United States District Attorney Holton spent yesterday afternoon here returning home to Winston from Washington, where he had been to answer the charges filed against him by Congressman Blackburn before a special Senate committee appointed to investigate them. The unanimous recommerdation of this committee that Holton's nomination by the President be confirmed and the fall down of those fighting his confirmation is row a matter of Holton is a curious man. While appearing iron nerved, it has been well snown that he was greatly troubled over the fight made on him, touching as it did his real'y most sensitive point hope for an endorsement of his record as a capable and fearless official. The fight on him began three years ago when he first bearded in their den the strongly entrenched forces of revenue officials and distillers by indicting and prosecuting to conviction and sentence, Young Sprinkle and Angle of Rocking-ham and Caswell counties, revealing a system of "graft," which ramified the revenue circles of seven States, and came so uncomfortably near depart ment officers, that the term "reaching higher up" was first used by this correspondent. In his speech in defense of the defendants in that case, Judga Bynum did not heeitate to charge that gence of officers higher up in the revme service," Helton did not stopwith that case but went on higher up until instead of storekepeers and guag ers and distillers alone being indicted be went "higher up" and took in the deputy collectors. And like a snow ball gathering weight by every turn, the fight on Holton has gathered ir ter-sity by every new indictment, unti-there are at least twenty-five promiseeing that he be not confirmed, in duty to clients whose fees they had taken to defend them against indictionates, which only Holton could with experience prosecuts. Having left the distillers, after the Young and Angle case, and taken a step higher up by going for the store-keepers and guages, and from them taking a bigher tore, the interesting question now is, "Is the man crazy enough to attempt to "gu mp" still and bag higher than the content of th o "gu up" still and bag bigger than WATERS CHINA STORE

Today this man of Iron nerve and State from men in every raining of the feeling that in the content it was right which he was champloring. "I can't take it as a personal victory for reports," he continuely repeated. "He means that North Carolina believes a
