Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 3.—Governor Glenn was seen in his office this morning, and was in the best of spirits; e said, when asked if he had any engagements in the near future said that on Wednesday he would deliver an address before the Virginia Anti-Saloon League at Richmond. He will take part in the North Carolina Antisaloon campaign. He spoke about the importance of this movement and said it would be of the greatest benefit to the State to have prohibition Of course it is well known that the liquor interests will do everyhing in he world to fight prohibition here. The Brewers Association has formed puol, putting a great sum of money, is issuing circulars and will put workers in the field. The liquor people vill do the same thing.

Statte Auditor Dixon goes to Charlotte tomorrow to adjust some corporation taxes and will be at Greensboro

The current comment today upon he work o fthe legislature is that it has improved matters in the State and has brought about a much better feeling in every way. Railway men seem to be very well pleased at the outcome. As has been stated, the Governor and other State officials are exremely well satisfied at the outcome.

Inquiry was made at the Auditor's office today as to the approximate cost of the special session of the legislature, and it was said that the mileage and per diem would be about $15,000. There was wintry weather yesterlay and the lowest temperature re-

Insurance Commissioner Young says that Inst Saturday was the last day for filing statements of Building and Loan Associations, the number of hese institutions in the State, being about seventy. Next Friday Rev. Dr. Alexander Sprunt, will come here from Charleston and will remain here for a week, preaching next Sunday at the Presbyterian church, a call to be its pas-tor having been extended him. He was for some years at Henderson and the people there are delighted at the prospect of having him so near them. The congregation here thinks the pros-pect of securing him as pastor to be excellent. He is looking into the ques tion of the importance of the two fields, Charleston and Raleigh. State Veterinarian Tait Butler was asked about the recent series of Farm-ers Institutes in the northeastern coun ties and said it was successful, with ricultural Department expert on road-building, aided greatly in conducting these institutions his instructions being vary valuable and practical. He was sent by Congressmen Thomas and Small. In the Western region now mother sayies of institutes is in progress, among the apple growers, conducted by Messies. Butt and Sherman, of the State Agricultural College, instructing in pruning, spraying etc. The next series of institutes for the farmers in general will be given in July and will be in the center and west of the State, covering all the possibles. There will be served parties in the dold.
