PROPER BREATHING.

Afethods of breathing, "attack" and the use of registers must all be perfectly understood by the successful singer, who should likewise be complete master of all getiffs relating to the structure and use of those parts above the voice box and he convinced of the necessity of a perfectly controlled chest expansion in the production of tene.

For perfect singing, correct breathing, strange as it may sound, is even more esseptial than a beautiful voice, No matter how exquisite the vocal organ may be, its beauty cannot be adequately demonstrated without proper breath control. Here is one of the old Italian secrets which many singers old Italian secrets which many singers of today wholly lack, because they are of today wholly lack, because they are unwilling to give the necessary time for the full development of breathing power and control. Phrasing, tone, resonance, expression, all depend upon respiration, and, in my opinion, musical students, even when too young to be allowed the free use of the voice, should be thoroughly taught the principles of breathing.—Nellie_Melba in Cantury.

The Trouble With Decorators. The great trouble with the decorator who talls to succeed lies in his predilection for one particular school of design. He becomes a monomaniac, de-clares interior Decoration, on the sub-ject of some special school of decoration. He goes in for arts and crafts and knows nothing else. He becomes colouisl mad or he affitates with the colouisi mad or he aminates with the French school, and nothing is right that isn't French, or perhaps, being a German and German by education, he espouses German or Flemish art, or, being English and English by education, nothing is quite correct that is not Elizabethan or Georgian.

The Early Bird. Bishop Brewster of Connecticut noted for his funny stories, and his latest is said to be about an old reprobate who decided to repent and announced to every one that whatever wrong he had done should be made right, so a man whom he had cheated out of a large sum of money went around at midnight to demand it, "But what did you come at this hour

Carrying Secret Dispatches. Apropos of secret dispatches carried brough the lines, John H. Surratt, then about twenty years old, acted as Confederate spy, traveling between Washington and the enemy's beats on the lower Potomac, carrying his dispatches "sometimes in the heel of his boots and sometimes between the planks of a buggy." He said that he never came across a more stupid set of detectives than those employed by the United States government and that they seemed to have no idea whatever how to search him. - David Homer Bates in Century.

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—Sam H. Gwin, Concord,
