tion. Reunion and Reception Follow

(Special Correspondence) Greensboro, N. C, May 31. Chief of lice N elv has received a letter from in R leigh in which she says, that on pu lished reports of what John B.

McMillan said about himself before he died, that he spent some time in Rak eigh last fall. He gave his name there as John Southall, saying his mother was dead and he had two sisters living. He tried to induce her son, she says, to travel with him, offering him good pay, but never told his business. In McMillan's effects, has been found a most friendly and affectionate letter written the day after the story of his exploits and arrest in Greensboro was printed last fall. This letter is from a prominent young lawyer of Raleigh. The writer was evidently well acquainted with McMillan, and had confidence in him, since he offered to come to Greensboro and conduct the defence if desired. It is not thoroughly well established that the unfortunate young man, as his dying declaration, gave only one of half a dozen aliases he had used in his checkered career, the name Brett Morey being as apochrypal as that of McMillan. The proprietor of a hotel here had Mc-Millan's trunk which he turned over to them for an unpaid board bill. The trunk and its contents have never been examined, or if papers found there have revealed the secret of his identity those learning it have very properly respected the dead man's secret.

Editor Joe Reese of the Record, received today an interesting letter from an old Guifford resident, who is now a United States officer at Borneo. The writer says that in his travels about the antipodes, he frequently meets people, who on account of his name, who ask him if he is from North Carolina. Recently he says, such an enquirer findare looking poor on account of no ing he was from North Carolina asked at once if Jimmie Morehead was still living. The man's name was Walker, and said he went to school with Jimmie Morehead, and that he was one of the most fluent and brightest young men he chist, While the King and Queen were berg last week, having lots of fine had ever known. He was much gratified to learn that Jimmie Morehead was not only living, but had developed into a tried and brave soldier, a distinguished statesman and lawyer. Col. James

T. Morehead. The writer also says, that once du-Kinston, came home last Friday to visit ring his career, on false charges, he Col. Calvin J. Cowles, attracted by his name, asked if he was from North Carolina, and finding that he was, volunwas easily acquitted of all charges. The writer is a negro, Col E. L. Gilmer, of Greensbero. That name Gilmer does
