Never has newspaper personality, its local strength and individuality, been more strongly illustra-ted, than in the case of Major 50 years. It is not a laxative, or a heart James Calvin Hemphill, late editor of the Charleston, S. C., News and Courier. that Editor Hemphill was to leave for Won become editor of the Times-Dispatch. The first report was not credited. When later reports too surely made it a certainty that the News and Courier was to lose 'and the Times Dispatch to gain, the expression heard all along the line was, "how can Charleston let Major Hemphill go ?" And no one can answer this satisfactorily. If it is a matter of salary, Charleston could well pay double what any other city might offer, and then be the gainer. If it is Editor Hemphill's desire to change his field of activities, that is another matter.

It has long been said that the News and Courier was Charleston, and Editor Hemphill was the News and Courier. It was the personality of this man that made his newspaper distinctive. Other newspapers may have had better news editinos, but they did not have Major Hemphill. Always is a regular prescription. It is comover conservative, Charleston was kept promineut to the outside world through the News and Courier, by the writings of Editor Hemphill, and while other places such wonderful results in euring cagained greater prominence through tarrh. # Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been failing out and setting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely haid. About four months ago I commenced using dags and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bot-ties. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps com-ing in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant im-provement.
