A FAMILY FEUD

Ends in a Fatal Shooting. The Outcome of a Domestic Affair and an Attempted Murder Last Fall.

News comes from Lukens, Carteret county, of a probably fatal shooting affair there Friday. Ed Lynch shot Bob Rice, the bullet striking him in the back and passing through the body. Two shots were fired at him but only one took effect. Rice was alone in the boat when the affair occurred and returned the shots but it is not known whether he hit Lynch or not.

The two men have been enemies for a long time. It will be remembered that the Journal had an account of Rice shooting Lynch last fall. The latter was accused of having criminal relations with Mrs. Rice. He waylaid the man and shot him and supposed he had killed him; friends found him however, and he was restored so that he could get around. Rice was arrested and he was tried for assault with intent to kill and he was tried in the last court at Beaufort. During the trial Lynch stated on the witness stand that Rice's alligations concerning him and Mrs. Rice were true, upon the strength of which the judge taxed Rice one penny and costs.

Since that time the two men had not met until the affair of Friday. Both men have reputations of being desperate characters and the community have been held in awe and fear of them. No further news has been received whether Rice is still living or whether Lynch has been arrested.

Coming Attraction.

There is an old saw to the effect that "if you don't toot your own horn, no one class will", but, like most old saws, it don't cut much ice. The Herald Square Comic Opera Co., which appears here on Monday and Tuesday, April 16th and 17th, in their season's success "A Trip to India on the first night, carries a small horn of its own which it can toot without a guilty conscience, but the general editor of the Darlington Times ceased penning "please read" letters to his delinquent subscribers long enough to slide the following very nice notice down the copy tube to the composing room:

"The Herald Square Opera Co. presented 'A Trip to India' here last night and they certainly made good. It is a musical comedy version of one of the old time favorites with all the objectionable features eliminated and bright, catchy features introduced. Miss Leon Watson, the soprano prima donna, had the audience from the start, as did Mr. Martin Paché, tenor, and both were obliged to respond to repeated encores. Miss Watson's voice is truly marvelous and in singing here, the Herald Square company has lived up to its reputation of discovering some new phenomena singer each season. The costuming was brilliant and tasty; musical numbers well selected and rendered and the comedy work, clean, wholesome and abundant. Cox and Minor keeping the audience in an uproar at all times. Take it all in all, it was the best musical show show Darlington has ever had."

"A Trip to India" will be presented here Monday April 16th and the seat sale is now on.

The Weekly J E Latham Cotton Letter

Special to Journal.
Greensboro, N. C., April 7.—The week just passed has been devoid of any particular feature and the future market closes with May 11.19 and July 11.15, this is only four points higher than the close last Saturday.

Interest in the market by outsiders is at low ebb, as witness the trading in New York yesterday is estimated at only 75,000 bales for the day.

Preparations for the next crop are going forward as rapidly as the weather and conditions of land will permit, but the outlook is not as bright as it was three weeks ago.

A large acreage will be pitched; of this there is no doubt but this does not necessarily mean a large crop will be gathered, and it is this doubt that is causing nervousness in the fall options.

A short while back it was popular to sell October and December at anything above ten cents; but this has proven since very unpopular and expensive to those that indulge as the buyers were large mills in New England and Europe that bought futures against sales of their manufactured product and they are not easily frightened under these circumstances.

Another fact is very potent; and that is; generally conceded that a crop of 12 million bales will be gathered next year to prevent higher prices than we have yet seen and we have never but once raised so large a crop and have no assurance that we will raise so large a crop this year.

The good grades of cotton are fast disappearing and present holders are certain of getting a good price during the remainder of the spring and summer, with favorable weather we look for an important decline and with bad weather we predict much higher prices.

Elks' Bazaar

The Elks are making arrangements to hold a huge Bazaar during the week beginning May 28th.

There will be a great time and much doing. There will be booths of all nations, represented by the most beautiful women.

The committee are hard at work perfecting arrangements for the great and worthy event.

Mrs. M. M. Marks, is the lady manager and she will request the aid and services of all the ladies.

The committee have already under way, a great drawing, with magnificent and valuable prizes, which have been selected and all now on exhibit at Eaton's Jewelry Store.

The first prize is a Diamond Ring, valued at $200.00.

2nd prize, a fine cut-glass punch bowl, valued at $85.00.

3d prize, solid gold watch, valued at $50.00.

Get your chances at 10c each. Many pleasing events will be on the programme.

Think about it, talk about it—then come, see and enjoy the good time to be had.

The University at Black Mountain

Dr. J. C. Coggins, president of Holman University, Black Mountain, North Carolina is in the city, the guest of Mr. J. S. Basnight.

Mr. Coggins has sold quite a good number of residences lots to people who dream of having summer homes in that healthful and picturesque mountain resort.

Among the list of purchasers are the names of Herbert Willis, J. S. Basnight, G. A. Atkinson, and E. E. Harper of New Bern.

These people bought before any improvements had been made on the place and now a magnificent college building is on the grounds with other improvements making the property worth several times the original cost, a net gain of from two to five hundred per cent in two years.

