Shepard's Moving Pictures
Shepard's Moving Pictures was the attraction at the opera house last night and though this concern has been here several times, there was not one view that had been presented before. All views were new, interesting and instructive.

It was one of those rare entertainments which teach one and produce wonder and admiration. A particularly pleasing feature was the pictures of illustrated songs which had a fine color as anything of the kind ever seen. There were many striking pictures notably the automobile robbery and the white cap incident.

Venolia
December 5.

Sunday was very rainy but we are not complaining, as we have had so much nice weather.

Mr. W. M. Riggs of Onslow was here last week visiting his daughter, Mrs. S. W. Garner. He left for home Sunday.

Messrs. F. B. Hall and E. B. Cannon who are at work at Mayaville, came home to see their families Saturday.

Mr. M. C. Cannon, wife and little daughter went to Gales Creek Saturday to visit relatives.

Mr. T. M. Garner and son went to Hamots Creek Saturday to visit his daughter Mrs. Charlie Sprinkle.

Mr. M. C. Simpson of Havelock, was here Sunday calling on his friends, who of course were glad to see him.

Mr. Phil Gibbs and family of Harlowe expect to move back to Venolia soon. We are glad to welcome them back.

Mr. D. B. Hall who has been visiting relatives in Florida for a few weeks has returned to his home.

Rev. D. B. Garner preaches for us on 2nd Sunday in each month at 2 p. m.

We hope the people generally will attend and take an interest in our Sunday school, and thus make it a success.

These Are Them Coming
Abounding with fun, new music, new dances, pretty girls handsomely gowned a large and costly inventory of new scenery brightly illuminated with novel electrical effects, without an overburdened plot, is the story of a "Pair of Pinks" in "a nutshell." But it requires two hours and a half of incessant activity and hilarious fun to complete the adventures of "Percy" and "Harold" as two shy, stealthy Pinkerton sleuths in search of the man who would's laugh. During various intervals of the "trail of humor" the audience is cheered on in pursuit by big musical numbers, big dancing gatherings, big cakewalks of pretty girls. In fact everything is accomplished in numerous—Once in a while a lone artist may be discovered in the attempt to deliver a solo, but the big chorus usually interferes with a vim and closes the "solo" incident.
