OFFICIAL PAPER OF NEW BERN AND CRAVEN COUNTY. New Bern, N. C. Jan. 21, 1910

ALL RAIL NOT ENOUGH.

The completion of the Albemarle Sound bridge, for the use of the Norfolk and Southern it is claimed will give the territory on this side of the sound, an hour and a half quicker service for travelers, and practically a day better for freight deliveries.

This argument is not for any return to barge service across the Albemarle Sound. The Journal's point is, that however the time schedules have been shortened, there is no lessening of transportation charges.

New Bern is growing commercially, but this growth is seriously handicapped through this lack of water transportation, for it is not merely the freights coming to this city, but the freights going out, both are important in trade dealings and both operate for or against local trade and industrial development.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription.

Doctor Ants. Doctor ants do incredible cures if they were not vouchered for by Hulter, Lubbock and others. They bathe and sun the sick, put them to bed and show more humanity than most folk.

STOMACH MISERY.

Get Rid of That Sourness, Gas and Indigestion.

When your stomach is out of order or run down, your food doesn't digest. It ferments in your stomach and forms gas which causes sourness, heartburn, foul breath, pain at pit of stomach and many other miserable symptoms.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets will give joyful relief in five minutes; if taken regularly for two weeks they will turn your flabby, sour, tired out stomach into a sweet, energetic, perfect working one.

You can't be very strong and vigorous if your food only half digests. Your appetite will go and nausea, dizziness, biliousness, nervousness, sick headache and constipation will follow.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are small and easy to swallow and are guaranteed to banish indigestion and any or all of the above symptoms or money back.

Fifty cents a large box. Sold by druggists everywhere and by the Bradham Drug Co. For constipation there is no remedy so satisfying as Booth's Pills—25 cents.

FACTS IN FEW LINES

The clarinet was invented in 1690. This country has 900 trade journals. Women constitute 85 per cent of the convicts in American prisons.

Five tons of human hair are annually imported by London merchants. Sewing on buttons is not a wifely duty in Japan. There are no buttons.

Electric engines will haul the ships through the Panama canal when the big ditch is completed. The hull of cotton is used in China for fertilizing purposes, farmers paying about $2 a ton for it.

There is a revival in Cuba of the effort to encourage by government subsidy the immigration of farmers. There are three times as many Buddhists, Brahmans, Mohammedans and pagans in the world as there are Christians.

Italy levies a graduated income tax as well as a direct tax on land and houses. Smaller incomes are exempt from taxation. The light-house of Heligoland has a light of 30,000,000 candlepower. At Nuremberg a lamp ten times as powerful has been made.

Of the 88,000,000 population of the United States, one-third, speaking in round numbers, are found in the thirteen original states. Cutting off the pigtail and a radical change in costumes are strongly urged to the present Chinese regent by his brother, Prince Tsai-Tao.

The permanent international peace bureau at a recent session in Brussels took action in favor of the establishment of an international relief fund. A Hungarian bookbinder named Hirsch recently hanged himself at Budapest because, as he explained in a letter, he could not remember his favorite tune.

Santo Domingo, according to an English mineralogist who explored it, is a geological curiosity shop, containing scattered samples of nearly every well-known mineral. The Institute of Marine Engineers in London recently discussed the subject, and H. A. Mayor of Glasgow said that the prospect for electric propulsion for ships is very hopeful.

China buys in San Francisco $100,000 of seaweed a year. The claim for seaweed is that when it is used in upholstering furniture it is kept free of moths and other insects. As a rival of the United States in supplying the world with grain Argentina has to overcome several impressive obstacles. Among them are drought, pests, revolutions, labor troubles, excessive taxes and frosts.

A famous wisteria in Japan is that to be found at Kasukabe, northeast of Tokyo. The vine is 500 years old and grows over trellises covering a space of 1,000 feet. Its pendant clusters are more than fifty inches long. The study of foreign languages is making rapid progress in German schools. Most of the teachers are native born French and English. This work is a powerful factor in Germany's progress as a power in international commerce.

To allow moving pictures to be seen without darkening the room in which they are shown a French inventor frames the screen with dark curtains, hung a short distance in front of it, to cut off all light except that from the projecting machine. The beggars and street singers of Marseilles, France, met and formed an organization for the protection of their interests and to resist the encroachment of pretenders. A constitution was drawn up, bylaws made and limitations set upon membership.

The Brazilian cures of meat claim that Spanish salt is best for making jerked beef, and they complain of the high import duty on salt. The native salt producers assert that Brazilian salt is quite as good as the imported. The present imports of salt amount to nearly $500,000 a year.

The Paris Eclair announces that an absolutely stable smokeless powder has been discovered and is now at the service of the French army and navy. Chemical agents, heat, excessive cold, humidity, light and Herzan waves have no effect upon this powder, which can only be fired by a special detonator.

