State Record Volume Sent Out. Memorial Day Exercises. Fewer Cases of Small Pox. State Charters Granted. Child Labor Law.

(Special Correspondence.)

Raleigh, May 10.—The State Librarian is sending out volumes 23, 24 and 25 of the State Record. Numbers 22 and 25 are being printed. Number 22 is the last of the volumes in the series. It seems not to be generally known but all the State Records, as well as the Colonial Records are placed in the office of the clerks of court in the various counties and furnish invaluable reading for the public. Volume 16 contains the complete roster of the North Carolina troops in the Revolutionary war. Volume 26 contains a census of 1790, the first taken by the United States and shows all the heads of families in North Carolina, the numbers of their families and of their slaves.

All business was suspended in the public offices today. At noon business was suspended in the city, as a mark of respect to Memorial Day. The exercises were held in the House of Representatives, Capt. Samuel A. Ashe was chief marshal and introduced Col. Wm. H. S. Burgwyn of Weldon, the orator of the day, whose subject was the life and military services of Brigadier General Matt W. Ransom. The Daughters of the Confederacy, the Ladies Memorial Association, the Children of the Confederacy, and the Sons of Veterans were present, including nearly all the inmates of the Soldiers Home. There was also a visiting delegation of veterans from Northampton county, the home of General Ransom and also of Col. Burgwyn and these were shown special attention.

The remarkably cold weather is causing a little damage to crops of various kinds. There was plenty of frost this morning and west of here there was ice as well. The wind has blown steadily every day since Sunday and this has increased the damage. All crops above ground are checked in their growth. The season is late any way and this weather will make it even later.

The Secretary of the State Board of Health says all the reports on small pox have not been received yet but from those in hand it seems there were not as many cases as there were the winter before.

Charters were granted to the trustees of the Presbyterian Home Mission school, which is at Elise; the Robbins Lumber Co., of Elm City, Wilson county, $12,500 capital stock; the Apex Land & Improvement Co., of this county, W. W. Olive of Apex, J. B. Mason of Durham and C. P. Sellers of Greensboro being the principal stockholders, capital stock $100,000. Labor Commissioner Varner says the decision of the Supreme Court in the case from Forsyth county in which it is held that employing children under 12 years of age in factories is evidence of negligence on the part of the employer in case there is injury to such a child will have an excellent effect, and that it will run children that age from out of the mills, in case such are employed. The law is incomplete, in that it gives the Labor Commissioner no power to investigate matters of this kind.

Superior Court News

The case of Dineaway vs Edwards was settled out of court, the defendant paying the costs of the action. The trial of Watson vs the City of New Bern was on trial during yesterday. The case arises from damages alleged to have been made on account of imperfect drainage of the street during the heavy rains last year causing a depreciation of property. O. H. Quinn is counsel for the plaintiff and W. D. Iver is conducting the case for the city. Most of the evidence was produced before recess yesterday and the arguments will be heard today.

Positions of Lights Pamlico Sound, Ocracoke Inlet

Pamlico Sound—Ocracoke Inlet—Position of Cockle Shoal Light.—A recent determination by the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the position of Cockle Shoal light, a fixed white post-lantern light formerly known as Ocracoke Wreck Point light, locates it in 5 1/2 feet of water with a channel on either side, in the Teaches Hole Channel from Ocracoke Inlet into Pamlico Sound, at a point 3-10 mile westward from Ocracoke light-house.

Ocracoke Inlet—Position of Swash Light.—A recent determination by the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the position of the Swash light shows that this fixed white post-lantern light is located in 5 feet of water on the northeastern side of the Teaches Hole Channel from Ocracoke Inlet into Pamlico Sound, 1 1/2 miles about NNW, 1/2 W. from Cockle Shoal light.

Ocracoke Inlet—Position of Swash Channel Light.—A recent determination by the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the position of Swash Channel light, a fixed white post-lantern light formerly known as Nine-foot Shoal light, shows that it is located in 6 feet of water on the southwestern side of the Teaches Hole Channel from Ocracoke Inlet into Pamlico Sound, at a point 1-7 mile west-north westward from Swash light.

A Thrilling Play

"Under the Stars and Stripes." With that play of somewhat stirring title, but one of intensity rather than excitement and one of good wholesome comedy the Slater's Comedians, Messrs. Schloss-Cowan Brothers' summer stock company, will inaugurate the summer season at the New Masonic Theatre Monday night. The company will play at popular prices and will, it is claimed, present only the best of modern plays, each new to this section of the country. The vaudeville features will be especially pleasing and will be found bright, snappy and up-to-date. Great stress is laid upon the specialties carried with the company and which will add much to each performance.

Slater's Comedians will be in the South this season for the very first time and will, no doubt, prove as popular here as the organization has done for the last four or five years in the North. Last summer the company played stock entirely at Cincinnati, Ohio, and would have gone there again this summer, but was induced by a substantial guarantee—to play summer stock over the Schloss-Cowan Brothers Circuit. This means that these theatrical managers control the attraction exclusively and will have with it their personal representatives and will only allow the organization to play their houses. The managers also intend to get another stock company so that each city in the circuit can be visited three or four times the coming summer and each time present new vaudeville acts.

Popular prices will prevail throughout the engagement here, which will be for all next week.

Death of Mrs. E. H. Goodwin

A gloom of sadness prevailed over our entire community yesterday when it was learned that the death angel had called Elizabeth H. Goodwin away to rest beyond the river.

