirely by pillage. In 1864 they submitted to no united action.
Between 1863-64 and 1865-66 the ordinary revenue of the Japanese government increased from $75,000,000 to $150,000,000. In the same period the national debt has advanced from $115,000,000 to $725,000,000.

A QUAINT WARDROBE.
The Quaint of a Seventeenth Century Gentleman.
In the year 1651 Sir Ralph Verney, aged thirty-seven and recently widowed, decided to make the "grand tour" of the continent with his son Edmund, aged fourteen. He gave a list of the clothes that were to be sent after them to Lyons. It included "O Fine night caps" Laced marked V in black silk, and 2 Fine night caps plain, for his own use, and 24 new plain caps marked V in blue silk, for the boy. There were also numerous elaborate jilts with lace, and "New Cambric double Ruffe Cut" a marked V in blue thread, 5 pairs of little Holland cuffs for Man, 3 pairs of Cambric double Ruffe-hood, and a large number of "the Holland Handkerchers Buttoned." Also "2 Tufted Holland Waistcoates Lined, 2 Dimity Waistcoates, 4 Face Napkins and 2 old Handkerchers" at Lyons a "Blacke trunk with 3 lockes and Wooden Shires" was packed to go to Florence and the widowed baronet's careful inventory of its contents shows that there was a great deal of the heavy mourning which the "etiquette of grief" required. "Black Cloth Doublets, Black Breeches and Cloake, Blacke Cloth Cape or a Cloake and 2 old pieces of Black Cloth, Black Hats and Catbands, Old Blacke Taffety garters and new Black ribbon roses and severall peeces of extra crape."
Sir Ralph Verney's baggage contained no fewer than "6 serge under-caps" and 30 Brown calico under-caps. These were for wearing by day when the wig was taken off. And "3 plaine new flight caps coarse and 2 Night caps" were also included. The outfit included "12 Tortois shell Agendas, 2 gold Picktooths, Hair Powder, 2 Paires new Barling Limes, Sizers, and 3 Head-rubbers." And there were "Muske for Powder, Ciprus Powder, and a Puffe." For emergencies there were a "Black Leather needle case with a great gold Bodkin, Papers of Pins, Biew Thread, Shirt Buttons, and old Wig Round Buttons, Cap-strings and Tapes." In the interests of health "3 papers about Phisick" and "Sir R. Hastings' plaster for a straine" were taken, but "rose water, rose vinegar and elder vinegar" were perforce left behind, though considered most necessary for his comfort for the winter.
Of previous possessions subjected to the risks of travel there were a few rings "whereof one hath 3 Diamonds the harts, two silver rings of the boy's and 'a Bangle' of Mary's hair, which she took to Florence as a gift to a friend there the new Paris luxury "the Teeth Brushes and Boxes," and in reply to the thanks he received for them said, "These are such inconsiderable Toys that I must intreate you to speake no more of them."—Chicago News.
Better Than the Toothpick.
We are told that the health and prosperity of the teeth are greatly promoted by the prompt use of the toothpick immediately after eating and that this being so only a "Miss Prim" or an "Aunt Betty" would presume to object to it. We reply that if this is so the person afflicted should at once repair to the dressing room and, away from the observation of others, should relieve his teeth of their fatal burden. It is advisable, however, that he should employ for the purpose the highly hygienic dental floss. This is pronounced by all good dentists far less harmful to the teeth than the ubiquitous toothpick, which has, as we firmly believe, pushed its way into pretty good society by false pretences and a species of blackmail.—Lester's Weekly.
Polltiness of Children.
The polltiness of children is only skin deep. One cannot help sympathizing with the little London girl who said sleepily to her hostess at a party she had just been out to get away from this horrible place! "It is so advisable, however, that he should employ for the purpose the highly hygienic dental floss. This is pronounced by all good dentists far less harmful to the teeth than the ubiquitous toothpick, which has, as we firmly believe, pushed its way into pretty good society by false pretences and a species of blackmail.—Lester's Weekly.
Size of the Sun.
We sometimes see a huge ring of haze round the moon, occupying a space in the heavens so large that the moon's brightness would but just suffice to span it. Yet the body of the sun would fill all that space were we had approached within 2,000,000 miles of him. Once on his apparent surface were we permitted to travel thereon and with the speed of an express train it would require five whole years of continuous journeying before we could make the circuit of the orb.
Tricks.
We are often reminded of what Mrs. Chillingly said when asked who managed her household. Her reply was, "My husband has agreed that I may decide upon all the small questions if I will let him decide the large ones." As small ones grow-up many times each day and large ones only at intervals of months, it added in her "raising the roof."
Melitions.
Mrs. McCull-I do wish I could get a good maid. Mrs. Vandine-You might interview mine. I think she'd be delighted to go to you. Mrs. McCull-But why don't you keep her? Mrs. Vandine-Oh, she won't stay! She says she won't a penny where she won't have so many dresses and hats to take care of.—Acheson.
A man could have half his wishes he would doubt his reach.—Franklin.
An Awful Cough Cured.
"Two years ago my little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with a cough that she could not get rid of. I tried everything, but she would not get better. I then tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and she was cured in a few days."—Acheson.
