CONSIDERATION OF LEADERS ALSO IMPORTANT

Nothing more clearly demonstrates the fact that Republicanism is a living force in North Carolina than the indiscriminate and violent abuse which is being hurled at the party by the more rabid element of the Democratic press. But the truth is that such treatment does the Republican party far more good than harm, for it shows to honest, thinking men that while the party may not be perfect it is opposed by forces which can defend themselves only by charging the atmosphere with hutred and clouding the public vision with the smoke of partisan abuse. All we sak for is a thoughtful consideration of the public issues now before the people, and if our political enemies can have their way that is the last thing we will ever get.

While in no way a member of the "rabid element of the Democratic press," the Journal cannot but think its esteemed contemporary, the Greens boro News, from which the above editorial comment was taken falls short of the mark, in its desire to support North Carolina Republicanism, in placing Democratic criticism of its party in this Duffy. State, as called forth by Democratic partisanism. The fact is that Repullicanism as exemplified by the Roosevelt administration has many sympathizers, even more, admirers in North Carolina among men who vote for the State Democratic ticket at elections,

Of course national republicanism, its issues and principles, are a part of State republicanism. Some of these innues, notably a protective tariff, i favorable to many prominent interests in North Carolina. But while this is sue, and perhaps other republican issues might secure a following, and so enlarge the republican vote in this State, the republican leadership is of such char acter as to disgust any would be sympa thiser of State republicanism, and such a given as soon as the croupy cough ap-

It is in a leadership, the character of its man or men, be it political, commercial or religious, which is as ntial to success and the gatheras are issues and principles, and it is this lamentable weakness of leadership of North Carolina republicanism, which prevents the party from gathering any lowing. North Carolina Republicantoday, is a party for office, and its uders show their littleness to outiders by their constant scramble for and their desire for a party which shall consist of leaders for office, only, with just enough offices for