Mrs. Goodwin, wife of J. L. Goodwin was born November 5th, 1833 and died May 10, 1906, being 72 years five months, and twenty-six days old. She was the mother of eight children three of whom are living and she is also the grand-mother of four children. Mrs. Goodwin was an affectionate wife, a kind and loving mother and a good neighbor. She connected herself with the Primitive Baptist church twenty-six years ago and was a consistent and highly respected member to the time of her death. The funeral services were conducted by Elder J. E. Adams, at the residence of the deceased and she was buried in the old family grave-yard on the west end of Cedar Island.

To the loved hearts that so miss her wise counsel and tender solitudes, let us say go back to the promises of Him who never fails, and take comfort and courage, and in final resurrection call, may we all clasp hands as souls released. Her best of relatives and friends sustain a grievous loss but we feel that our loss is her eternal gain.

ENGINE BUSTED

A Mechanical Device Used For Drawing Cars on the A. C. L. Succumbs to the Inevitable

Yesterday the so-called locomotive on the Atlantic Coast Line passenger train due here at about 5:30 broke down at a point between Jacksonville and Maysville. The accident was of such a nature that Conductor Crapon telegraphed to New Bern for assistance and an engine from the A. & N. C. road was dispatched to the scene of the difficulty with Jack Neal at the throttle. He was accompanied by Mr. Boewell, operator at the A. C. L. depot. It was found necessary to hitch the crippled train to the rescuing engine, pull it into Maysville, take the engine to Wilmington and return to the waiting train and pull it into New Bern. The belated train reached the city about 7:30 o'clock.

First Parliament Opened

Special to Journal. St. Petersburg, May 10.—This day has marked an epoch in the history of Russia. The first parliament, a body representing the people, was formally opened by Czar Nicholas himself. To avoid any unpleasant demonstration the arrival at the winter palace of the czar was not announced and the usual salute of 301 guns was not given. A great number of troops were in front of the palace and the ceremonies were conducted with great pomp. There was no occurrence to mar the solemnity of the occasion. The day was quiet but all the people seem satisfied at the new form of semi-republican government.

Corporation's Shameful Deception

Special to Journal. Chicago, May 10.—Another surprise was sprung in the Standard Oil investigation here today. Evidence shows how clerks doctored reports and drivers of tank wagons were bribed to report the handling of 215 to 238 gallons when the tanks hold 290 gallons, this gives proof of gigantic deception.

Biggs of Durham, Reported Strong as Against Judge Shaw. Roosevelt Holds Out Against Blackburn's Would-be Postmasters. Verdict Against Embezzler Affirmed.

(Special Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., May 10.—At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the ninth judicial district composed of the counties of Guilford, Durham, Person, Granville, Alamance and Orange, at the Benbow hotel here last night, June 14th, at Durham was named as the time and place for the Democratic nomination convention to name candidates for judge and solicitor. John N. Wilson, of Guilford, chairman, presided, the following members being present in person: H. A. Foushee, Durham; Sol. W. Cooper, Granville; A. H. Garwood, Alamance. Mr. Foushee had the proxies for J. A. Long, of Person and J. A. Harris, of Orange. Greensboro received only the vote of the Guilford member as the place of the next convention, all the others voting solidly for Durham.

So far there has been no announcement of any candidate to oppose solicitor Brooks, of Guilford for renomination. For the judgeship, the only avowed candidate against Judge Shaw, of Guilford is Mr. Biggs, of Durham, who has been conducting a vigorous campaign for the nomination for the past six months. Mr. Foushee, who is a strong friend of his Durham brother lawyer's nomination, said last night that Biggs would get the nomination, as he had Granville, Durham and Person solid for him, and would carry half of Alamance and Orange.

While Judge Shaw has not had anything to do with the campaign for his nomination, his friends here and elsewhere in the district have gone to work with a will for him, and will try to save him to the State while having not the least intention or desire to discredit the merits or capacity of Mr. Biggs. Those who rejoiced here when Congressman Blackburn's case was taken from the jury by Judge Goff, and his complete vindication was heralded to the four corners of the Union, honestly expected that President Roosevelt, or the senate committee, would immediately order action favorably on the Congressman's appointment for postmasters at Goldsboro and Greensboro. It was an open secret at the time, outside of the applause in the court room given by the large number of visiting revenue officers who wore themselves indicted, most of that coming from local habitues of the court house when Judge Goff acquitted the Congressman, was on account of the sentiment aroused for Professor Frazier for Greensboro's postmaster. The attacks on his character had drawn his friends to him, and it was felt that Blackburn's vindication would also mean Frazier's. But since weeks have passed, and neither he or Grant have had anything done for them, there has been a feeling here that somehow the Congressman's vindication has had a miscarriage, so far as the President was concerned.

A decision of the Supreme Court this week affirming a verdict of the superior court of Guilford in the case of G. A. Summers interested people here. Summers, who was only an agent for the Singer sewing machine Company, ran away about two years ago with about $1900 of the company's money. He was captured out west, was brought back here, gave bond, employed several lawyers and has been giving the law and the sewing machine company a lively fight. He was finally tried, convicted and sentenced to several years on the roads for embezzlement. He took an appeal and gave bond. His defense was that the company owed him the money in commissions.

The Greensboro friends of Hon. T. J. Shaw have formed an organization for the purpose of securing his renomination as judge of this district.
