Messrs. W. W. Clark and E. M. Pearson representing the plaintiff and Messrs. McKenzie and Green the defendants.

After showing the valuation of the different apartments of the road, passenger, freight and buildings, court adjourned to 2:30 o'clock.

The sale of seats for the play, "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie," will commence at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at W. T. Hill's Sporting Goods store.

The Bijou is offering something new and entertaining this week, "Two Sisters." Those who see it are well satisfied that they get their money's worth.

Spector General Hood was in the city last night and made official inspection of the New Bern division Naval Brigade. He reports them in good condition.

Mr. J. Walter Pelletier of Stella, was in the city yesterday selling a cargo of cotton—brought in by the "Carl T." She will take out general merchandise for Mr. Pelletier.

Eleven miles in Wayne, nineteen miles in Lenoir, four miles in Jones, forty-five miles in Craven and sixteen miles in Carter counties. There are 3.79 miles in the city of New Bern.

Case No. 68, A. and N. C. R. R. vs. the City of New Bern, by agreement, the testimony offered in above case would answer in case 70; A. and N. C. R. R. vs. County of Craven.

At Kingston Saturday night Peter Sutton shot and killed his friend, Ben Whitefield. Both men are colored and Sutton insists the shooting was accidental, but he is held a prisoner pending investigation.

Lunda Bryant, a colored woman, was hit by the eastbound passenger train at Kingston Sunday night and seriously but not fatally injured. Several bones were broken and her injuries will probably cripple her all her life.

We note the prominence of a New Bern boy in the A. & M. Davidson football game at Charlotte Saturday. An account in the Sunday News and Observer states that Edgerton was the star player for Davidson. This was Bruce Edgerton of this city.

Messrs. William Dunn, J. P. C. Davis and Mr. Brown, of the Corporation Commission, were put on the stand on the part of the plaintiff, Messrs. Harper, Streets and others for the defendants. It was shown that the line from Goldsboro is 95 miles long.

The court holds in the case of A. and N. C. R. R. vs. City of New Bern and County of Craven, that all property on right of way is exempt from taxation. This includes the larger part of the company's holdings in this city as only a small percentage is liable under the holdings of the court.

North Carolina and especially Wilmington and New Bern were honored at the convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy at Norfolk last week in the election of Mrs. M. B. Willard, of Wilmington, first vice president. Mrs. Willard is the daughter of Mr. W. H. Oliver.

A valuable horse belonging to Mr. William Dennis, broke its leg yesterday morning while on Middle street, near Broad. The animal was attached to a dray and for some reason it began to kick and struck its leg against the cart so hard that the bone was broken. Veterinarian Dr. C. E. Smith put the poor animal out of its misery by the hypodermic injection of poison.

A burglar does not always seek money. Some have sense enough when they can't find the "dough" to take that which will make dough. The store of Ames Jones on Queen street, near First street, was entered Sunday morning and the store's supply of flour, meal, meat, potatoes, etc., was taken, amounting in value to more than ten dollars. Other depredations are said to have been made up town.

A great deal of complaint is heard about chickens running at large in the street. One thing is certain they do not reflect much credit on the city to be thus running about and they cause a great deal of damage scratching up lawns especially those that have recently been sown with grass seed. Nothing could be more conducive to characterizing this place as a "rub" town or "jay" town than to have chickens in the street. Citizens should be required to keep poultry confined.

The plaintiff is asking for restraining order enjoining the City Clerk and the Sheriff of the County from collecting the tax on his property for the years 1901-5-54. The plaintiff claiming the property sits on right of way and therefore not subject to taxation under the charter. Colonel John H. Whitford, who was the first president of the road, from 1853 to 1880, was put on the stand and testified that the center of main line track was practically where it was at the completion of the road.

Death of J. H. Hackburn. This community was very greatly pained and shocked Sunday night to learn of the sudden death at Washington, D. C., of Mr. Joseph H. Hackburn. The sad tidings were received by his brother, Mr. E. B. Hackburn, Sunday evening, who left on the train to make arrangements for the removal of the remains to New Bern.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Hackburn was in poor health, but no special information had been received of his serious condition. About a week ago his brother received a postal from the deceased stating that he was not feeling well and wanted to go to the hospital, but his physician told him that it wasn't necessary, and he had decided not to go there. No other word had been received until the announcement of his death.

Mr. Hackburn was one of New Bern's leading citizens, for many years a business man here, and although of late he had not been in the city except at periods, the climate not agreeing with him, he has never withdrawn his interest nor his citizenship, and has always been a loyal friend to New Bern. He was associated with enterprises here and for many years was vice president of the National Bank of New Bern. He was proprietor of a score for several years and by his wise management laid the foundation of what was afterward a comfortable fortune.

He was an extensive traveler, a man of affairs, a genial companion, and a man who had a wide circle of friends. He was an enthusiastic Mason and had taken the thirty-second degree in that order. He had been honored with the exalted office of Grand Commander of the Knights Templar.

At a late hour last night no word had been received as to the arrangements for the funeral. It is presumed, however, that the remains will arrive this morning and the funeral services will be held some time this afternoon.

The following are resolutions of respect to Mr. Hackburn's memory: "At a meeting of the board of directors of the National Bank of New Bern, held at their office on the 18th day of November, 1907, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is with great sorrow we learn of the death of our friend and associate, J. H. Hackburn, who for a long period has been a director of the bank, and for a considerable part of the time has held the office of vice president.

That Mr. Hackburn took a deep interest in the affairs of the bank and was ever ready to do all in his power to promote its success, and his death is greatly deplored.

That the bank shall be closed during the time of the funeral ceremonies.

That we tender to his afflicted brother and the other members of his family our deepest sympathy.

That these resolutions be spread on a page of our record book and a copy be forwarded to his brother, Mr. E. B. Hackburn, with our expressions of sincere sympathy, and that the New Bern Journal and Sun be requested to publish the same.

By order of the board of directors G. H. ROBERTS, Cashier.

GET THE BANKING HABIT The Strength of a Bank. No matter what the deposits of a bank may be or what kind of deposits they are, its strength lies first in good management. Careful, judicious investments, wisdom and conservatism in making loans, seeing that the collateral offered is simply sufficient, taking no chances, and having no favorites but treating all alike, is the policy of the bank, and has been since the day it opened.