Special 20 days offer on thirty more lots just as beautiful and as well located as any on "University Heights."

To the first thirty applicants from now to the sixth day of May a special discount of fifty per cent is offered. Reasonable terms made to parties who want to build.

On June the second a high grade conservatory of music will be opened in the new college with the noted Carlo More as Director. Signor More has won honors in Europe and America as a member of the piano.

Persons who would like to arrange for their daughters to get reasonable board at the Conservatory.

Special rates are offered parties who apply for the full number term of

Truck Prospects

Although bad weather has been some thing of a handicap to farmers the trucking interests have not been seriously injured. It was feared that potatoes had rot'd in the ground but we are told that there are only a few places where that is the case. Peas are doing finely. One patch was seen in bloom Friday.

The season for lettuce is about over but the promise for beans and cabbage is good.

The outlook for strawberries is good. The Wilmington Stars says that the reported damage to the crop on account of freezing weather will not be over ten per cent and take it as a whole the farmers and small fruit raisers are very much encouraged by this statement. Those in position to know claim for 1906 a "bumper" crop.

Special to Journal.
Raleigh, April 7.—It is announced Professor C. Brubaker who for five years has been associated with the A. and M. College Raleigh, will leave May 23rd to accept a position in the University of Ohio. The matter has been under advisement many months and it was thought he would be retained here. Many studies presented petitions asking retention in present capacity.

Criminal Court

Spring term of the Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases will convene here tomorrow, Judge E. F. Long presiding. The docket is very large there being nearly 100 cases to be tried. Of these there are 18 for selling liquor without a license. The balance are for larceny, assault and battery, carrying concealed weapons &c. While no case commands wide spread interest there are several in which a good deal of local interest is taken and the action of the grand jury will be closely watched. Some of these cases were continued from the last term of court, the new cases or those developed since the last term are not more than the spring dockets generally are.

Letter to S. L. Dill

Dear Sir: Mr N Avery, Delhi, N Y, had two houses exactly alike, and painted them: one Devoe lead and-zinc; the other barytes and-zinc. He paid same price for both paints.

He used six gallons of lead-and-zinc, 12 gallons barytes-and-zinc. He paid $18 for painting lead-and-zinc $36 for painting barytes-and-zinc. The total cost of the lead-and-zinc job was $54; the total cost of the barytes-and-zinc job was $54.

He didn't know he was buying barytes the dealer told him that paint was as good as Devoe.

A fair example of how it generally comes out, when you buy "something just as good." Better go by the name; the name; and the name Devoe.

Yours truly,

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

The Mysterious Hamilton.
Andrew Hamilton, legislative agent of the New York Life Insurance company, who has just returned to this country from Paris, early became one of the mysteries of the recent insurance investigation.

As the hearings progressed the amount chargeable to Hamilton, for which he had never accounted more than by giving blanket vouchers, grew and grew until by the time the Armstrong committee adjourned upward of $1,000,000 had been traced to him as presumptive spending agent.

An accounting sent from Paris by Hamilton proved to be a long discussion of the purposes of the legislative bureau, in which it was admitted that he had spent in his service $720,550 and asserted that this had resulted in various ways in a net saving of $2,479,450.

Andrew Hamilton, legislative agent of the New York Life Insurance company, who has just returned to this country from Paris, early became one of the mysteries of the recent insurance investigation.

The report of the Fowler committee to the trustees of the company on Feb. 8 figured up that $1,217,282 of the company's money had come to Hamilton since his earliest connection with the company in 1892. Of this vast sum they held that $1,074,771 had never been satisfactorily accounted for, and they recommended that the company should recover $720,550 from Hamilton personally, $219,720 from Hamilton and John A. McCall and $520,000 from John A. McCall and the New York Life Insurance Company.

The Speaker's Notebook.
A sharp-eyed observer who has had the pleasure of looking Speaker Cannon do certain things for him and refrain from doing certain others has discovered that about the speaker intends to do certain things he has a notebook in which he writes a note or two, and stuffs it down in the right hand pocket of his trousers. The other day Speaker Cannon says he saw the speaker's notebook in the Capitol with his pocket bulging with old envelopes on which were written the commission he had received during the morning hours and which he intended to examine. Sometimes the speaker loses some of the envelopes on which he has made his notes, and then there is trouble for the everybody concerned—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Accused Labor Leaders.
The coming trial of officials of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with complicity in the murder of former Governor Steunberger of Idaho, will reveal a startling state of affairs. If the statements of detectives are to be believed, the accused officials are Charles H. Meyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners; William H. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the association, and G. A. Pettibone, one time member of the executive committee of the federation.

Harry Orchard, a miner who was arrested almost immediately after the assassination of former Governor Frank Steunberger, was the first man charged with the crime. Pinkerton detectives were placed in charge of the case and they claimed, obtained a confession from Orchard, implicating the officials of the Western Federation of Miners.

The resignation of Governor Steunberger several months ago shocked the entire country. He had been of a business visit to Boise and was returning to his home in Orléans, Idaho. He had reached his own gate when there was a terrific explosion, blowing the former executive in pieces in sight of his horrified family.