It is unlawful in Canada for a salesman or agent to allow secret commissions, rebates or considerations of any kind for the purpose of influencing or effecting sales of merchandise under a penalty, upon conviction, of two years' imprisonment or the imposition of a fine not to exceed $2,500 or both.

Old tin cans which find their way to the domestic rubbish heap have been turned to good account by the Liverpool corporation. Last year from this source the health committee realized $1,600. In future the revenue is likely to be increased, because the authorities are engaged in putting down a new plant.

About seventy years ago Benjamin Atherton of Houston, Me., received an English willow walking stick from a friend who had walked from Woodstock, N. B., carrying the stick with him. Mr. Atherton planted the stick in his yard, and it is now a great tree with a girth of eighteen feet three inches at the base.

Germany's minister of the interior has addressed to the heads of the various governments within the empire a circular recalling the information that the leader from his private purse makes a great amounting to about $10 on the birth of an eighth son in any family of the same father and mother. The latter also promises to stand as godfather to the lucky eighth son.

NEW SHORT STORIES

Sheridan's Way With Soldiers.

Several veterans of the civil war were gathered together on a recent rainy afternoon in Topeka at the Grand Army headquarters in the state house. Talk turned to General Phil Sheridan.

"Phil was kind, always kind, even though he was such a fighter," said one of the men. "That's exactly right," replied another man with a little bronze button in his coat lapel. "I've got a little story that happened in Kansas a couple of years after the war was over, along in '68. Sheridan, you know, was out in this part of the country fighting Indians. Quite a few of the men who had fought in the war re-enlisted for the Indian campaign.

"One day, out at Fort Hays, Sheridan and his officers were at eat. They had pretty fair things to eat, better than the privates, but that is practically true always. Better, you know, is a minus quantity around a soldier's camp usually.

"But these officers were at mess when a fine looking private passed by the open flap of the tent. "Here, there," shouted Sheridan at the man. The soldier turned and saluted, wondering.

"Were you in the rebellion?" asked Phil. "Yes, sir," was the response, and the soldier gave the number of his regiment and the time of his service. "Sheridan turned quickly to his aid at the table and said: 'Cut a slice of bread—a good big, thick slice. Butter it, now. Oh, butter it thick! Put on all the butter it will hold. A soldier don't get that treat every day.'

"And the thick slice thickly buttered was handed to the private, who was still wonderingly standing at attention at the tent door. "He saluted and walked away. His eyes were wet. It was a treat—and a kindness."—Kansas City Journal.

Just to Annoy.

"In Lady Cardigan's new volume of memoirs," said a Chicago publisher, "the virtue of one of the aristocratic Tollemache ladies is assailed. The lady herself has long been dead, but all her descendants to the third and fourth generations are writing to the papers denying the truth of Lady Cardigan's attack.

"It all goes to show how sensitive we are about the virtue of our ancestors. This was understood by a Chicago prosuffragist who wrote to the papers the other day.

"Senator Blank's shameful attacks on the motives of the militant suffragettes must cease. Before Senator Blank introduces those pure minded ladies he had better look after his thieving, drunken old mother."

"A friend to whom this letter was shown said to the prosuffragist: "That is all very trenchantly put. It's libelous, of course. I suppose you're quite sure of your ground?"

"Sure of my ground?" said the prosuffragist impatiently. "I never heard a word against the old lady. All I know is if Senator Blank has the common feelings of a gentleman he'll be very much annoyed."

Why the Chaplain Ran.

A good many veterans of the civil war remember the story of the days when the Rev. John Pierpont, maternal grandfather of J. Pierpont Morgan, was an army chaplain—and a good one too. He was under fire many times and never flinched. But on one occasion the Confederate fire was coming in so hot that the boys in blue were falling in windrows. A mule ball hit the hand of the Rev. John, who was in full fuss and feather, with black beaver hat, broadcloth frock coat and high, choking dicky and black necktie in a broiling August sun. He clapped his handkerchief on the wound and started for the rear on a lively run.

"Why are you running, Parson John?" said one of the boys. "Because I cannot fly," answered the Rev. John.—Portland (Me) Argus.

Dreadful Error.

Among the quaint scrap books of the late Clyde Fitch, all of which are now to be sold at auction, there was one devoted entirely to typographical errors.

One of these appeared in a criticism of Ellen Terry. The reviewer wrote, "Her love of Fortis made setting easy." But the sentence appeared as, "Her love of porter made acting easy."

It is a dangerous thing to take a cough medicine containing opiate that merely stifies your cough instead of curing it. Foley's Honey and Tar loosens and cures the cough and expels the poisonous germs, thus preventing pneumonia and consumption. Refuse substitutes and take only the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package. Davis Pharmacy.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eyes, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangement, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal arrangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant dull feeling—mean that the bowels and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in entirely painless way. They do not irritate the bowels, but tone up the system, and give the blood the impurities from the blood, backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles are all cured by this great medicine. Davis Pharmacy.
