The initial practice was had by the captains and lieutenants, and this will e followed by the sergeants' and privates' practice. The major and superntendent of police properly maintains that an officer of the law who carries weapon should know how to use it.

The police revolver team enjoys a splendid reputation for accuracy in shooting and defeated the Citizen Revolver association in several matches. The major and superintendent is considered a good shot with rifle and re-volver and fully appreciates the value attaching to members being good marksmen. No doubt some interesting competitions will follow when the police practice is again fully under way. White House Wedding Floral Map.

Uncle Sam's Gun Factory. The effectiveness of government made ordnance is universally conceded to be without part The "man behind the gun" in the American navy has been heralded abroad as the greatest gunner of the world, but little is heard of the skill of the humble mechanics in the gun factory who have brought to this high degree of efficienyou that your taxes for 1905 are six cy not only the gun, but the manner of months past due and must be paid at directing it upon a foe.

The county must have money for current expenses factory and there learn under the tutelage of the skilled mechanics the intricacles of ordnance construction.

Expert Mechanics. Many of the improvements in the sighting device and the machinery bwhich guas waighlag many tons are made by the mechanics in the gun factory. In fact, so perfect is the sighting mechanism that'lt is only necessary for the gunner to put the cross wire in line with the object to be hit and pull the trigger. With known distance and a given windage, the regulating devices will provide for accuracy. Here again mechanics drawing $3.42 a day are required to instruct naval gunners, of higher salary, in the mysteries of the sights and mechanism of the guns.

With a long line of achievements behind them, the skilled mechanics of the navy yard have asked congress for an increase lu pay that will place them on a par wiffe the mechanics of other pavy yards and private establishments

President to Give a Lectura. When ex-Representative Tucker of Virginia, now president of the Jamestown Exposition company, was abroad a few mouths ago in the interest of the exposition King Edward of England gave him a fine Bible for presentation to old-Bruton parish church at Villiamsburg, Va., the successor to the dd original church at Jamestown. When Mr. Tucker was at the White House the other day talking with the resident about the Jamestown expenition and mentioned this gift of King Edward the president said he would be pleased to give the church a lecturn upon which the Bible shall rest, and Mr. Tucker told the president nothing would please the congregation of the church more than this.

(Special Correspondence.) Greensboro, March 28 .- When United States James M. Millikan takes the oath of office next Monday, April 2nd, he will begin his third term by having succeeded from experience of the practical workings of the present system of appointing deputy marshals in securing from the department at Washington, a distinct reform in that department of the revenue service in his district. On that day, in place of about forty deputy marshals scattered all over the district getting nothing except the occasional fees for service of process, there will be sworn in, as regular deputies all his own selection, fourteen deputies, at salaries ranging from $600 to $1,000 per year, according to the territory covered by them.

Each one of these deputies will be required to report to the marshal in writing every day, and will be directly responsible to the marshal for the proper discharge of duty. The lopping off of twenty or thirty party heelers, and substituting therefrom responsible men though partisans it is thought, will greatly improve the service and save the government at least $20,000 a year in costs of prosecuting frivolous or malicious cases besides saving many people much irritation, expense and annoy-of His Son Douglas After Several It Would be a Great Help in Mary Ways, We Have no Official City Map.

Two gentlemen one a surveyor, came into the Journal office yesterday and the second son of Col. Fred A. Olds, of enquired for a map of New Bern by this city died early this morning at which they might be able to determine Scuthern Pines, where the young sufget a satisfactory basis on which to make their calculations. So many obstacles were in the way of getting a true line of the course of the street that it was impossible to determine whether the street was perfectly straight or not and if not how much it deviated from the straight line.

The Journal has often made complaint that a map of the city is needed. The last one published was in 1875 and there are but few of them. There have been enough changes and additions to require a new one and even if the old one could be re-published it would be a help and guide for there are some parts of New Bern that are yet unknown to the citizens.
