SHORT PASSING EVENTS.

Dr. Caton left Wednesday for New York City, where he will take extensive post graduate courses in diseases of women and children, and general surgery in Polytechnic and past graduate medical schools.

Farmers and all interested in farming will remember the Institute to be held at the court house Tuesday January 16th.

The average hen, if she escapes the pot or pan, seldom survives the vicissitudes of life over eight or ten years, but Mr. W. R. Daw, who lives in New Bern, has been the happy possessor of a cute little bantam for sixteen years. During all these many years the diminutive fowl has industriously kept up her end of the egg business in Mr. Daw's barnyard, but now biddy is gone, is dead, and her affectionate owner is in tears.

There was a turn for milder temperature yesterday, the thermometer getting towards 50 degrees above zero. There were slight rainfalls last night. The forecast is for rain with no special changes in temperature.

J. J. Baxter's store was thronged all day yesterday with anxious buyers. A great many people had to leave because they could not be waited on. Mr. Baxter says the day was the biggest he ever had.

A Touch Of Nature

"A Mother's Heart," which will be presented at the New Masonic Opera House, Wednesday, Jan. 17th, is not one of those noisy, rabid and impossible sensational melo-dramas. "A Mother's Heart" is built on natural lines with a deep plot, a dialogue of unusual brilliancy, and exciting incidents resulting in thrilling climaxes that rivet the attention of the audience to the fall of the curtain. It is a play that appeals to every human being and thrills the heart of all mankind. This play is founded on absolute truth and vividly illustrates the emotions that constitute and control all events of human life. The characters are drawn with a naturalness that stamps them with realism. With it all there is deft-woven a vein of love, hatred, gratitude, jealousy and revenge.

"A Mother's Heart" has obtained a stronger foothold in the hearts of theatre-goers in a shorter space of time than any melo-drama yet produced. The play is full of human interest and appeals to all classes young and old, and both sexes. No one can afford to miss this beautiful display of scenic effects and its wealth of handsome gowns, and the powerful and perfectly balanced company.

A New Enterprise

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church have adopted a novel means to raise money for the purposes of their organization. They will establish a system of markets in different parts of the city and will sell baked goods. The plan is unique and it will doubtless be appreciated by housekeepers.

The market will open tomorrow and for the present the plan will be followed on Saturdays only. An announcement will be made in Saturday's Journal where the markets will be held.

In Memoriam.

Permit me to join with others who have placed loving tributes on memory's tablet to our departed companion, friend, and brother, W. B. Lane.

We were schoolmates together in the early fifties, he a large boy and I a small one, as we grew to maturity our friendship grew, as age came on they grew stronger. It was more than half a century of congenial companionship growing stronger with the years. In the social circles he had no superior and few equals but it was in our church councils that I knew him best. For about 20 years we have met regularly in the councils of our church and it was there that I learned to love him more as a brother, a genial companion, a wise counsellor, a faithful steward. We shall sadly miss him in the social circle and especially shall we miss him on the Board of Stewards in Craven circuit where he has served so long and faithfully.

Gods work will go on, but in looking around for his successor in community and church, we fail to see thus far on whom the mantle of W. B. Lane will fall.

Died

In New Jersey on January 7th, 1906 John A. Charlotte, in the 70th year of his age. He was a native of New Bern, and was for years a well known traveling salesman in North and South Carolina.

A Card

Editor Journal: Please allow us, through the columns of your most excellent Journal, to thank the many friends of New Bern, for their kindly condoling messages, tender expressions of sympathy, and material assistance afforded us, in the deep bereavement sustained by the sudden and sad death of our beloved daughter, Emily A. W. C. Anderson, New York City, Dec. 8, 1905. J. HARNEY ANDERSON.

Obtained Their Judgment.

For several years the Superior court has had for trial at its various terms suits against the Mutual Reserve Insurance company on account of cancelled policies which the holders claimed was illegal. A number of these policy holders went to law to prove their claims and the decision of the court was rendered in their favor. After considerable time had been spent to get a settlement Messrs. W. W. Clark and A. D. Ward went to New York to argue their clients' causes in the courts of that State and to collect judgments. The judgments amounted in rough numbers to $100,000 all of which the attorneys collected.

The Secret

If nearly all eye troubles is eyestrain—and eyestrain, let it be explained, is not a disease to be overcome by drugs. It is a mechanical defect to be corrected by glasses. Men women and children suffer from this strain without the slightest idea what ails them—and in these days of free eye examination such ignorance is wholly uncalled for. To know how your eyes are worth while. Come in and we'll examine them and frankly tell whether or not glasses are needed.

A TOY PISTOL VICTIM.

Windsor Ireland Suffering an Attack of Lockjaw Caused by the Little Nuisance.

New Bern now has a case of lockjaw through the good offices of the toy pistol, Windsor Ireland, son of George Ireland, a respected negro resident of Lee street, Dufftown, is in a very critical condition on account of a wound made on the hand by a toy pistol during the holidays. Lockjaw has set in and it is doubtful if the boy recovers.

Dr. Leinster Duffy was called to attend the case of the boy on Wednesday and found him in great pain. He suspected that the trouble was due to some injury and noticed symptoms of tetanus but the disease did not develop until yesterday morning and when Dr. Duffy called the case was so pronounced that there was no need to question the malady. The victim suffers terribly and the hardened lines of the face show how tense the muscles are and how firmly the jaws are closed. Tostanic anti-toxin has been administered but at last accounts no results had been noticed.

It perhaps may be a little late but the suggestion may be of some account and if followed it may be the means of avoiding much serious trouble. The use of the toy pistol has come to be a menace and it should not be allowed in any form however innocent. One boy died in Wilmington a few weeks ago on account of the toy pistol, and another fatal accident happened in Norfolk and enough accidents of a minor nature happened with the accursed play-thing to put it out of commission forever. A law should be passed against the sale of such dangerous toys. Let it be done while it is still fresh in the minds of the people and when the time comes again for the small 'boy to 'celebrate' there will be one less thing for anxious parents to fear.
