EMERGENCY MONEY FOR STOCK GAMBLING

There could be no question as to high school standing as now given night. Senator Aldrich's ability to ake an in America. The earning ability of a boy who has grammar school trainable presentation of his emergency ing is 50 per cent, more than the abilcurrency bill, before the United States ity of the untrained boy, and the earn-Senate. And the applause that it is ing ability of the boy of high school sample bottle of this wonderful new dis-reported to have received from some training is 100 per cent. more than covery and a book that tells all about it, bankers, is no doubt sincere on the Senator Aldrich's ability to make an saving clause, to assist in promoting his currency bill. The above statement, together with that it might be a question should another panic, like that of last Oocteber come, whether there would be men of courage, patriotism and capacity to meet the situstion and render "such conspicuous and invaluable service to the financial interests of the country." This sounds and reads well. And yet there will always be men found to meet great crises. It is not a phllanthropic act, this meeting financial crisis. Have not those who took part been well paid for such "invaluable services?" And was not-such service a matter patriotism?

The financial question today is no solved in any way satisfactorily by the Aldrich bill. The Senate may applaud Bankers may cry "magnificent," but the House will settle its fate. Emergency currency the material, agricultura) and manufacturing interests of the country need. But the Aldrich measure is a sop to Wall Street to the gambling interests there, and today the country outside of the millionaires and those who would be, part of those who gave it. But take the ability of those with only grammar school training. As human beings have in addition to material needs those higher over moral and spiritual, any adequate con-ception of education must include his speech "that there would be large moral and spiritual, any adequate conadditions to the army of the unem- ception of education must include ployed," is quite too gratuitous as a these. Hence those subjects which aid in the development of these higher phases of our nature must have a New York American.
